Record $61.1 Billion Military Spending Bill Reaches Senate

O'Mahoney Warns Russian Leaders

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—A record-smashing $61,103,856,030 military spending bill reached the Senate late today along with a warning to Russia that if she starts World War III her leaders face the same fate as Adolf Hitler.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), who steered the bill through the Appropriations Committee and will handle it on the floor next week, told reporters, "I am personally confident that no dictator lives who could have a better fate if he launched aggressive war against the free world."

He tied his remarks to reports by other senators that new secret and devastating weapons are "in a high state of development" by the United States.

Guardedly, he confirmed reports that "some of the funds" for the new weapons are in the big bill.

$20 Billion For Air Force

"We are rapidly developing military power much greater and more effective than that which enabled us to arm the whole world in World War II that resulted in the crushing of Hitler," O'Mahoney said.

The huge sum would be divided this way:

Army — $15,026,170,030, compared with $20,113,524,200 approved by the House.

Navy — $15,544,881,000, the same amount approved by the House.

Air Force—$20,001,585,000, compared with $19,846,985,000 approved by the House.

There are also relatively small sums for the National Security Council and the secretary of defense.

The Senate Appropriations Committee, in addition, set up a $5,000,000,000 national emergency fund to be used essentially for development of air power. The money would "be utilized by the secretary of defense after consultation with the Joint Chiefs of Staff and with approval of the President."

New Weapons Nearly Ready

Congress, however, would keep a hand on the purse strings. Before the funds may be used, a report must be made to both branches 10 days in advance of their actual transfer.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) and Young (R-ND) gave additional but meager information about the mystery weapon, which President Truman referred to earlier this week as 'fantastic."

Young told reporters of their "high state of development" and said they probably could be used if an all-out war broke suddenly.

However, Mundt said he believes they will not be used in Korea, that the atomic bomb would be sufficient to "liquidate the enemy there."

OPS Boosts Car Manufacturers' Price Ceilings

Five To Six Per Cent Increase Is Granted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7. (AP)—The government told automobile manufacturers today they can hike their prices of new passenger cars an average of five to six per cent.

The Office of Price Stabilization also said other price increases at the manufacturers' level may be expected later.

OPS said an order will be issued permitting dealers to raise retail prices as soon as car makers file their new ceiling prices with OPS.

The manufacturers' new ceilings can be put into effect within five days as new price lists are filed with the agency. This means prices could be raised by the end of the next week if manufacturers act promptly.

The agency said the order covering retail sales will allow dealers to apply their customary margins to the higher manufacturers' ceilings. He said, however, that they vary with each manufacturer and the range is from 15 to 30 per cent.

Several officials said there is positively no way the OPS can figure now how much the percentage increase will be at retail. They expressed belief it will run about the same as that of the manufacturers. Earlier one official had estimated the increase at retail might run as much as eight per cent over current list prices.

An official told a reporter that since cost increases will vary among manufacturers and among different makes of cars it is impossible to predict the dollar amounts of price hikes without actually applying the price formula in the order. Dollar amounts can be determined only when each manufacturer makes his computation.

OPS said further boosts in auto prices may be expected under provisions of the new Defense Act. This requires OPS to allow indirect cost increases, such as for administrative and sales expenses, advertising and research. The current order does not make provision for such costs.

HELD IN SHOOTING—William Seward Burroughs, is shown in Mexico City jail while police probe the fatal shooting of his wife, Joan. Burroughs, of the adding machine family, denied the death of his wife resulted from his firing at a glass of gin on her head in William Tell fashion. Senate Passes Bill Increasing Postal Revenue

Ups Ordinary Letter Postage To 4 Cents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Senate passed a bill tonight increasing the postage of ordinary letters from three cents to four cents and calling for other hikes to boost postal revenues, in all, nearly $400,000,000 a year.

The measure would increase postage on postal cards from one cent to two cents.

It raises the postage for ordinary airmail letters from six cents to eight cents.

Passage came by a voice vote.

The measure, intended to wipe out part of the Post Office Department's huge annual deficit, now goes to the House.

Bill Ups Newspaper Rates

Other increases would boost the rates on newspapers 30 per cent over a three-year period and on magazines 60 per cent over a like period.

Charges for third and fourth class mail, and such special services as special delivery letters, also would be hiked by the legislation.

The Senate Post Office Committee, which prepared the bill, had estimated that it would raise $373,360,501 in additional revenue in its first year of operation and $397,610,058 by the end of the third year.

This total was raised shortly before passage, however, when the Senate adopted an amendment doubling the proposed increase for magazines.

The committee had recommended 10 per cent increase in mail rates charged for newspapers and magazines in each of the next three years, estimating this would raise $10,500,000 when fully in effect.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) offered an amendment to double the increase for this type of second class mail. The amendment was defeated, 32 to 28.

Douglas said it costs the Post Office Department $240,000,000 a year to handle second class mail for which it receives only $47,000,000 in revenue. He said there still would be "a tremendous subsidy" for newspapers and magazines even if the rates were increased 60 percent.

Earlier the Senate refused, for the second time, to order the department to restore two-a-day mail deliveries in residential areas.

Maria Montez Dies In Bathtub

PARIS, Sept. 7 (AP)—Fiery Maria Montez, beautiful Latin screen star, died today in a bathtub of her palatial home in Suresnes, a Paris suburb. She was 31 years old.

Physicians said they believed death was caused by a heart attack while the glamorous actress—proud that her figure never topped 125 pounds—was taking her daily bath in extremely hot water mixed with reducing salts.

But the possibility of an accidental drowning following a heart attack was not entirely ruled out.

Maria complained Wednesday about a touch of heart trouble.

She was found unconscious in the bath by her sister, Anita. Only her forehead was above water. Anita called a doctor and firemen. The firemen used artificial respiration for three hours in a vain effort to resuscitate the auburn-haired, brown-eyed actress.

Husband Denies He Killed Wife In "William Tell" Act

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7 (AP) — William Seward Burroughs of the adding machine family denied in jail today that he shot his pretty wife dead in a William Tell act with a glass of gin instead of an apple as target. He said it was a gun-dropping accident shot that killed her.

Burroughs acknowledged that his wife may have playfully put a glass on her head to shoot at.

"I loved my wife," he said. "I did not put any glass on her head. If she did, it was a joke and I certainly didn't intend to shoot at it."

He told reporters he was a cotton grower at Pharr, Tex., but relatives in St. Louis, Mo., said he had been here about two years studying native dialects at the University of Mexico.

Police said the William Tell version was the first of two the 37-year-old husband gave during the day.

Burroughs was charged with homicide pending a preliminary hearing tomorrow and put in jail.

After being taken to jail from the bottle-littered apartment, Burroughs told reporters "everything is hazy" but that the shooting resulted from his dropping a pistol.

He said he took the gun out to show it, worked the cocking device and dropped the weapon accidentally. It hit a chair and went off, he said. The bullet hit his 27-year-old wife in the forehead. She died in Red Cross Hospital.

Chinese Seize Heights Inside 'Iron Triangle'

Signs Of Possible Enemy Push Grow

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Sept. 8 (AP)—Chinese Red probing attacks, spreading across West and Central Korea, forced three Allied units to fight their way out of traps Friday. Signs increased that something was brewing.

The Red probing assaults appeared bent on limiting Allied patrolling in a no-man's land between the two main forces—and thus provide cover for any Red front line movements.

So far no wide-scale Red battalion movements—an almost sure sign of an offensive—have been spotted. But there was report after report of smaller movements of Red platoons and even a few companies.

All in all, signs pointed to the possibility although not yet a probability of a big Red push.

Fiercely charging Chinese seized control Friday of two key heights inside Central Korea's Chorwon-Pyonggang-Kumhwa "iron triangle."

The Reds launched their last big offensive in May in Central Korea, using the triangle as a massing area.

The furious fighting of Thursday and Friday in the west and center broke off abruptly today.

"Almost Too Quiet"

"It is almost too quiet," an Allied staff officer told AP Correspondent Sam Summerlin on the western front.

In the west Friday, Allied troops struck back and regained ground lost to the Reds in attacks which officers said cost the foe 2,000 casualties.

Red troops up to battalion strength—about 1,000 men—repeatedly attacked Allied advance positions Friday on Central Korean hills just south of Pyonggang, apex of the triangle.

The Reds hurled artillery fire and a heavy volume of mortars. The defending Allies had to pull back about 4 p. m. Friday. Small arms fire drummed at them as they withdrew south.

The two hills, forming a gateway to Pyonggang, were the scene of furious fighting for more than a week last July before the Allies captured them.

Red Markers Spotted

Pyonggang is 29 miles north of parallel 38.

Across Korea the U. S. Eighth Army is braced for a possible huge Red offensive which may be supported by 1,000 planes.

Last night an Allied patrol in Western Korea saw 12 colored markers west of Yonchon. The panels, placed there by the Reds, are similar to those used by the Allies to identify advance positions for supporting planes.

The Communist markers, colored red, white and blue, pointed east.

An Allied officer said "the Reds may be expecting air support."

Reds Oppose New Truce Talk Site

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 8 (AP)—Peiping radio today broadcast its first reference to the Allied note proposing Korean truce talks be resumed in a new location, throwing cold water on the proposal.

The Communist negotiators themselves were silent on the proposal.

The new note was lampooned in a Red China broadcast of a dispatch by Alan Winnington, Communist Daily Worker correspondent now at Kaesong, the site of the now-suspended conference.

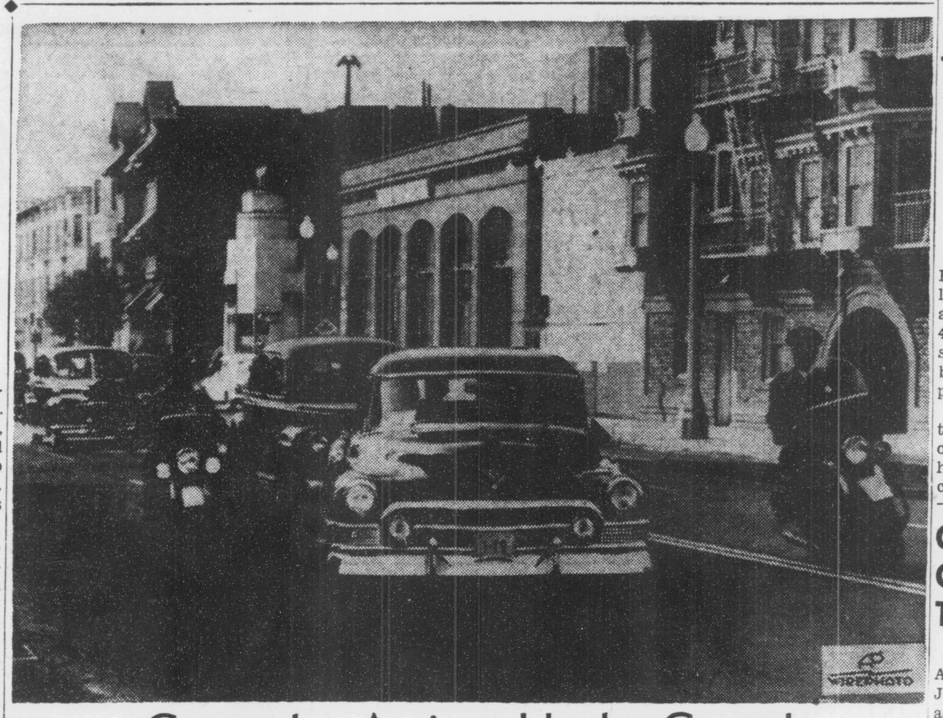
He asserted that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's demand that the site of the talks be moved from Kaesong "is nothing but an impudent attempt to place the responsibility for incidents on (North) Koreans and Chinese."

Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, said in the note that if the Reds wished to resume negotiations, it must be in a place where there would be no interruptions.

U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie told a news conference in New York that he agreed with Ridgway's idea for moving the talks to another place and making a new start. He said the Communists should act promptly.

Ferry, Warship Collide

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Sept. 7 (AP) — A ferry steamer on a pleasure cruise with 950 passengers collided in the River Mersey with the battleship Duke of York tonight, slightly injuring 50 persons on the ferry. Neither vessel was severely damaged.



Gromyko Arrives Under Guard

Two motorcycle policemen ride close to the car carrying Russia's Andrei Gromyko as he arrives at the San Francisco Opera House for yesterday's morning session of the Japanese peace treaty conferenc. Extraordinary precautions to guard Gromyko were taken after officials heard of a fantastic plot to kill the Russian delegate by a contrived automobile accident.

Tip Of Gromyko Assassination Plot Almost Comes To Reality

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—A grim tip that a beer truck would crash into Andrei Gromyko's automobile and kill the Russian delegate to the Japanese treaty conference almost came to chilling reality today.

Whether the incident actually was a plot by White Russians to assasinate Gromyko—or only an almost fantastic coincidence of a highway accident—no one could determine.

But a big truck, carrying 6,000 pounds of bacon instead of beer, was overturned by a "mystery car" just a short time before the speeding Russian automobile roared north along Highway 101 this morning, enroute to the treaty session here.

Pass Wreck At 70 MPH

The Russian car, escorted by highway officers, shot quickly around the wreck at 70 miles an hour, and escaped a possible crash.

No one could say whether the driver of the unidentified car was a White Russian and an avowed enemy of the present Russian regime.

But, carrying the reality or coincidence of the crash still further, two large beer trucks were following the meat truck. Both were tied up in the heavy traffic which flows along the six-lane highway.

The timetable of the strange occurence showed that perhaps the Russians' speeding automobile escaped a terrific collision with the meat truck only by a matter of minutes.

The tip to San Francisco police came last night, when an informer said:

"A beer truck will crash into Gromyko's automobile on Bayshore Boulevard Friday in an attempt to kill him."

Informer Not Identified

The informer, whose identity was not disclosed, said unnamed White Russians planned the assassination of Gromyko, the Soviet deputy foreign minister who had attempted to stall the Japanese treaty negotiations here.

The FBI was informed of the tip. The Russian delegation was warned to be on the alert.

For an unknown reason, the Russians departed from their rented mansion at Hillsborough, about 17 miles south of San Francisco, some 25 minutes later than their usual time.

Personal Incomes Hit New High Level

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Personal incomes, mainstay of retail buying, moved to a new high level of $251,600,000,000 a year in July, compared with $251,000,000,000 in June, the Commerce Department reported today.

The July gain resulted from an advance in farm income—from $20,900,000,000 to $22,400,000,000 at annual rates. The department said farm prices were somewhat lower in July, but the volume of crop sales expanded so much that total receipts of farm owners were higher than in June.

Private industry wage and salary payments declined $700,000,000 to an annual rate of $140,400,000,000 in July, but government payrolls rose about $500,000,000, with the federal-state-local payroll total hitting a record $29,200,000,000 a year clip.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Sept. 7 (AP) — The Navy today unveiled something new — a plastic whaleboat.

Navy Helicopter's "Staged Rescue" Becomes Reality

LITTLE CREEK, Va., Sept. 7 (AP) —A Navy helicopter taking part in a "staged rescue" went down near here late today and its three occupants, along with the man it was "saving," had to be picked up by another copter.

Life Photographer Margaret Bourke-White, who was making pictures of the air-sea rescue, was one of the trio aboard the Sikorsky helicopter when it went down about 300 yards offshore, narrowly missing the man it was trying to "rescue."

All four of the persons in the water were picked up moments later by a large Peiasecki helicopter hovering near the scene.

U. S., Japan May Sign Pact Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP) — American delegation officials said today that the projected security treaty between Japan and the United States may be signed within a matter of hours after the Japanese treaty is signed.

The exact time has not been fixed, but according to tentative plans, if the peace treaty is signed Saturday morning, the security treaty may be signed Saturday afternoon.

The security treaty will give the United States the right to maintain armed forces in and near Japan. One highly placed official, fully familiar with the terms, said that it makes no specification of bases to be used by the U. S.

Big 3 Talks Open Monday

Urgent Problems Will Be Discussed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The United States intends to ask Great Britain and France to join it in cracking down on iron curtain countries which persecute Western nationals.

Diplomatic officials who reported this today said Secretary of State Acheson will raise the question when the Big Three foreign ministers meet here Monday to discuss a wide range of world problems.

Acheson is understood to feel strongly that joint action in both the political and economic fields is needed to help free westerners now in Communist prisons and to prevent future persecution. He is expected to ask the British foreign secretary, Herbert Morrison, and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman to form a common front of retaliation.

The secretary of state is expected to draw attention to the imprisonment of Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis in Czechoslovakia and the detention of some 20 American citizens in Red China.

Officials said Acheson will not present specific proposals. If he gets Morrison and Schuman to agree to the principle of joint action he will be satisfied to leave details to a subordinate group representing the three countries, they said.

Western Germany's political and military future, Communist China's intentions, Italy's demand for peace treaty revisions and the troubled Middle East picture are all due to come up during the four-day meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers.

Russians Leave Monday

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP) — The Russian delegation to the Japanese peace conference made reservations to leave San Francisco Monday, the Southern Pacific Railroad said tonight.

The railroad said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's party had reserved two cars on the Overland Limited.

Magistrate Rules Hubby Must Clean Up Back Yard

BALTIMORE, Sept. 7 (AP)—Magistrate Helen Elizabeth Brown ruled it is David Everhardt's duty to clean up the back yard, not his wife's.

The husky, 30-year-old bricklayer had asked that a policeman be assigned to see his wife did the work.

The case came up yesterday in Baltimore's special housing court.

Health Department inspectors testified the Everhardt back yard was littered with 50 milk bottles, egg shells, paper, and several old Christmas trees.

"It's disgraceful," Everhardt himself acknowledged.

"I can't do anything about it," he said. "I'm sure your honor doesn't want me to stay home every day and see the housework is done.

"Milk bottles pile up under the kitchen sink. The table isn't cleaned up after meals. I do some of the cooking and washing myself. My wife definitely is not a good housekeeper."

Magistrate Brown called Mrs. Everhardt to testify. She had been sitting outside in a corridor, rocking the youngest of her five children. She expects another in three months. Her legs are a lacework of varicose veins. She is about 30. A court aide held the baby.

"He tells me I have to clean it up. My (sic) and the children try but my doctor says I should rest, should sit down, even when I'm ironing."

Miss Brown told Everhardt the yard is his responsibility. Besides she said, if he doesn't have authority in his own home a law enforcement officer won't help. She fined him $10 and costs.

Russia Makes Desperate Bid To Turn Tide

Pact Is Accepted By Nips' Premier

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Gromyko made a last desperate bid against the Japanese peace treaty tonight, after 48 of 51 nations had agreed to sign and all had heard a proud but plaintive acceptance of the pact by Japan.

Gromyko demanded to know how the conference intended to dispose of the amendments he offered in his futile attempts to disrupt the conference Wednesday.

GROMYKO WALKS OUT ON PARLEY, THEN WALKS IN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Andrei Gromyko walked out on the Japanese peace conference tonight and promptly walked back in.

At a high point in final debate as the conference raced toward conclusion, Gromyko got up and strode rapidly out while the British delegate was speaking.

Suddenly Gromyko turned back and resumed his seat while the audience was in an uproar.

During his brief sortie to the lobby, Gromyko was accompanied by two aides. He talked briefly in the front of the lobby with the Czech delegate, Dr. Gertrude Sekaninova. They spoke in low voices.

A hustle of photographers, reporters and curious spectators followed. Policemen on security duty started pushing.

A reporter asked Gromyko what was the idea.

True to his code, the dour Russian shook his head without a trace of a smile.

Gromyko then slowly turned and stalked back to his seat.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, presiding, reminded Gromyko that at the time he had insisted he was not offering amendments, therefore there were no amendments to be considered.

Gromyko growled back that the amendments had been presented as part of the Soviet declaration, for study, and the Soviet delegation was entitled to a decision.

Acheson ruled Gromyko out of order. He said the only thing to be discussed was a motion made by Ceylon and seconded by Cuba to let anyone who wished have another half-hour of speaking.

All the delegations present had already had their say under a one-hour time limits during the past three days.

By a vote of 46 to 3, the conference refused to discuss the Russian amendments. Honduras abstained.

Last of the lot was the premier of Japan, who spoke feelingly tonight of Japan's acceptance of the treaty and of her problems under it.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida, addressing the conference for the first time since it opened Tuesday night, noted the misgivings with which a number of countries had agreed, and then declared:

"Even we Japanese, who are happy to accept the treaty, find in it certain points which cause us pain and anxiety."

Saying that he spoke "with diffidence, bearing in mind the treaty's fairness and magnanimity," the little 72-year-old premier then expressed hope that the Ryukyu Islands (Okinawa) and the Bonins, now under U. S. trusteeship, "will be put back into Japanese hands in the not distant future."

Yoshida also put in a claim on South Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands, now occupied by Soviet Russia.

"The Soviet delegate spoke the other day as though Japan had grabbed them by aggression," he said. This, he declared, was not true: Not even the old Czarist government ever had disputed Japanese ownership of the Kuriles, while South Sakhalin's Japanese title was agreed to by the Russians as far back as 1875.

In his short but forceful speech, the Japanese premier dealt with every major point raised during three days of hectic discussion at the conference.

Besides territory, these included trade, reparations, fears of Japanese military resurgence, U. S. defense of Japan, Red China, the boycott of India and Burma, and the more than 340,000 Japanese war prisoners held by the Soviet Union.

"Japan has lost 45 per cent of her entire territory, together with its resources," he said.

"Her population of almost 84,000,000 has to be confined within the remaining areas, which are war-devastated, with their important cities bombed and burnt.

"The peace treaty will deprive

Maria complained Wednesday about a touch of heart trouble.

She was found unconscious in the bath by her sister, Anita. Only her forehead was above water. Anita called a doctor and firemen. The firemen used artificial respiration for three hours in a vain effort to resuscitate the auburn-haired, brown-eyed actress.

Ups Ordinary Letter Postage To 4 Cents

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Senate passed a bill tonight increasing the postage of ordinary letters from three cents to four cents and calling for other hikes to boost postal revenues, in all, nearly $400,000,000 a year.

The measure would increase postage on postal cards from one cent to two cents.

It raises the postage for ordinary airmail letters from six cents to eight cents.

Passage came by a voice vote.

The measure, intended to wipe out part of the Post Office Department's huge annual deficit, now goes to the House.

Bill Ups Newspaper Rates

Other increases would boost the rates on newspapers 30 per cent over a three-year period and on magazines 60 per cent over a like period.

Charges for third and fourth class mail, and such special services as special delivery letters, also would be hiked by the legislation.

The Senate Post Office Committee, which prepared the bill, had estimated that it would raise $373,360,501 in additional revenue in its first year of operation and $397,610,058 by the end of the third year.

This total was raised shortly before passage, however, when the Senate adopted an amendment doubling the proposed increase for magazines.

The committee had recommended 10 per cent increase in mail rates charged for newspapers and magazines in each of the next three years, estimating this would raise $10,500,000 when fully in effect.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) offered an amendment to double the increase for this type of second class mail. The amendment was defeated, 32 to 28.

Douglas said it costs the Post Office Department $240,000,000 a year to handle second class mail for which it receives only $47,000,000 in revenue. He said there still would be "a tremendous subsidy" for newspapers and magazines even if the rates were increased 60 percent.

Earlier the Senate refused, for the second time, to order the department to restore two-a-day mail deliveries in residential areas.

Husband Denies He Killed Wife In "William Tell" Act

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7 (AP) — William Seward Burroughs of the adding machine family denied in jail today that he shot his pretty wife dead in a William Tell act with a glass of gin instead of an apple as target. He said it was a gun-dropping accident shot that killed her.

Burroughs acknowledged that his wife may have playfully put a glass on her head to shoot at.

"I loved my wife," he said. "I did not put any glass on her head. If she did, it was a joke and I certainly didn't intend to shoot at it."

He told reporters he was a cotton grower at Pharr, Tex., but relatives in St. Louis, Mo., said he had been here about two years studying native dialects at the University of Mexico.

Police said the William Tell version was the first of two the 37-year-old husband gave during the day.

Burroughs was charged with homicide pending a preliminary hearing tomorrow and put in jail.

After being taken to jail from the bottle-littered apartment, Burroughs told reporters "everything is hazy" but that the shooting resulted from his dropping a pistol.

He said he took the gun out to show it, worked the cocking device and dropped the weapon accidentally. It hit a chair and went off, he said. The bullet hit his 27-year-old wife in the forehead. She died in Red Cross Hospital.

Chinese Seize Heights Inside 'Iron Triangle'

Signs Of Possible Enemy Push Grow

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Saturday, Sept. 8 (AP)—Chinese Red probing attacks, spreading across West and Central Korea, forced three Allied units to fight their way out of traps Friday. Signs increased that something was brewing.

The Red probing assaults appeared bent on limiting Allied patrolling in a no-man's land between the two main forces—and thus provide cover for any Red front line movements.

So far no wide-scale Red battalion movements—an almost sure sign of an offensive—have been spotted. But there was report after report of smaller movements of Red platoons and even a few companies.

All in all, signs pointed to the possibility although not yet a probability of a big Red push.

Fiercely charging Chinese seized control Friday of two key heights inside Central Korea's Chorwon-Pyonggang-Kumhwa "iron triangle."

The Reds launched their last big offensive in May in Central Korea, using the triangle as a massing area.

The furious fighting of Thursday and Friday in the west and center broke off abruptly today.

"Almost Too Quiet"

"It is almost too quiet," an Allied staff officer told AP Correspondent Sam Summerlin on the western front.

In the west Friday, Allied troops struck back and regained ground lost to the Reds in attacks which officers said cost the foe 2,000 casualties.

Red troops up to battalion strength—about 1,000 men—repeatedly attacked Allied advance positions Friday on Central Korean hills just south of Pyonggang, apex of the triangle.

The Reds hurled artillery fire and a heavy volume of mortars. The defending Allies had to pull back about 4 p. m. Friday. Small arms fire drummed at them as they withdrew south.

The two hills, forming a gateway to Pyonggang, were the scene of furious fighting for more than a week last July before the Allies captured them.

Red Markers Spotted

Pyonggang is 29 miles north of parallel 38.

Across Korea the U. S. Eighth Army is braced for a possible huge Red offensive which may be supported by 1,000 planes.

Last night an Allied patrol in Western Korea saw 12 colored markers west of Yonchon. The panels, placed there by the Reds, are similar to those used by the Allies to identify advance positions for supporting planes.

The Communist markers, colored red, white and blue, pointed east.

An Allied officer said "the Reds may be expecting air support."

Reds Oppose New Truce Talk Site

TOKYO, Saturday, Sept. 8 (AP)—Peiping radio today broadcast its first reference to the Allied note proposing Korean truce talks be resumed in a new location, throwing cold water on the proposal.

The Communist negotiators themselves were silent on the proposal.

The new note was lampooned in a Red China broadcast of a dispatch by Alan Winnington, Communist Daily Worker correspondent now at Kaesong, the site of the now-suspended conference.

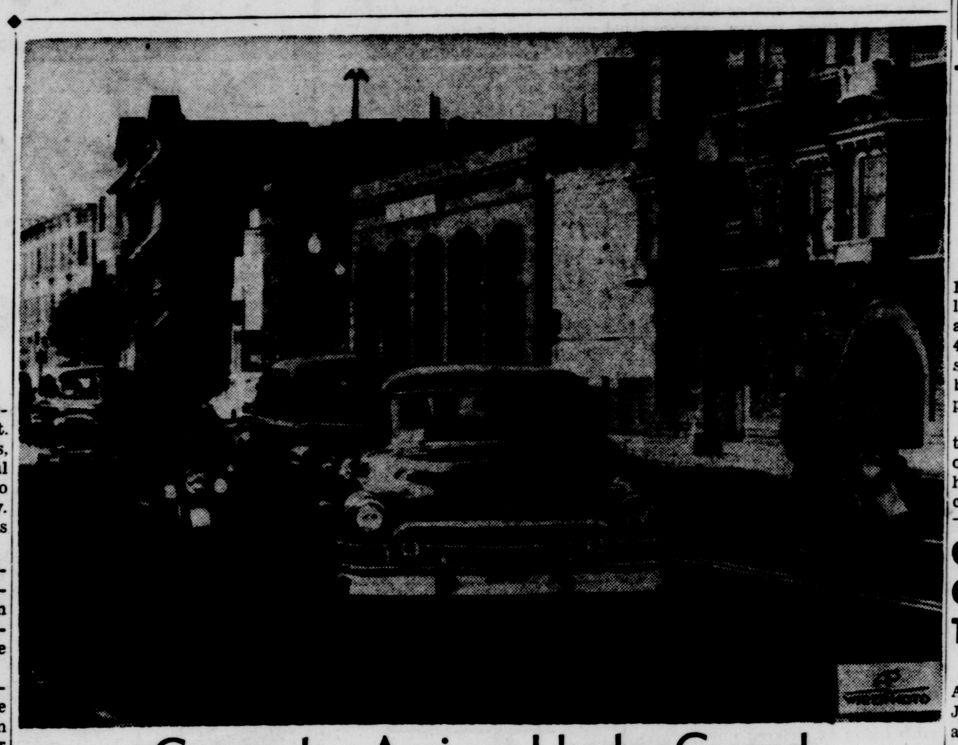
He asserted that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's demand that the site of the talks be moved from Kaesong "is nothing but an impudent attempt to place the responsibility for incidents on (North) Koreans and Chinese."

Ridgway, supreme Allied commander, said in the note that if the Reds wished to resume negotiations, it must be in a place where there would be no interruptions.

U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie told a news conference in New York that he agreed with Ridgway's idea for moving the talks to another place and making a new start. He said the Communists should act promptly.

Ferry, Warship Collide

LIVERPOOL, Eng., Sept. 7 (AP) — A ferry steamer on a pleasure cruise with 950 passengers collided in the River Mersey with the battleship Duke of York tonight, slightly injuring 50 persons on the ferry. Neither vessel was severely damaged.



Gromyko Arrives Under Guard

Two motorcycle policemen ride close to the car carrying Russie's Andrei Gromyko as he arrives at the San Francisco Opera House for yesterday's morning session of the Japanese peace treaty conferenc. Extraordinary precautions to guard Gromyko were taken after officials heard of a fantastic plot to kill the Russian delegate by a contrived automobile accident.

Tip Of Gromyko Assassination Plot Almost Comes To Reality

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—A grim tip that a beer truck would crash into Andrei Gromyko's automobile and kill the Russian delegate to the Japanese treaty conference almost came to chilling reality today.

Whether the incident actually was a plot by White Russians to assasinate Gromyko—or only an almost fantastic coincidence of a highway accident—no one could determine.

But a big truck, carrying 6,000 pounds of bacon instead of beer, was overturned by a "mystery car" just a short time before the speeding Russian automobile roared north along Highway 101 this morning, enroute to the treaty session here.

Pass Wreck At 70 MPH

The Russian car, escorted by highway officers, shot quickly around the wreck at 70 miles an hour, and escaped a possible crash.

No one could say whether the driver of the unidentified car was a White Russian and an avowed enemy of the present Russian regime.

But, carrying the reality or coincidence of the crash still further, two large beer trucks were following the meat truck. Both were tied up in the heavy traffic which flows along the six-lane highway.

The timetable of the strange occurence showed that perhaps the Russians' speeding automobile escaped a terrific collision with the meat truck only by a matter of minutes.

The tip to San Francisco police came last night, when an informer said:

"A beer truck will crash into Gromyko's automobile on Bayshore Boulevard Friday in an attempt to kill him."

Informer Not Identified

The informer, whose identity was not disclosed, said unnamed White Russians planned the assassination of Gromyko, the Soviet deputy foreign minister who had attempted to stall the Japanese treaty negotiations here.

The FBI was informed of the tip. The Russian delegation was warned to be on the alert.

For an unknown reason, the Russians departed from their rented mansion at Hillsborough, about 17 miles south of San Francisco, some 25 minutes later than their usual time.

Personal Incomes Hit New High Level

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Personal incomes, mainstay of retail buying, moved to a new high level of $251,600,000,000 a year in July, compared with $251,000,000,000 in June, the Commerce Department reported today.

The July gain resulted from an advance in farm income—from $20,900,000,000 to $22,400,000,000 at annual rates. The department said farm prices were somewhat lower in July, but the volume of crop sales expanded so much that total receipts of farm owners were higher than in June.

Private industry wage and salary payments declined $700,000,000 to an annual rate of $140,400,000,000 in July, but government payrolls rose about $500,000,000, with the federal-state-local payroll total hitting a record $29,200,000,000 a year clip.

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Sept. 7 (AP) — The Navy today unveiled something new — a plastic whaleboat.

Navy Helicopter's "Staged Rescue" Becomes Reality

LITTLE CREEK, Va., Sept. 7 (AP) —A Navy helicopter taking part in a "staged rescue" went down near here late today and its three occupants, along with the man it was "saving," had to be picked up by another copter.

Life Photographer Margaret Bourke-White, who was making pictures of the air-sea rescue, was one of the trio aboard the Sikorsky helicopter when it went down about 300 yards offshore, narrowly missing the man it was trying to "rescue."

All four of the persons in the water were picked up moments later by a large Peiasecki helicopter hovering near the scene.

U. S., Japan May Sign Pact Today

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP) — American delegation officials said today that the projected security treaty between Japan and the United States may be signed within a matter of hours after the Japanese treaty is signed.

The exact time has not been fixed, but according to tentative plans, if the peace treaty is signed Saturday morning, the security treaty may be signed Saturday afternoon.

The security treaty will give the United States the right to maintain armed forces in and near Japan. One highly placed official, fully familiar with the terms, said that it makes no specification of bases to be used by the U. S.

Big 3 Talks Open Monday

Urgent Problems Will Be Discussed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—The United States intends to ask Great Britain and France to join it in cracking down on iron curtain countries which persecute Western nationals.

Diplomatic officials who reported this today said Secretary of State Acheson will raise the question when the Big Three foreign ministers meet here Monday to discuss a wide range of world problems.

Acheson is understood to feel strongly that joint action in both the political and economic fields is needed to help free westerners now in Communist prisons and to prevent future persecution. He is expected to ask the British foreign secretary, Herbert Morrison, and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman to form a common front of retaliation.

The secretary of state is expected to draw attention to the imprisonment of Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis in Czechoslovakia and the detention of some 20 American citizens in Red China.

Officials said Acheson will not present specific proposals. If he gets Morrison and Schuman to agree to the principle of joint action he will be satisfied to leave details to a subordinate group representing the three countries, they said.

Western Germany's political and military future, Communist China's intentions, Italy's demand for peace treaty revisions and the troubled Middle East picture are all due to come up during the four-day meeting of the Big Three foreign ministers.

Russians Leave Monday

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP) — The Russian delegation to the Japanese peace conference made reservations to leave San Francisco Monday, the Southern Pacific Railroad said tonight.

The railroad said Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's party had reserved two cars on the Overland Limited.

Magistrate Rules Hubby Must Clean Up Back Yard

BALTIMORE, Sept. 7 (AP)—Magistrate Helen Elizabeth Brown ruled it is David Everhardt's duty to clean up the back yard, not his wife's.

The husky, 30-year-old bricklayer had asked that a policeman be assigned to see his wife did the work.

The case came up yesterday in Baltimore's special housing court.

Health Department inspectors testified the Everhardt back yard was littered with 50 milk bottles, egg shells, paper, and several old Christmas trees.

"It's disgraceful," Everhardt himself acknowledged.

"I can't do anything about it," he said. "I'm sure your honor doesn't want me to stay home every day and see the housework is done.

"Milk bottles pile up under the kitchen sink. The table isn't cleaned up after meals. I do some of the cooking and washing myself. My wife definitely is not a good housekeeper."

Magistrate Brown called Mrs. Everhardt to testify. She had been sitting outside in a corridor, rocking the youngest of her five children. She expects another in three months. Her legs are a lacework of varicose veins. She is about 30. A court aide held the baby.

"He tells me I have to clean it up. My (sic) and the children try but my doctor says I should rest, should sit down, even when I'm ironing."

Miss Brown told Everhardt the yard is his responsibility. Besides she said, if he doesn't have authority in his own home a law enforcement officer won't help. She fined him $10 and costs.

Russia Makes Desperate Bid To Turn Tide

Pact Is Accepted By Nips' Premier

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Russia's Andrei Gromyko made a last desperate bid against the Japanese peace treaty tonight, after 48 of 51 nations had agreed to sign and all had heard a proud but plaintive acceptance of the pact by Japan.

Gromyko demanded to know how the conference intended to dispose of the amendments he offered in his futile attempts to disrupt the conference Wednesday.

GROMYKO WALKS OUT ON PARLEY, THEN WALKS IN

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 (AP)—Andrei Gromyko walked out on the Japanese peace conference tonight and promptly walked back in.

At a high point in final debate as the conference raced toward conclusion, Gromyko got up and strode rapidly out while the British delegate was speaking.

Suddenly Gromyko turned back and resumed his seat while the audience was in an uproar.

During his brief sortie to the lobby, Gromyko was accompanied by two aides. He talked briefly in the front of the lobby with the Czech delegate, Dr. Gertrude Sekaninova. They spoke in low voices.

A hustle of photographers, reporters and curious spectators followed. Policemen on security duty started pushing.

A reporter asked Gromyko what was the idea.

True to his code, the dour Russian shook his head without a trace of a smile.

Gromyko then slowly turned and stalked back to his seat.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, presiding, reminded Gromyko that at the time he had insisted he was not offering amendments, therefore there were no amendments to be considered.

Gromyko growled back that the amendments had been presented as part of the Soviet declaration, for study, and the Soviet delegation was entitled to a decision.

Acheson ruled Gromyko out of order. He said the only thing to be discussed was a motion made by Ceylon and seconded by Cuba to let anyone who wished have another half-hour of speaking.

All the delegations present had already had their say under a one-hour time limits during the past three days.

By a vote of 46 to 3, the conference refused to discuss the Russian amendments. Honduras abstained.

Last of the lot was the premier of Japan, who spoke feelingly tonight of Japan's acceptance of the treaty and of her problems under it.

Premier Shigeru Yoshida, addressing the conference for the first time since it opened Tuesday night, noted the misgivings with which a number of countries had agreed, and then declared:

"Even we Japanese, who are happy to accept the treaty, find in it certain points which cause us pain and anxiety."

Saying that he spoke "with diffidence, bearing in mind the treaty's fairness and magnanimity," the little 72-year-old premier then expressed hope that the Ryukyu Islands (Okinawa) and the Bonins, now under U. S. trusteeship, "will be put back into Japanese hands in the not distant future."

Yoshida also put in a claim on South Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands, now occupied by Soviet Russia.

"The Soviet delegate spoke the other day as though Japan had grabbed them by aggression," he said. This, he declared, was not true: Not even the old Czarist government ever had disputed Japanese ownership of the Kuriles, while South Sakhalin's Japanese title was agreed to by the Russians as far back as 1875.

In his short but forceful speech, the Japanese premier dealt with every major point raised during three days of hectic discussion at the conference.

Besides territory, these included trade, reparations, fears of Japanese military resurgence, U. S. defense of Japan, Red China, the boycott of India and Burma, and the more than 340,000 Japanese war prisoners held by the Soviet Union.

"Japan has lost 45 per cent of her entire territory, together with its resources," he said.

"Her population of almost 84,000,000 has to be confined within the remaining areas, which are war-devastated, with their important cities bombed and burnt.

"The peace treaty will deprive

Rowdy Indians Chase Officers

BLANDING, Utah, Sept. 7 (AP)—A traditional Indian celebration turned into a brawl at remote Bluff, Utah, early today as the redmen tossed two peace officers out of their camp.

This brought down the white man's wrath and state and county police sped over the twisted, graded road to the San Juan County Indian outpost to restore order.

State Highway Trooper Merlin Brown of Moab called for help after the chanting, excited Indians chased him and a fellow officer off the reservation.

Brown said that he and Sheriff T. R. Harvey of San Juan County had gone to the Indian camp to check into reports of drunkenness.

About 150 of the 300 Indians who today are winding up a three day squaw dance were rowdy and out of control, the officer said.

Fearing for the safety of white residents in the tiny town, scores of officers were rushed to the scene.

The 16 or 17 white families in Bluff asked aid when it was feared the Indians would spill out of their camp and storm the town.

Both Navaho and Ute Indians, stirred to action by two continuous days of merrymaking, voiced old grievances. Through an interpreter, the Indians spoke of ancient land troubles and said the "white men aren't going to push us around."

Hollow Paper Bales Discovered In Prison

JACKSON, Mich., Sept., 7 (AP) — A guard picked up a bale of waste paper at Southern Michigan prison today. Was he getting stronger, he wondered, or was the bundle exceptionally light?

He cracked open the bale. Inside he found an empty produce crate—the kind used to bring in vegetables from prison farms.

Two other lightweight bales were opened. They too had crates inside.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie then ordered 50 other bales torn apart before shipping the paper to a Jackson junk dealer. He suspected that freedom-loving inmates were making a "dry run" for possibly a mass escape plot.

Korean Veteran Found Dead At Ft. Meade

FT. MEADE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP) — Sgt. 1/c Robert Davis, 38-year-old Korean war veteran, from West Orange, N. J., was found dead in his barracks bed today. Second Army headquarters said he died of deep razor cuts in his wrist and elbow that severed a main artery.

Davis was last seen at 8:45 a.m. He was alone. His body was found one hour later by a soldier who had been sent to look for him when Davis was missing from his detail.

Lt. Quick, public information officer, said the sergeant was lying on his back on the blood-soaked mattress, with a razor blade under him.

How Life Begins Described To Chemists At Symposium

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — How life begins was described to the American Chemical Society today at a symposium on frontiers of biochemistry.

This change from the inanimate to the living was found in viruses. There may be other forms in which life starts, but none has yet been seen.

Viruses are the lowest known form of life. They are one of the most important because there is a suspicion that they have something to do with human cancer. And they hold the key to new forms of vaccines.

Today's report described some proteins in tobacco. These are small, apparently non-living bits. These pieces join together and when enough of them gather into one unit, that unit is alive. This simple, living unit is able to join up with others of its kind and in so doing begins restricted sort of life. That is the tobacco mosaic virus. The only thing it is known to do is to cause mosaic disease which kills tobacco plants.

The dramatic word-picture was given by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, of the virus laboratory, University of California. The original bits that get together to make the virus are nucleoproteins. That is the same kind of protein that governs human heredity. It is the same kind of protein that regulates your tissues so that some grow into grey matter of brains, others into bone, skin and so on. It is the same kind of protein which cancer experts are beginning to think regulates and perhaps causes cancer.

These bits of nucleaprotein of tobacco virus can be crystallized. Then they are like sand, with certainly no sign of life. The crystals can be changed back into protein and join up to become a virus.

Output Near Normal

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—Miners and smelter workers headed toward a normal output of strategic minerals today as striking union workmen obeyed a federal court order to return to work.

No complete figures were available from the Denver headquarters of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind), but reports from across the nation showed production of copper, lead and zinc is being resumed.

Critic Of Navy Chow Still Under Detention

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP) — The Navy said today Yeoman Bruce S. Hopping didn't use the channels it carefully keeps open for complaints about its food.

The 30-year-old sailor, assistant coach of the Bainbridge Naval Training Center's swimming team, is under detention orders while an officer investigates the circulation of mimeographed handbills complaining about the chow at the big boot camp.

Hopping, son of a Maplewood, N. J., lumberman, said he had admitted writing the circular and cutting the stencil for it, nothing more.

He said he had been advised he would be tried by a court-martial for conduct prejudicial to the good order and discipline of the service and of a nature to bring discredit upon it.

German Firm Buys W. Va. Plant Site

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Sept. 7 (AP) — I. G. Farben Corporation, the big German dye and chemical firm, has bought 80 acres and an abandoned stone quarry near Kearneysville, W. Va., for development of an industrial plant.

The location is two miles east of Kearneysville on the road toward Shepherdstown, W. Va., and the 80 acres are in two farms owned by Boyd Carter. The quarry on the property once was operated by the Standard Lime and Stone Company.

Miss America May Not Be Recognized By Brooklynites

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Brooklyn may refuse to recognize "Miss America," whoever she may be.

Although there is a "Miss New York City" in the Atlantic City contest this weekend, a borough civic group is incensed that no "Miss Brooklyn" as such was invited to compete.

Brooklyn's "Sweetest Day Committee," dedicated to boosting the borough, announced it would seek to have a Brooklyn girl chosen as its own "Miss America."

"Brooklyn has the best baseball team," said Herbert Tenzer, a spokesman for the committee. "It also has the most beautiful girls in the world."

Japan of her vast overseas assets."

He expressed fear that Japan "reduced to such a predicament," could ever pay even the reparations-through-manufacturers designated in the treaty, but said his nation intended to do so.

Signature of the treaty is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. Saturday (noon, EST) winding up more than four days of speaking marked by the violent objections of Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet bloc had its last long word with the 43-minute tirade of Stefan Wierblowski, Polish chief delegate.

Even though Wierblowski had shouted, "those countries not under U. S. dictatorship won't sign," and he and the other two failed to give notice, the Red delegations all were present to hear Yoshida.

About 150 of the 300 Indians who today are winding up a three day squaw dance were rowdy and out of control, the officer said.

Fearing for the safety of white residents in the tiny town, scores of officers were rushed to the scene.

The 16 or 17 white families in Bluff asked aid when it was feared the Indians would spill out of their camp and storm the town.

Both Navaho and Ute Indians, stirred to action by two continuous days of merrymaking, voiced old grievances. Through an interpreter, the Indians spoke of ancient land troubles and said the "white men aren't going to push us around."

Hollow Paper Bales Discovered In Prison

JACKSON, Mich., Sept., 7 (AP) — A guard picked up a bale of waste paper at Southern Michigan prison today. Was he getting stronger, he wondered, or was the bundle exceptionally light?

He cracked open the bale. Inside he found an empty produce crate—the kind used to bring in vegetables from prison farms.

Two other lightweight bales were opened. They too had crates inside.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie then ordered 50 other bales torn apart before shipping the paper to a Jackson junk dealer. He suspected that freedom-loving inmates were making a "dry run" for possibly a mass escape plot.

Korean Veteran Found Dead At Ft. Meade

FT. MEADE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP) — Sgt. 1/c Robert Davis, 38-year-old Korean war veteran, from West Orange, N. J., was found dead in his barracks bed today. Second Army headquarters said he died of deep razor cuts in his wrist and elbow that severed a main artery.

Davis was last seen at 8:45 a.m. He was alone. His body was found one hour later by a soldier who had been sent to look for him when Davis was missing from his detail.

Lt. Quick, public information officer, said the sergeant was lying on his back on the blood-soaked mattress, with a razor blade under him.

How Life Begins Described To Chemists At Symposium

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP) — How life begins was described to the American Chemical Society today at a symposium on frontiers of biochemistry.

This change from the inanimate to the living was found in viruses. There may be other forms in which life starts, but none has yet been seen.

Viruses are the lowest known form of life. They are one of the most important because there is a suspicion that they have something to do with human cancer. And they hold the key to new forms of vaccines.

Today's report described some proteins in tobacco. These are small, apparently non-living bits. These pieces join together and when enough of them gather into one unit, that unit is alive. This simple, living unit is able to join up with others of its kind and in so doing begins restricted sort of life. That is the tobacco mosaic virus. The only thing it is known to do is to cause mosaic disease which kills tobacco plants.

The dramatic word-picture was given by Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, of the virus laboratory, University of California. The original bits that get together to make the virus are nucleoproteins. That is the same kind of protein that governs human heredity. It is the same kind of protein that regulates your tissues so that some grow into grey matter of brains, others into bone, skin and so on. It is the same kind of protein which cancer experts are beginning to think regulates and perhaps causes cancer.

These bits of nucleaprotein of tobacco virus can be crystallized. Then they are like sand, with certainly no sign of life. The crystals can be changed back into protein and join up to become a virus.

Output Near Normal

DENVER, Sept. 7 (AP)—Miners and smelter workers headed toward a normal output of strategic minerals today as striking union workmen obeyed a federal court order to return to work.

No complete figures were available from the Denver headquarters of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind), but reports from across the nation showed production of copper, lead and zinc is being resumed.

Critic Of Navy Chow Still Under Detention

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Sept. 7 (AP) — The Navy said today Yeoman Bruce S. Hopping didn't use the channels it carefully keeps open for complaints about its food.

The 30-year-old sailor, assistant coach of the Bainbridge Naval Training Center's swimming team, is under detention orders while an officer investigates the circulation of mimeographed handbills complaining about the chow at the big boot camp.

Hopping, son of a Maplewood, N. J., lumberman, said he had admitted writing the circular and cutting the stencil for it, nothing more.

He said he had been advised he would be tried by a court-martial for conduct prejudicial to the good order and discipline of the service and of a nature to bring discredit upon it.

German Firm Buys W. Va. Plant Site

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Sept. 7 (AP) — I. G. Farben Corporation, the big German dye and chemical firm, has bought 80 acres and an abandoned stone quarry near Kearneysville, W. Va., for development of an industrial plant.

The location is two miles east of Kearneysville on the road toward Shepherdstown, W. Va., and the 80 acres are in two farms owned by Boyd Carter. The quarry on the property once was operated by the Standard Lime and Stone Company.

Miss America May Not Be Recognized By Brooklynites

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—Brooklyn may refuse to recognize "Miss America," whoever she may be.

Although there is a "Miss New York City" in the Atlantic City contest this weekend, a borough civic group is incensed that no "Miss Brooklyn" as such was invited to compete.

Brooklyn's "Sweetest Day Committee," dedicated to boosting the borough, announced it would seek to have a Brooklyn girl chosen as its own "Miss America."

"Brooklyn has the best baseball team," said Herbert Tenzer, a spokesman for the committee. "It also has the most beautiful girls in the world."

Japan of her vast overseas assets."

He expressed fear that Japan "reduced to such a predicament," could ever pay even the reparations-through-manufacturers designated in the treaty, but said his nation intended to do so.

Signature of the treaty is scheduled to start at 10 a.m. Saturday (noon, EST) winding up more than four days of speaking marked by the violent objections of Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The Soviet bloc had its last long word with the 43-minute tirade of Stefan Wierblowski, Polish chief delegate.

Even though Wierblowski had shouted, "those countries not under U. S. dictatorship won't sign," and he and the other two failed to give notice, the Red delegations all were present to hear Yoshida.

Removing A Federal Judge

Few expect President Truman to pay much attention to the demand of Rep. Woodruff (R., Mich.) that Supreme Court Justice Douglas be asked to resign. Representative Woodruff accused the Justice of giving "aid and comfort to the foes of the United States and democracy" in a statement in San Francisco on August 31 advocating U. S. recognition of Communist China.

The remarks of Justice Douglas touched off a brief controversy in the Senate on the same day when quoted by Senator Welker (R., Idaho). Welker identified Douglas as "a spokesman for the administration." Indignantly, Senator Connally (D., Texas) replied: "It is simply preposterous that Judge Douglas should speak for this administration or for the Democratic party." Douglas should "stay at home, instead of roaming around Asia and in other places making fool statements."

Representative Woodruff did not suggest impeachment. The Constitution, while allowing federal judges, like all other federal civil officers, to be removed from office on impeachment and conviction for high crimes, provides also that judges, "both of the Supreme and inferior courts," shall hold their offices "during good behaviour."

Impeachment isn't being considered, either, in the case of Federal Judge Metzger of Hawaii. This judge has come under fire for setting the bail for seven arrested Communists at $7,500 each instead of the $75,000 requested by the government.

Federal judges in the Territories are appointed, not for life, but for specific terms. Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), who has criticized the Honolulu jurist's ruling on bail for the Communists, reports "on information and belief" that Metzger will not be reappointed. The Judge is elderly and well past the normal retirement age.

In the history of the United States only one justice of the Supreme Court has been tried by the Senate on impeachment charges brought by the House. Samuel Chase, of Maryland, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was appointed by President Washington to the Supreme Court in 1796, although Chase was given to intemperate action and strong language.

When Jefferson took office as President in 1801, he smarted under Adams' appointment of many Federalists as judges just before leaving office. Three years later, Jefferson persuaded his followers in the House of Representatives to vote impeachment charges against the high-handed Chase, as one of several moves to redress the political balance on the federal bench.

There were eight charges, arising from Chase's conduct of four trials. But though more than two-thirds of the Senators were Jeffersonians, no charge was supported by the necessary two-thirds vote. Two charges received a bare majority; five received less than a majority; one got not a single vote.

U. S. recognition of Communist China "would require straightforward and courageous thinking by all Americans, but it is the only logical course," Justice Douglas was reported as saying in San Francisco. This would appear to be a logical extension of his views on settlement of Asian problems as expressed in a magazine article in January.

Douglas then argued for U. S. support of "the revolutions of the world" so that they could be diverted "into democratic channels." Land reform was specifically stressed by Douglas as "a strong barrier to Soviet activity."

Old Ghost Dragged Up

Soviet scholars and historians—always assuming that any real scholars and historians still function in the Soviet Union—are again going back 25 years to prove Uncle Sam an imperialist. The Stalin Prize this year went to a book on the U. S. "intervention" against Communist Russia. Another book now being acclaimed in Moscow also drags up the dispatch of U. S. troops to North Russia and to the Vladivostok area of Siberia in 1918-20.

Well, everybody today admits that we pulled a boner in that adventure of 25 years ago, but our motives were not nearly so black as the Russians depict them. For one thing, President Wilson for a long time opposed the armed intervention of 1918-20. He finally went along with it only when persuaded that the British, French and Japanese would go ahead without us, and that our participation would help in restraining them.

In fact, when Soviet-U. S. diplomatic relations were finally set up in 1933, the Russians made no claim for damages from the U. S. intervention in Siberia. They tacitly admitted that it had helped to keep Japan from annexing a slice of Siberia.

The Russians did claim damages for the U. S. armed intervention in North Russia, around the ports of Murmansk and Archangel. Our troops there numbered only about 6,000. They engaged in some brushes with Soviet detachments, which caused 144 American deaths (there were 99 more from disease).

All American forces were withdrawn from North Russia by October, 1919, from Siberia by April, 1920. During this period the Soviet Union was under attack internally from Russian counter-revolutionary armies. If we had been as hell-bent then on destroying the Communist regime as the Russians allege, we would have sent funds, supplies, and troops to aid those counter-revolutionary armies.

Gaining On A Scourge

Although epidemics of sleeping sickness, which attacks man as well as horse, have been rare in recent decades, there was a time when the nation's equine population was reduced by hundreds of thousands as the disease struck.

The U. S. Public Health Service now announces that the virus of encephalitis has been isolated from wild birds at its laboratories in Montgomery, Ala. This form of sleeping sickness is known as the "blind staggers." Isolation of the virus is the first step in successfully combating a scourge of this kind.

The isolation was made twice from redwing blackbirds and once from magpies, according to Dr. T. Aiden Cockburn, epedmiologist in charge of encephalitis studies.

Birds, which apparently do not contract the disease, act as carriers, according to the health service. Birds used in the experiments were caught near health service laboratories in Greeley, Colo. Apparently the disease is carried by mosquitoes, ticks and mites, the studies revealed.

Cases of the disease reported in the U. S. last year totaled 1,051, compared to 781 in 1949 and 575 in 1948. But many thousands of cases are believed to have gone unrecognized or to have been erroneously diagnosed as polio, according to the health service.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Don't Provide A Rat Utopia

Wars are fought more successfully when the enemy is understood. This applies also in our battle against rats; these animals are clever and our only hope is to outsmart them. There are several species of the domestic type and most of them have an enormous reproductive potentiality. The period of gestation is only 25 days and litters range from six to 14. A mature rat remains fertile regardless of the season and every year produces from five to seven litters. They do better, however, when food and shelter are available and the weather is warm. The heaviest breeding takes place in the summer months and for this reason poisoning campaigns begun in autumn must be carried on over a long period of time.

Rats have a good sense of taste, smell, hearing, and touch. They are difficult to catch because of their agility and excellent sense of balance; they can cross the street on a telephone wire and falls seldom prove injurious. The rodents can jump 2 feet from a standing position and more, if they have a running start. Some are able to reach 18 inches and can scale a vertical wall if toe holds are available. Their underground tunnels are several hundred feet long. Furthermore, they swim, dive, and gnaw thru almost any material not as hard as their teeth.

Most rats rely upon our food. They also prefer our shelters; hence ratproofing is a useful weapon against them. It is expensive but worth the price considering the damage the pest is capable of doing to homes, factories, barns and granaries. However, this method has limitations and is less satisfactory than starving the animals to death. Even if all buildings in which foodstuffs are stored were completely ratproofed, our careless habits would furnish the rats with board. What we throw away in garbage and leave around keeps hoards of these creatures alive.

The best way to starve this enemy is to store all foods in ratproof containers. Farmers should do the same with food that is to be given to chickens, hogs, and other animals. Scraps should not be left in the open—on the table, sink, drainboard, or floor. Garbage must not be kept on the ground but in a metal container with a tight fitting lid. Cafes and other commercial establishments handling large quantities of garbage should keep their cans in ratproof, flyproof garbage houses. The city fathers ought to enforce this regulation and also assume some of the responsibility, disposing of the garbage in sanitary landfills or incinerators at frequent intervals. Open dumps are to be condemned unless managed properly. Many of us would learn a lesson ortwo along this line by strolling around the average garbage dump.

Killing rats also is efficacious in keeping down their population. The new rodenticide, warfarin, is highly recommended as a potent poison. The chemical produces bleeding tendencies in the rodent and ultimately a fatal hemorrhage. Rats are clever and are likely to shy away from the usual poisons when they see their friends and relatives dying or if they themselves become sick from eating certain types of bait. But warfarin has them puzzled because it acts slowly and rarely produces distressing symptoms. The hazards to humans and domestic animals are slight, yet bait stations are recommended when warfarin is to be put around areas where there are children or domestic animals.

FAILING HEART

H. C. writes: What is meant by a decompensated heart?

REPLY

A heart that is failing gradually. When the organ is damaged because of a "leaky" valve or obstruction of a coronary artery, the muscle is handicapped. It usually does an admirable job but there is a limit and when this occurs the individual develops shortness of breath and dropsy. The technical term for this condition is cardiac insufficiency; decompensation is still another name.

SUGAR AND DIABETES

M. J. writes: Is sugar in the urine always a sign of diabetes?

REPLY

No. Sugar is not uncommon after eating a meal, especially one that is rich in carbohydrates. When sugar is present in a specimen that has been passed before eating, the chances are greater that diabetes exists.

INFLAMED PANCREAS

L. Z. writes: Can acute pancreatitis be cured?

REPLY

Many cases appear to be. The condition often is traceable to an abnormality of the gall bladder. Removal of this organ is followed by apparent cure.

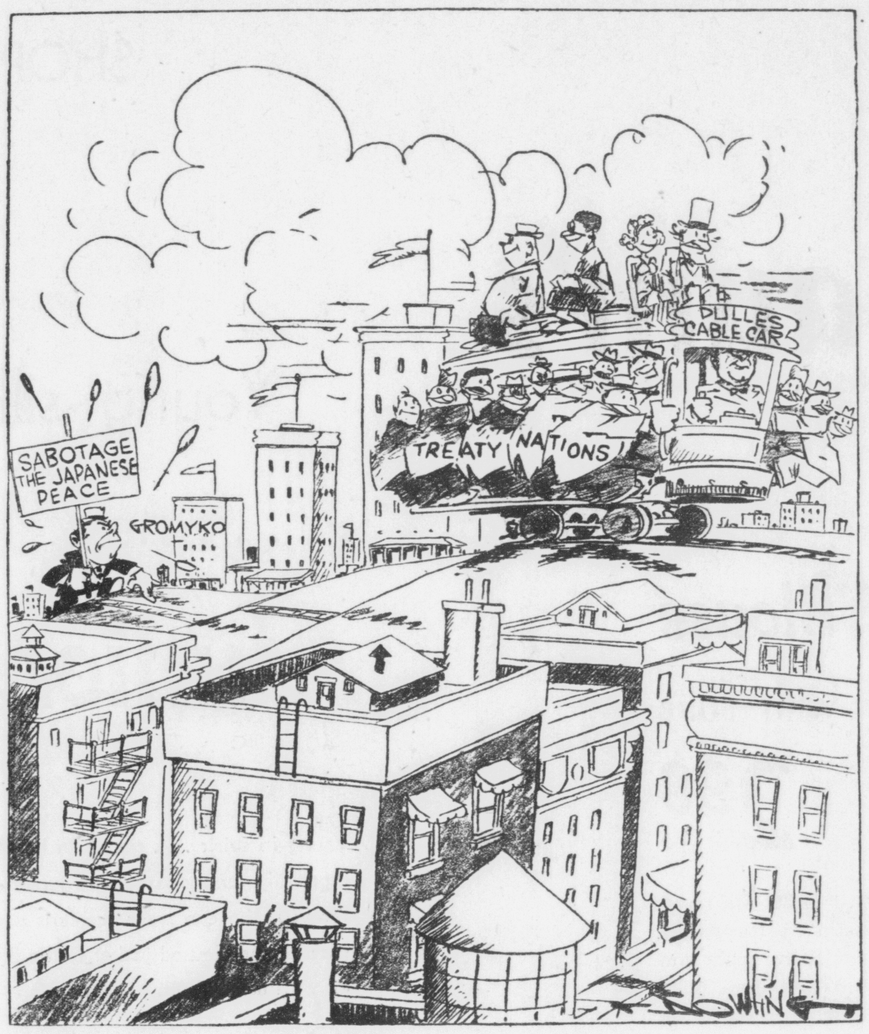
UNLIKELY

Mrs. K. writes: Would it be possible to become pregnant after a hysterectomy?

REPLY

No, because pregnancy cannot occur when the uterus is removed.

Those Hills In San Francisco



SEN. HERBERT R. O'CONOR on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Crime Control Now Hinges On Local Officials; Washington Cannot Solve All The Problems; Television Will Continue To Keep The Public Informed

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by guest columnists, today's being by Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor, chairman, Special Senate Committee to Investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce.)

WASHINGTON—Out of the investigations and hearings of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee two questions of far-reaching importance suggest themselves—

1. Will local enforcement officials arise to their opportunity, as presented by disclosures of crime syndicate operations, etc., to rid their localities, their states and the nation of the octopuslike crime system which is theratening the judicial processes of our country, and

2. Will television, which served to arouse the people of America to the crime situation, be generally accepted as another and a most potent means of keeping the citizens of our country in close touch with the functioning of our government?

Local enforcement must be the reliance of law-abiding citizens.

If there is one development which millions of our people do not want to see, it is further encroachment by the federal government upon the local activities and affairs of our communities.

Up To The People

All too much, in recent years, has there been a disposition among states and cities, as well as individuals, to look to Washington for solution of problems which seemed difficult of handing at the local level.

Naturally, therefore, when the Senate committee successfully made its disclosures about various phases of criminal operations throughout America, some were ready to tread the path of least resistance and transfer to the central government the job of combating lawlessness. But as one who has always fought against further intrusion of the federal government into local affairs, and as a former prosecuting attorney, I am convinced that the answer to the nation-wide crime problem will be found only in the localities. The people themselves are the final authority in this respect. Only as they demand, and continue to demand, from local enforcement officers honesty and dutiful enforcement of the criminal laws, will the reign of the mobster and the crime syndicates be ended.

It would be very consoling to think that there is some one agency to take the job out of the hands of all the millions of people affected and by some magic federal process eliminate the corruption which makes possible the operation of gangsters and racket organizations. But such was not intended to be America's way of handling problems. Moreover, it never would be successful even if the people of America were inclined to seek such a solution. Which they are not!

With regard to the second question, a by-product, so to speak, of the investigation, there will be much controversy undoubtedly. But I think the answer is a relatively simple one.

Television is new. As the New York and Detroit hearings, and the later sessions in Washington, proved, television can have a tremendous effect upon the public consciousness.

It is, however, merely another method of dissemination of information. It is an extension of radio, a personalizing of the newsreel, both of which have been generally accepted now, along with the newspapers, the magazines, and photography as media for transmitting news to people everywhere.

Serious Questions Involved

Protest has been raised against use of television in Congressional hearings, as an invasion of the rights of those to be questioned. Some of the witnesses have been quick to seize upon the question thus raised. They have refused to on the ground that it was an invasion of their personal rights. This involved several considerations by our committee.

First, there was a question of the individual's alleged right to refuse testimony on such grounds, as opposed to the right of the American people in general to be furnished fullest information regarding the functioning of the committee, operating as an arm of the Senate.

A second and important point involved the question as to whether the possible information to be gained from the witness was of such importance as to negate the right of the general public to see and hear the proceedings.

In this connection it must be realized that it is possible for a witness to be so distracted by news devices, such as television and newsreel cameras, as to interfere with the giving of testimony. This must be taken into consideration by the committee whose primary purpose for holding the hearing is to ascertain the facts as the basis for future legislation.

The committee recognized this phase of the matter, and took steps to reduce the amount of the equipment in the hearing room. Owing to the limited space available, however, it was not possible to place the equipment so that it could function without offering some disturbance to the witness. Thus, at times, and because of protests by witnesses against the use of television, etc., the committee was forced to the decision that the testimony of the witnesses was more important than the transmission of that particular testimony by television to the public, and cameras were ordered to be turned away from the witness during the taking of testimony.

Better Facilities Suggested

The TV controversy, while centering upon the crime hearings, did not stop there. Its implications spread to the field of Congressional hearings in general. And there were some who were disposed, apparently, to the belief that it was unfair to a prospective witness to be required to testify before the TV camera.

Provision of more modern facilities for handling television and newsreels, possibly in soundproof glass rooms, might well remove many of the objections thus far raised to the use of such media in public hearings.

The committee's reaction with regard to the matter, in which I concurred completely, can be stated briefly, as follows:

1. Television should be permitted in open hearings by Congressional committees, on the same basis that newsreel cameras, radio, flashbulbs, photographs and newspaper and magazine reports of the hearings are permitted.

2. At the same time every precaution should be taken to safeguard the rights of witnesses so as to assure that the witness's ability to testify is not unduly hampered by the presence of news disseminating equipment. To afford satisfactory conditions under which the witness may testify undisturbed, provisions should be made so that news equipment is not conspicuous and is so operated as not to distract or interfere with the functioning of the committee.

Effects On Prices

By MARK SULLIVAN

Whether prices generally will become higher — which is to say whether there will be more inflation—is being determined to a large degree within the public mind. Influences on the public psychology which make for higher prices emanate from the administration. President Truman has said that prices will be higher unless Congress takes steps which he wants. Heads of administration control agencies say the same, indeed some statements by them are direct assertions that prices will be higher, and some actions by them bear out the assertion.

The net effect of the administration's utterances and actions is to create expectation of higher prices. The existence of this expectation tends to create the thing expected; when people are told that high prices are ahead they tend to buy, and this buying of itself brings about higher prices.

There is a contrary opinion. Not much is heard about it by the people generally, but it is strongly held on the highest level of what may be called practical economic thought. The opinion is that prices should tend to become lower for some five years to come. The opinion is based on the sum of economic forces in motion, in the United States and throughout the world. This trend toward lower prices could be frustrated by a major war. It could also be frustrated if economic and fiscal policies of government work against it. But the present and weighty fact is that a trend toward lower prices is now under way.

Some Prices Down

Prices of a large number of commodities, several of them basic, have declined from peaks they were at late last year or in early 1951. The declines have taken place mainly during the seven months since last February:

Cotton has declined from approximately 45 cents a pound to 35 cents.

Raw wool from $3.80 a pound to $2.05.

Natural rubber from 83 cents a pound to 52 cents.

Lumber from $91 to $84 per thousand board feet.

Tin from $1.83 a pound to $1.03.

Hogs from $25 per 100 pounds to $21.

There have been declines in prices of rayon, cotton and nylon piece goods; women's cotton and rayon dresses; nylon hose; shoes, wool rugs and carpets; television sets and many other appliances and goods. An over-all sign of the declining trend during the past seven months is the whole commodity index. The February-March figure was 184, the latest figure is 176.8.

This recent trend toward lower prices supports the opinion that future prices will tend lower over a period of years. The opinion is further supported by economic forces including a world condition. Countries whose production of manufactured goods and food had been almost destroyed by war are now at work again and their greatly increased production makes toward lowering prices.

The opinion that predicts lower prices is known in business circles, and some act upon it. The head of the Independent Grocers Alliance, J. Frank Grimes, advised members at their annual convention last week to "reduce inventories as rapidly as possible" so as to "be ready to jump in and buy when prices ease."

Hindered By Administration

But the people generally have little opportunity to know even the existence of a seriously-held economic opinion which expects a lower level of prices. This opinion can make little headway against outpourings from administration heads and agencies which create popular expectation that prices will go higher.

Administration utterances which lead to public expectation that prices will go higher tend to cause the expectation to become a fact. This is the part that psychology has in determining prices. Beyond causing expectation of higher prices, administration actions and policies work directly and specifically to prevent lowering of prices. The Department of Agriculture practice of price support works directly and constantly to prevent lowering of prices. Some other government agencies have for many years had authority to fix some prices, and the recent tendency has been to fix them upward.

All this works toward creating a public psychology which expects higher prices. Almost certainly the public mind would prefer to expect lower prices. For the latter expectation there is reason in the operation of natural economic forces. These can be very powerful if not too overwhelmingly frustrated by the attitude of government.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — America and the free world can be proud of the statement that a President of the United States was able to make on the occasion of the signing of a treaty of peace between the victor and the defeated.

Nowhere in the technical phrases of the treaty itself, quite naturally, are to be found the phrases of interpretation which a magnificent speech by President Truman bequeathed to all history to read. There are two sentences of that speech which tell the story of an achievement unparalleled in modern times, indeed, of a document unmatched anywhere in the treaties of peace of the past. Those two memorable sentences read as follows:

"It (the treaty with Japan) does not contain the seeds of another war. It is a treaty of reconciliation, which looks to the future, and not the past."

Expresses Moral Force

To be able to make that statement persuasively, to be able to point to the deeds that actually prove its truth in the records of our Army of Occupation, to be able not only to say that there was no spirit of revenge but to be able to point to acts that corroborate it, is to express the moral force of America in the free world.

This moral force is not the attribute alone of the American government of today. It spring from a long line of precedents expressed in public pronouncements since World War I began. It is the reflection, moreover, of the viewpoint not of just one political party but of all parties in the United States, not of just the spirit of American ideals but of the ideals that free men hold everywhere. All this has not come to fruition heretofore in such concrete facts of international relationships as are evidenced in the treaty between the Japanese and those who fought victoriously against them.

The kind of peace outlined in the treaty with Japan is the kind that men of all religions have hoped and prayed for, and particularly the kind of peace urged for Europe, too, by President Wilson after World War I and by President Franklin D. Roosevelt after World War II. It is the kind of peace Pope Pius XII has been petitioning for in his public addresses since 1944.

President Truman in his San Francisco address to the assembled nations rightly pays tribute to the "outstanding leadership of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur" for "the way in which the Allied occupation has been carried out." And the President also points with pride to General Ridgway as MacArthur's "able successor" and to the splendid work of John Foster Dulles, who worked so patiently and intelligently in negotiating the treaty itself.

Rising above party and domestic controversy, the President recognized that, in writing this speech, he was writing for future history a chapter of accomplishment which can prove an inspiration to those who will be custodians of American world policy in the years to come.

For in a sense the treaty, while not mitigating the evils of war or condoning the aggression which started it, does show that, when peoples put aside misguided leaders and take into their own hands the cause of decent international relations, they will find in the people of the United States ready and willing partners in supporting those aims.

Annexed No Territory

America did not receive a single dollar of governmental indemnity out of World War I or World War II. Nor did America annex a single acre of territory from either war.

Mr. Truman's address at the San Francisco gathering of nations will be read with even more intense interest outside America than inside. It will rank as one of the great state papers of all times — not because of its simple phrases but because it recites eloquently the record of American postwar behavior and challenges the rest of the world to adopt the letter and the spirit of that behavior.

The implications as to the future, so far as they relate to an ultimate settlement with the people of Russia and the iron curtain countries—and, indeed, as they may relate to the Chinese people once the Korean aggression can be dealt with in similar fashion — will not, it is hoped, be lost on the people of those countries which are still in the grip of totalitarianism, even as Japan once was. Unfortunately, the Korean War has not gone to the point of defeating on the battlefield the forces of aggression. There has been no effective contact as yet with the peoples of those countries where troops are being employed against us.

Military force must go hand in hand with moral force in making peace, and the consummation of the Japanese treaty is an excellent example of what can be done once evil governments are removed from power.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Risk-Takers

Since 1900, an annual average of only 78 out of every 10,000 business concerns failed, no matter how started or by whom. Dun and Bradstreet, the mercantile agency which devotes itself to statistics of this nature, reports that for the year 1950, there were only 34 failures in every 10,000 business concerns. The very worst year in this century was 1932 with 154 failures per 10,000.

In other words, whether those who start a business are experienced or not, whether they have ample capital, whether it is a small, medium or large business, under the American capitalist system, in which the individual devotes his time and money, at his own discretion and risk, the number of those who fail is so small as to be hardly important in the general picture.

It is interesting to note that failures ran higher in the years between 1924 and 1933. In a word, they were numerous during the years of so-called prosperity and depression. Both periods represented abnormal economic situations and therefore produced failures.

According to the Dun and Bradstreet survey, the principal causes of failure are lack of experience in the line and general incompetence. These are obvious reasons which in no way reflect unfavorably on the economic system.

Under capitalism, success cannot be guaranteed. That is what is so fundamentally wrong with the RFC. When the government bolsters obsolence, it does not benefit anyone except the incompetent. It would, from the capitalist standpoint, be preferable for the business to fail and to have someone take it over who is capable of greater efficiency and managerial skill. Similarly, when the government creates new businesses by government loans, as in the various Kaiser enterprises, it serves no wholesome purpose, as it is a defiance of the concept that the enterpriser takes his own risks.

It is to be noted that year by year, the lines of business that produce the largest number of failures are retail food and liquor stores and eating and drinking places. It would be interesting to analyze the causes for this. Are these businesses especially attractive to incompetents? These are licensed enterprises, often requiring several different licenses. One would imagine that government agencies would select especially competent persons to whom to grant licenses, or is it just the opposite, namely, that often the licenses are obtained by fraud, corruption and partisan politics?

The statistics which Dun and Bradstreett have compiled can only lead to one conclusion and that is that the United States remains sound no matter what politicians do to disturb its economy. Taxes limit and can in time dry up the reserves of new capital by reducing the amount that the individual can save to put into new enterprises. Similarly, the depreciation of the currency, often called inflation, can and does reduce savings. Yet, somehow, Americans do save and they do invest and they do take risks. They want to be their own bosses.

As long as this attitude remains among our people, we shall not have too much cause to fear the consequences of the leveling and socialistic tendencies of government. As long as the ambition to be one's own boss, to wear no man's collar, continues among our people, we shall not be reduced to the unwholesome level or socialism. It is when men think in terms of getting on a safe payroll, of finding some road to what they call security, that our way of living can be imperilled and even destroyed. For there can be no security without slavery.

This the Europeans are slowly discovering. It was Bismarck who introduced social security in Germany, advised by Ferdinand Lassalle, adopting the demands of the Marxists and translating them into a paternalistic gift from government. Yet, his entire structure of security collapsed after World War I and a people unused to risk turned to Hitler as a savior. The price they had to pay for the fallacy of security has been unbelievably high.

It could be said that the failure was not due to the system of social security but to war: Actually, the need for constant war, for unending emergencies is inevitable in a system which promises more than any government can provide. That the Germany of Bismarck, the Kaiser and Hitler attempted; that the Socialist government of Great Britain is now trying, bolstered up by American dollars. Germany failed; the British Socialists will collapse when they are no longer subsidized by the United States. But American capitalism sustains itself by the ingenuity of those who take risks.

Removing A Federal Judge

Few expect President Truman to pay much attention to the demand of Rep. Woodruff (R., Mich.) that Supreme Court Justice Douglas be asked to resign. Representative Woodruff accused the Justice of giving "aid and comfort to the foes of the United States and democracy" in a statement in San Francisco on August 31 advocating U. S. recognition of Communist China.

The remarks of Justice Douglas touched off a brief controversy in the Senate on the same day when quoted by Senator Welker (R., Idaho). Welker identified Douglas as "a spokesman for the administration." Indignantly, Senator Connally (D., Texas) replied: "It is simply preposterous that Judge Douglas should speak for this administration or for the Democratic party." Douglas should "stay at home, instead of roaming around Asia and in other places making fool statements."

Representative Woodruff did not suggest impeachment. The Constitution, while allowing federal judges, like all other federal civil officers, to be removed from office on impeachment and conviction for high crimes, provides also that judges, "both of the Supreme and inferior courts," shall hold their offices "during good behaviour."

Impeachment isn't being considered, either, in the case of Federal Judge Metzger of Hawaii. This judge has come under fire for setting the bail for seven arrested Communists at $7,500 each instead of the $75,000 requested by the government.

Federal judges in the Territories are appointed, not for life, but for specific terms. Senator O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), who has criticized the Honolulu jurist's ruling on bail for the Communists, reports "on information and belief" that Metzger will not be reappointed. The Judge is elderly and well past the normal retirement age.

In the history of the United States only one justice of the Supreme Court has been tried by the Senate on impeachment charges brought by the House. Samuel Chase, of Maryland, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was appointed by President Washington to the Supreme Court in 1796, although Chase was given to intemperate action and strong language.

When Jefferson took office as President in 1801, he smarted under Adams' appointment of many Federalists as judges just before leaving office. Three years later, Jefferson persuaded his followers in the House of Representatives to vote impeachment charges against the high-handed Chase, as one of several moves to redress the political balance on the federal bench.

There were eight charges, arising from Chase's conduct of four trials. But though more than two-thirds of the Senators were Jeffersonians, no charge was supported by the necessary two-thirds vote. Two charges received a bare majority; five received less than a majority; one got not a single vote.

U. S. recognition of Communist China "would require straightforward and courageous thinking by all Americans, but it is the only logical course," Justice Douglas was reported as saying in San Francisco. This would appear to be a logical extension of his views on settlement of Asian problems as expressed in a magazine article in January.

Douglas then argued for U. S. support of "the revolutions of the world" so that they could be diverted "into democratic channels." Land reform was specifically stressed by Douglas as "a strong barrier to Soviet activity."

Old Ghost Dragged Up

Soviet scholars and historians—always assuming that any real scholars and historians still function in the Soviet Union—are again going back 25 years to prove Uncle Sam an imperialist. The Stalin Prize this year went to a book on the U. S. "intervention" against Communist Russia. Another book now being acclaimed in Moscow also drags up the dispatch of U. S. troops to North Russia and to the Vladivostok area of Siberia in 1918-20.

Well, everybody today admits that we pulled a boner in that adventure of 25 years ago, but our motives were not nearly so black as the Russians depict them. For one thing, President Wilson for a long time opposed the armed intervention of 1918-20. He finally went along with it only when persuaded that the British, French and Japanese would go ahead without us, and that our participation would help in restraining them.

In fact, when Soviet-U. S. diplomatic relations were finally set up in 1933, the Russians made no claim for damages from the U. S. intervention in Siberia. They tacitly admitted that it had helped to keep Japan from annexing a slice of Siberia.

The Russians did claim damages for the U. S. armed intervention in North Russia, around the ports of Murmansk and Archangel. Our troops there numbered only about 6,000. They engaged in some brushes with Soviet detachments, which caused 144 American deaths (there were 99 more from disease).

All American forces were withdrawn from North Russia by October, 1919, from Siberia by April, 1920. During this period the Soviet Union was under attack internally from Russian counter-revolutionary armies. If we had been as hell-bent then on destroying the Communist regime as the Russians allege, we would have sent funds, supplies, and troops to aid those counter-revolutionary armies.

Gaining On A Scourge

Although epidemics of sleeping sickness, which attacks man as well as horse, have been rare in recent decades, there was a time when the nation's equine population was reduced by hundreds of thousands as the disease struck.

The U. S. Public Health Service now announces that the virus of encephalitis has been isolated from wild birds at its laboratories in Montgomery, Ala. This form of sleeping sickness is known as the "blind staggers." Isolation of the virus is the first step in successfully combating a scourge of this kind.

The isolation was made twice from redwing blackbirds and once from magpies, according to Dr. T. Aiden Cockburn, epedmiologist in charge of encephalitis studies.

Birds, which apparently do not contract the disease, act as carriers, according to the health service. Birds used in the experiments were caught near health service laboratories in Greeley, Colo. Apparently the disease is carried by mosquitoes, ticks and mites, the studies revealed.

Cases of the disease reported in the U. S. last year totaled 1,051, compared to 781 in 1949 and 575 in 1948. But many thousands of cases are believed to have gone unrecognized or to have been erroneously diagnosed as polio, according to the health service.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Don't Provide A Rat Utopia

Wars are fought more successfully when the enemy is understood. This applies also in our battle against rats; these animals are clever and our only hope is to outsmart them. There are several species of the domestic type and most of them have an enormous reproductive potentiality. The period of gestation is only 25 days and litters range from six to 14. A mature rat remains fertile regardless of the season and every year produces from five to seven litters. They do better, however, when food and shelter are available and the weather is warm. The heaviest breeding takes place in the summer months and for this reason poisoning campaigns begun in autumn must be carried on over a long period of time.

Rats have a good sense of taste, smell, hearing, and touch. They are difficult to catch because of their agility and excellent sense of balance; they can cross the street on a telephone wire and falls seldom prove injurious. The rodents can jump 2 feet from a standing position and more, if they have a running start. Some are able to reach 18 inches and can scale a vertical wall if toe holds are available. Their underground tunnels are several hundred feet long. Furthermore, they swim, dive, and gnaw thru almost any material not as hard as their teeth.

Most rats rely upon our food. They also prefer our shelters; hence ratproofing is a useful weapon against them. It is expensive but worth the price considering the damage the pest is capable of doing to homes, factories, barns and granaries. However, this method has limitations and is less satisfactory than starving the animals to death. Even if all buildings in which foodstuffs are stored were completely ratproofed, our careless habits would furnish the rats with board. What we throw away in garbage and leave around keeps hoards of these creatures alive.

The best way to starve this enemy is to store all foods in ratproof containers. Farmers should do the same with food that is to be given to chickens, hogs, and other animals. Scraps should not be left in the open—on the table, sink, drainboard, or floor. Garbage must not be kept on the ground but in a metal container with a tight fitting lid. Cafes and other commercial establishments handling large quantities of garbage should keep their cans in ratproof, flyproof garbage houses. The city fathers ought to enforce this regulation and also assume some of the responsibility, disposing of the garbage in sanitary landfills or incinerators at frequent intervals. Open dumps are to be condemned unless managed properly. Many of us would learn a lesson ortwo along this line by strolling around the average garbage dump.

Killing rats also is efficacious in keeping down their population. The new rodenticide, warfarin, is highly recommended as a potent poison. The chemical produces bleeding tendencies in the rodent and ultimately a fatal hemorrhage. Rats are clever and are likely to shy away from the usual poisons when they see their friends and relatives dying or if they themselves become sick from eating certain types of bait. But warfarin has them puzzled because it acts slowly and rarely produces distressing symptoms. The hazards to humans and domestic animals are slight, yet bait stations are recommended when warfarin is to be put around areas where there are children or domestic animals.

FAILING HEART

H. C. writes: What is meant by a decompensated heart?

REPLY

A heart that is failing gradually. When the organ is damaged because of a "leaky" valve or obstruction of a coronary artery, the muscle is handicapped. It usually does an admirable job but there is a limit and when this occurs the individual develops shortness of breath and dropsy. The technical term for this condition is cardiac insufficiency; decompensation is still another name.

SUGAR AND DIABETES

M. J. writes: Is sugar in the urine always a sign of diabetes?

REPLY

No. Sugar is not uncommon after eating a meal, especially one that is rich in carbohydrates. When sugar is present in a specimen that has been passed before eating, the chances are greater that diabetes exists.

INFLAMED PANCREAS

L. Z. writes: Can acute pancreatitis be cured?

REPLY

Many cases appear to be. The condition often is traceable to an abnormality of the gall bladder. Removal of this organ is followed by apparent cure.

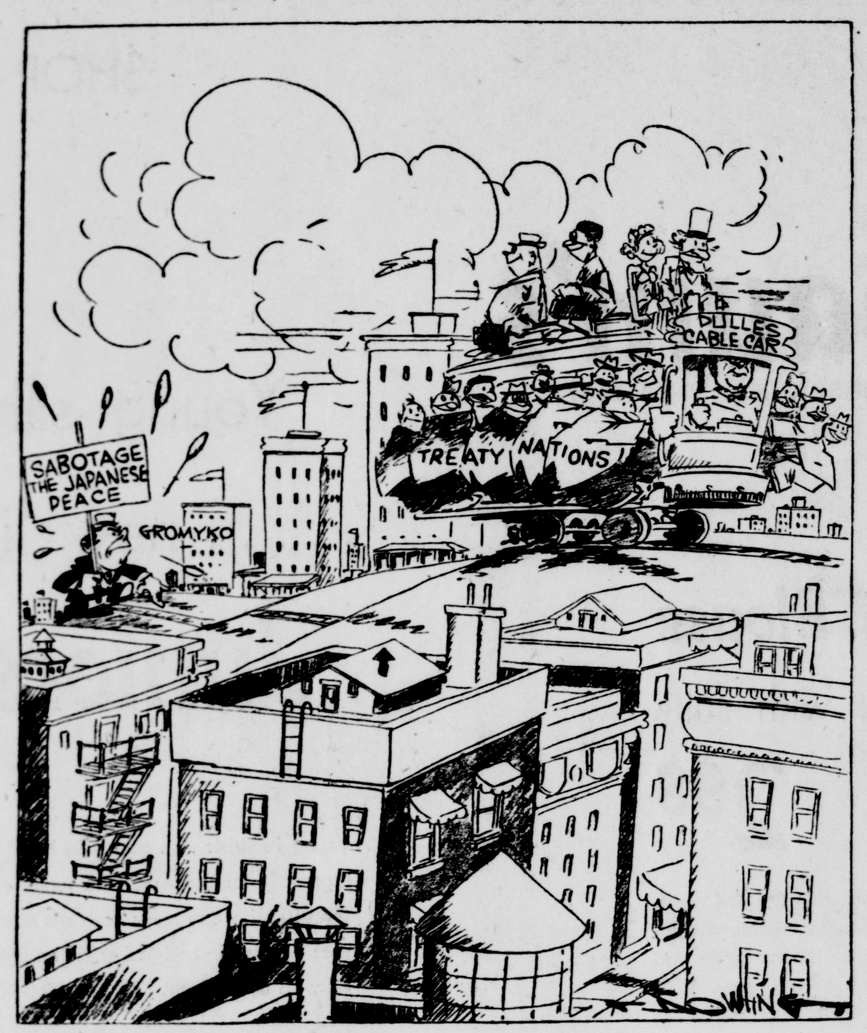
UNLIKELY

Mrs. K. writes: Would it be possible to become pregnant after a hysterectomy?

REPLY

No, because pregnancy cannot occur when the uterus is removed.

Those Hills In San Francisco



SEN. HERBERT R. O'CONOR on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Crime Control Now Hinges On Local Officials; Washington Cannot Solve All The Problems; Television Will Continue To Keep The Public Informed

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by guest columnists, today's being by Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor, chairman, Special Senate Committee to Investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce.)

WASHINGTON—Out of the investigations and hearings of the Senate Crime Investigating Committee two questions of far-reaching importance suggest themselves—

1. Will local enforcement officials arise to their opportunity, as presented by disclosures of crime syndicate operations, etc., to rid their localities, their states and the nation of the octopuslike crime system which is theratening the judicial processes of our country, and

2. Will television, which served to arouse the people of America to the crime situation, be generally accepted as another and a most potent means of keeping the citizens of our country in close touch with the functioning of our government?

Local enforcement must be the reliance of law-abiding citizens.

If there is one development which millions of our people do not want to see, it is further encroachment by the federal government upon the local activities and affairs of our communities.

Up To The People

All too much, in recent years, has there been a disposition among states and cities, as well as individuals, to look to Washington for solution of problems which seemed difficult of handing at the local level.

Naturally, therefore, when the Senate committee successfully made its disclosures about various phases of criminal operations throughout America, some were ready to tread the path of least resistance and transfer to the central government the job of combating lawlessness. But as one who has always fought against further intrusion of the federal government into local affairs, and as a former prosecuting attorney, I am convinced that the answer to the nation-wide crime problem will be found only in the localities. The people themselves are the final authority in this respect. Only as they demand, and continue to demand, from local enforcement officers honesty and dutiful enforcement of the criminal laws, will the reign of the mobster and the crime syndicates be ended.

It would be very consoling to think that there is some one agency to take the job out of the hands of all the millions of people affected and by some magic federal process eliminate the corruption which makes possible the operation of gangsters and racket organizations. But such was not intended to be America's way of handling problems. Moreover, it never would be successful even if the people of America were inclined to seek such a solution. Which they are not!

With regard to the second question, a by-product, so to speak, of the investigation, there will be much controversy undoubtedly. But I think the answer is a relatively simple one.

Television is new. As the New York and Detroit hearings, and the later sessions in Washington, proved, television can have a tremendous effect upon the public consciousness.

It is, however, merely another method of dissemination of information. It is an extension of radio, a personalizing of the newsreel, both of which have been generally accepted now, along with the newspapers, the magazines, and photography as media for transmitting news to people everywhere.

Serious Questions Involved

Protest has been raised against use of television in Congressional hearings, as an invasion of the rights of those to be questioned. Some of the witnesses have been quick to seize upon the question thus raised. They have refused to on the ground that it was an invasion of their personal rights. This involved several considerations by our committee.

First, there was a question of the individual's alleged right to refuse testimony on such grounds, as opposed to the right of the American people in general to be furnished fullest information regarding the functioning of the committee, operating as an arm of the Senate.

A second and important point involved the question as to whether the possible information to be gained from the witness was of such importance as to negate the right of the general public to see and hear the proceedings.

In this connection it must be realized that it is possible for a witness to be so distracted by news devices, such as television and newsreel cameras, as to interfere with the giving of testimony. This must be taken into consideration by the committee whose primary purpose for holding the hearing is to ascertain the facts as the basis for future legislation.

The committee recognized this phase of the matter, and took steps to reduce the amount of the equipment in the hearing room. Owing to the limited space available, however, it was not possible to place the equipment so that it could function without offering some disturbance to the witness. Thus, at times, and because of protests by witnesses against the use of television, etc., the committee was forced to the decision that the testimony of the witnesses was more important than the transmission of that particular testimony by television to the public, and cameras were ordered to be turned away from the witness during the taking of testimony.

Better Facilities Suggested

The TV controversy, while centering upon the crime hearings, did not stop there. Its implications spread to the field of Congressional hearings in general. And there were some who were disposed, apparently, to the belief that it was unfair to a prospective witness to be required to testify before the TV camera.

Provision of more modern facilities for handling television and newsreels, possibly in soundproof glass rooms, might well remove many of the objections thus far raised to the use of such media in public hearings.

The committee's reaction with regard to the matter, in which I concurred completely, can be stated briefly, as follows:

1. Television should be permitted in open hearings by Congressional committees, on the same basis that newsreel cameras, radio, flashbulbs, photographs and newspaper and magazine reports of the hearings are permitted.

2. At the same time every precaution should be taken to safeguard the rights of witnesses so as to assure that the witness's ability to testify is not unduly hampered by the presence of news disseminating equipment. To afford satisfactory conditions under which the witness may testify undisturbed, provisions should be made so that news equipment is not conspicuous and is so operated as not to distract or interfere with the functioning of the committee.

Effects On Prices

By MARK SULLIVAN

Whether prices generally will become higher — which is to say whether there will be more inflation—is being determined to a large degree within the public mind. Influences on the public psychology which make for higher prices emanate from the administration. President Truman has said that prices will be higher unless Congress takes steps which he wants. Heads of administration control agencies say the same, indeed some statements by them are direct assertions that prices will be higher, and some actions by them bear out the assertion.

The net effect of the administration's utterances and actions is to create expectation of higher prices. The existence of this expectation tends to create the thing expected; when people are told that high prices are ahead they tend to buy, and this buying of itself brings about higher prices.

There is a contrary opinion. Not much is heard about it by the people generally, but it is strongly held on the highest level of what may be called practical economic thought. The opinion is that prices should tend to become lower for some five years to come. The opinion is based on the sum of economic forces in motion, in the United States and throughout the world. This trend toward lower prices could be frustrated by a major war. It could also be frustrated if economic and fiscal policies of government work against it. But the present and weighty fact is that a trend toward lower prices is now under way.

Some Prices Down

Prices of a large number of commodities, several of them basic, have declined from peaks they were at late last year or in early 1951. The declines have taken place mainly during the seven months since last February:

Cotton has declined from approximately 45 cents a pound to 35 cents.

Raw wool from $3.80 a pound to $2.05.

Natural rubber from 83 cents a pound to 52 cents.

Lumber from $91 to $84 per thousand board feet.

Tin from $1.83 a pound to $1.03.

Hogs from $25 per 100 pounds to $21.

There have been declines in prices of rayon, cotton and nylon piece goods; women's cotton and rayon dresses; nylon hose; shoes, wool rugs and carpets; television sets and many other appliances and goods. An over-all sign of the declining trend during the past seven months is the whole commodity index. The February-March figure was 184, the latest figure is 176.8.

This recent trend toward lower prices supports the opinion that future prices will tend lower over a period of years. The opinion is further supported by economic forces including a world condition. Countries whose production of manufactured goods and food had been almost destroyed by war are now at work again and their greatly increased production makes toward lowering prices.

The opinion that predicts lower prices is known in business circles, and some act upon it. The head of the Independent Grocers Alliance, J. Frank Grimes, advised members at their annual convention last week to "reduce inventories as rapidly as possible" so as to "be ready to jump in and buy when prices ease."

Hindered By Administration

But the people generally have little opportunity to know even the existence of a seriously-held economic opinion which expects a lower level of prices. This opinion can make little headway against outpourings from administration heads and agencies which create popular expectation that prices will go higher.

Administration utterances which lead to public expectation that prices will go higher tend to cause the expectation to become a fact. This is the part that psychology has in determining prices. Beyond causing expectation of higher prices, administration actions and policies work directly and specifically to prevent lowering of prices. The Department of Agriculture practice of price support works directly and constantly to prevent lowering of prices. Some other government agencies have for many years had authority to fix some prices, and the recent tendency has been to fix them upward.

All this works toward creating a public psychology which expects higher prices. Almost certainly the public mind would prefer to expect lower prices. For the latter expectation there is reason in the operation of natural economic forces. These can be very powerful if not too overwhelmingly frustrated by the attitude of government.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — America and the free world can be proud of the statement that a President of the United States was able to make on the occasion of the signing of a treaty of peace between the victor and the defeated.

Nowhere in the technical phrases of the treaty itself, quite naturally, are to be found the phrases of interpretation which a magnificent speech by President Truman bequeathed to all history to read. There are two sentences of that speech which tell the story of an achievement unparalleled in modern times, indeed, of a document unmatched anywhere in the treaties of peace of the past. Those two memorable sentences read as follows:

"It (the treaty with Japan) does not contain the seeds of another war. It is a treaty of reconciliation, which looks to the future, and not the past."

Expresses Moral Force

To be able to make that statement persuasively, to be able to point to the deeds that actually prove its truth in the records of our Army of Occupation, to be able not only to say that there was no spirit of revenge but to be able to point to acts that corroborate it, is to express the moral force of America in the free world.

This moral force is not the attribute alone of the American government of today. It spring from a long line of precedents expressed in public pronouncements since World War I began. It is the reflection, moreover, of the viewpoint not of just one political party but of all parties in the United States, not of just the spirit of American ideals but of the ideals that free men hold everywhere. All this has not come to fruition heretofore in such concrete facts of international relationships as are evidenced in the treaty between the Japanese and those who fought victoriously against them.

The kind of peace outlined in the treaty with Japan is the kind that men of all religions have hoped and prayed for, and particularly the kind of peace urged for Europe, too, by President Wilson after World War I and by President Franklin D. Roosevelt after World War II. It is the kind of peace Pope Pius XII has been petitioning for in his public addresses since 1944.

President Truman in his San Francisco address to the assembled nations rightly pays tribute to the "outstanding leadership of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur" for "the way in which the Allied occupation has been carried out." And the President also points with pride to General Ridgway as MacArthur's "able successor" and to the splendid work of John Foster Dulles, who worked so patiently and intelligently in negotiating the treaty itself.

Rising above party and domestic controversy, the President recognized that, in writing this speech, he was writing for future history a chapter of accomplishment which can prove an inspiration to those who will be custodians of American world policy in the years to come.

For in a sense the treaty, while not mitigating the evils of war or condoning the aggression which started it, does show that, when peoples put aside misguided leaders and take into their own hands the cause of decent international relations, they will find in the people of the United States ready and willing partners in supporting those aims.

Annexed No Territory

America did not receive a single dollar of governmental indemnity out of World War I or World War II. Nor did America annex a single acre of territory from either war.

Mr. Truman's address at the San Francisco gathering of nations will be read with even more intense interest outside America than inside. It will rank as one of the great state papers of all times — not because of its simple phrases but because it recites eloquently the record of American postwar behavior and challenges the rest of the world to adopt the letter and the spirit of that behavior.

The implications as to the future, so far as they relate to an ultimate settlement with the people of Russia and the iron curtain countries—and, indeed, as they may relate to the Chinese people once the Korean aggression can be dealt with in similar fashion — will not, it is hoped, be lost on the people of those countries which are still in the grip of totalitarianism, even as Japan once was. Unfortunately, the Korean War has not gone to the point of defeating on the battlefield the forces of aggression. There has been no effective contact as yet with the peoples of those countries where troops are being employed against us.

Military force must go hand in hand with moral force in making peace, and the consummation of the Japanese treaty is an excellent example of what can be done once evil governments are removed from power.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Risk-Takers

Since 1900, an annual average of only 78 out of every 10,000 business concerns failed, no matter how started or by whom. Dun and Bradstreet, the mercantile agency which devotes itself to statistics of this nature, reports that for the year 1950, there were only 34 failures in every 10,000 business concerns. The very worst year in this century was 1932 with 154 failures per 10,000.

In other words, whether those who start a business are experienced or not, whether they have ample capital, whether it is a small, medium or large business, under the American capitalist system, in which the individual devotes his time and money, at his own discretion and risk, the number of those who fail is so small as to be hardly important in the general picture.

It is interesting to note that failures ran higher in the years between 1924 and 1933. In a word, they were numerous during the years of so-called prosperity and depression. Both periods represented abnormal economic situations and therefore produced failures.

According to the Dun and Bradstreet survey, the principal causes of failure are lack of experience in the line and general incompetence. These are obvious reasons which in no way reflect unfavorably on the economic system.

Under capitalism, success cannot be guaranteed. That is what is so fundamentally wrong with the RFC. When the government bolsters obsolence, it does not benefit anyone except the incompetent. It would, from the capitalist standpoint, be preferable for the business to fail and to have someone take it over who is capable of greater efficiency and managerial skill. Similarly, when the government creates new businesses by government loans, as in the various Kaiser enterprises, it serves no wholesome purpose, as it is a defiance of the concept that the enterpriser takes his own risks.

It is to be noted that year by year, the lines of business that produce the largest number of failures are retail food and liquor stores and eating and drinking places. It would be interesting to analyze the causes for this. Are these businesses especially attractive to incompetents? These are licensed enterprises, often requiring several different licenses. One would imagine that government agencies would select especially competent persons to whom to grant licenses, or is it just the opposite, namely, that often the licenses are obtained by fraud, corruption and partisan politics?

The statistics which Dun and Bradstreett have compiled can only lead to one conclusion and that is that the United States remains sound no matter what politicians do to disturb its economy. Taxes limit and can in time dry up the reserves of new capital by reducing the amount that the individual can save to put into new enterprises. Similarly, the depreciation of the currency, often called inflation, can and does reduce savings. Yet, somehow, Americans do save and they do invest and they do take risks. They want to be their own bosses.

As long as this attitude remains among our people, we shall not have too much cause to fear the consequences of the leveling and socialistic tendencies of government. As long as the ambition to be one's own boss, to wear no man's collar, continues among our people, we shall not be reduced to the unwholesome level or socialism. It is when men think in terms of getting on a safe payroll, of finding some road to what they call security, that our way of living can be imperilled and even destroyed. For there can be no security without slavery.

This the Europeans are slowly discovering. It was Bismarck who introduced social security in Germany, advised by Ferdinand Lassalle, adopting the demands of the Marxists and translating them into a paternalistic gift from government. Yet, his entire structure of security collapsed after World War I and a people unused to risk turned to Hitler as a savior. The price they had to pay for the fallacy of security has been unbelievably high.

It could be said that the failure was not due to the system of social security but to war: Actually, the need for constant war, for unending emergencies is inevitable in a system which promises more than any government can provide. That the Germany of Bismarck, the Kaiser and Hitler attempted; that the Socialist government of Great Britain is now trying, bolstered up by American dollars. Germany failed; the British Socialists will collapse when they are no longer subsidized by the United States. But American capitalism sustains itself by the ingenuity of those who take risks.

Miss Dorsey Is Bride Of W. H. Lohr

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dorsey, 232 William Street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Sue Dorsey, to William Henry Lohr, 408 Decatur Street, son of Mrs. John P. Lohr, Bedford, Pa.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized August 27 a 12:30 p. m. in Kingsley Methodist Church with Rev. M. A. Keesecker officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey were the attendants.

The bride was attired in a light wool suit fashioned with a pink and orchid check blouse and orchid skirt. With it she wore a black bonnet shaped hat and black accessories. A white orchid corsage completed her costume.

Mrs. Dorsey chose a black costume for her daughter's wedding. She also had an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1949, where she was a member of the Choral Club. She is employed by the Times and Alleganian Company.

The bridegroom attended Bedford High School, served three and one half years in the Army and is employed by the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lohr left for a wedding trip through Ohio. Since their return they are residing at 330 Cumberland Street.

JUST MARRIED—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Herbert Anderson are shown leaving First Presbyterian Church, Piedmont, following their marriage August 26 at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. Robert M. Campbell officiating. The bride is the former Miss Sarah Lee McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCoy, Westernport. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Anderson, Baltimore.

TNT Club Plans Party

Members of the TNT Club formulated plans for a theater party and a package sale at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Adams, Massachusetts Avenue. The theater party will be held September 13. The sale is to be held at the October meeting, which is being held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Bloss, Route 4.

The birthday of Mrs. Adams and the wedding anniversaries of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Dorothy Daychek were celebrated and each presented with gifts.

A low green bowl of gladioli centered the refreshment table and a large bouquet of gladioli was won by Mrs. Esther Bell. Other members present were Mrs. Gladys Fisher, Mrs. Phyllis Fradiska and Mrs. Bloss.

Mary Eileen Carey To Be Bride Of Cpl. T. E. Carroll

Wedding To Be Performed Today

Miss Mary Eileen Carey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Carey, 14 Race Street, will become the bride of Cpl. Thomas E. Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon K. Carroll, 703 Montgomery Avenue, today.

The wedding ceremony is being solemnized at 10 a. m., at a nuptial mass in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan officiating. Bouquets of white gladioli, ferns and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decorations of the altars.

Miss Helene Smith is to be the maid of honor and Miss Patricia Carney, Miss Patricia O'Donnell and Miss Vilma Grassi, bridesmaids. Bruce White is serving as Cpl. Carroll's best man while John Clark, Richard Schultz, city, and William Lucas, Laurel, are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music will be played by Miss Regina Britt preceding the ceremony. She also will accompany the St. Mary's High School Choir singing, the "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus, "O Lord I Am not Worthy," and "Mother at Your Feet I'm Kneeling," and play the traditional wedding marches

Because of the illness of her father, the bride is being given in marriage by her brother, Robert Carey. She is wearing a Chantilly lace, over satin, waltz length, gown. It is fashioned with a nylon net yoke, long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, fastened with lace covered buttons, and a very full skirt. Her nylon net veil is held by a Chantilly lace Juliette cap trimmed with strips of white satin and clusters of pearls at each side. Her only ornament is a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She is carrying a bouquet of calla lillies, which after the ceremony she will place on the Blessed Mother's altar. Leaving the church she will carry a prayer book with white orchid marker.

Her attendants are wearing gowns made with a bodice and cape of velvet with very full skirts of nylon net over maliene. With them they have matching net and maliene hats and mitts and slippers the same color as their gowns. All have old fashioned bouquets of mixed flowers. Miss Smith's gown is orchid; Miss O'Donnell, wood rose; Miss Carney, green; and Miss Grassi, light rose.

Mrs. Carey has chosen a brown faille trimmed in brown velvet for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing brown velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Carroll also is wearing a brown costume, with a chartreuse colored hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's High School, class of 1948. She is president of the St. Mary's Alumni and a member of Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. She is employed as laboratory technician to Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson.

Cpl. Carroll is a graduate of LaSalle High School and attended LaSalle College, Philadelphia. He is serving with the Marines, stationed at Montford Point, Camp Lejeune, N. C. Before entering the service he was employed by the Cumberland Engraving Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey are entertaining with a wedding reception, honoring their daughter and her bridal party, at their home following the ceremony. White flowers are being used throughout the house, carrying out the bridal motif. A four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom adorns the refreshment table, which is decorated with garlands of smilax. Miss Deloris Eirich is in charge of the cake and Miss Theresa Malachowski will preside at the punch bowl.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride has chosen a gray suit trimmed with black velvet. With it she is wearing black velvet accessories and a white orchid corsage.

James B. Martin, Cash Valley Road, is a surgical patient in Allegany Hospital.

Mrs. Gerald L. Barb, LaVale, is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Republican Women Plan Activities

The Women's Republican Club of Cumberland heard an explanation of permanent registration and began its fall activities at the dinner meeting, Thursday evening in the social hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher, serving as toastmaster, reminisced on the date being the 10th anniversary of the organizing of the club. She said there were five members at the first meeting, held in the law office of the late Philip Roman. The club now has grown to 285 members.

Five new members were received at the meeting. They are Mrs. Robert Apsey, Mrs. Edith Bittinger, Miss Bessie Baird, Mrs. William Meagher and Mrs. Charles S. Cunningham.

The report of the treasury to May was given by Mrs. Jennie Sills, retiring treasurer. Mrs. Joseph Boden gave the report for the past two months. Mrs. J. Albert Nichols read the secretary's report and Mrs. Thomas Jones, the Sick committee report.

Mrs. George Barncord presided and introduced her new officers. They are Mrs. Brooks Starcher, Miss Flaville Percy, first and second vice presidents; Mrs. Fred Driscoll, recording secretary; Mrs. William Niland, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Boden, treasurer. Mrs. Barncord also stressed that now is the time to start working for 1952. She announced a special meeting to be held during the week of September 17 at the Girl Scout house, to organize precinct workers to get out the vote. It was decided to still have meetings the first Thursday of each month, but because of the size of the membership to have future meetings at Ali Ghan City Club, South Centre Street, beginning October 4.

An educational program was program was presented by Mrs. Starcher and Mrs. Lucille Roeder. The difference between the words Republic and Democracy was explained.

Mr. Robb, attorney to the Board of Election Supervisors, was guest speaker. He explained permanent registration and said it should be called continuious instead of permanent, pointing out that the law requires the health officer every six months, to give a list of all deaths in the county over 21 years of age, to the board. During the question and answer period following the address, it was shown that everyone does not have to register; and that to change precincts a voter may go or write for a transfer.

The musical program consisted of vocal selections by Mrs. Wilbert Brinkman. They were "Come to the Fair," and "Hills of Home." She was accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Shirley. Approximately 100 members attended.

To Address Association

The first Fall meeting of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church is being held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the lecture hall, with Rev. J. Christy Wilson, D.D., as guest speaker.

Dr. Wilson, who has been for 20 an evangelist among the Moslems in Iran, is now a member of the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary. He also keeps in constant touch with Iran. His topic for the evening is, "Christ in the Middle East." Dr. Wilson is dividing his address into three parts, the Moslem world, Jesus on Persian pathways, and Afghanastan the last frontier.

Devotionals and music will be by the Westminster Fellowship group, under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Stitely.

Mrs. Lester R. Martin will preside at the business session and invites all members of the church to attend the meeting.

The Tennent-Livasay Circle will act as hostess for the evening.

Pauline Giovinali To Become Bride Of William Earl Nield

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Pauline Angela Giovinali, daughter of Mrs. Philip Giavinali, 6 Knobley Street, Ridgeley, will become the bride of William Earl Nield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas J. Nield, Bowen Street, city, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Powell, Route 2, Frostburg, with whom he resides, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2:30 p. m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, with Rev. Robert Kilgannon officiating. Palms and standards of white gladioli are being used in the decorations. Sister Aquinette, from St. Patrick's, will play a program of nuptial music, including the "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "Agnus Dei Bezet," and the processional from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

Members of the bridal party are Miss Mary Giovinali, maid of honor; Miss Julia Giovinali, Miss Deloris Nield, Miss Elva Mae Powelson, Miss Mary Margaret Fleming, Jersey City, N. J., bridesmaids; Linda Nield, flower girl. James Blankinship is serving as Mr. Nield's best man and the ushers are Chris Lockard, Eugene Cramps, Ronald Burgess and James Flanagan.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by Lawrence Juliano, intimate friend of the family, will be attired in a white satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, with V neckline, and deep yoke of satin and marquisette inset, long tapering sleeves, full skirt and peplum forming the long train. Her fingertip length veil of illusion is held by a lace Juliette cap, edged in satin and trimmed with pearls. She is carrying a bouquet of white asters and pompons with an orchid center and satin streamers.

All of her attendants' gowns are made of taffeta with fitted bodice, deep yoke and full skirt with peplum forming a short train. With them they have matching bolero jackets, and a crown of woven taffeta. The maid of honor's gown is of lavander and she is carrying a bouquet of yellow ponpoms with matching streamers. Miss Julia Giovinali's gown is blue; Miss Nield's yellow; Miss Powelson's green and Miss Fleming's pink. They all have old fashioned bouquets of assorted flowers. The little flower girl's frock is white taffeta made with a round neckline edged with a ruffle, and full floor length skirt. She is wearing a fingertip length veil held by a wreath of white flowers and will carry a basket of red rosepetals, tied with rainbow colored streamers.

Mrs. Giovinali has chosen a steel gray dress with green accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Nield is wearing a Navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and Mrs. Powell, a brown suit with green accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Ridgeley High School, where she was a member of the Future Homemakers and president of the Tri-Hi-Y. She was active in sports and chose Miss Ridgeley High I. Until her recent resignation she was employed by the Christopher Photo Lab.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ridgeley High School, a veteran of two years in the Marines and was employed by the Farmer's Feed and Supply Company. He attended GI Agricultural School at Fort Hill and has accepted a position with James and Laughlin Steele Company, Pittsburgh.

The wedding reception is being held at the LaVale fire hall following the ceremony. The bridal motif is being carried out in the tiered wedding cake with miniature bride and bridegroom and edged with red rosebuds and ferns. Candelabra of white tapers are at either end.

For their wedfding trip to Florida the bride has chosen a yellow tweed suit with brown accessories and her orchid corsage. Upon their return Mr. Nield and his bride will reside in Pittsburgh.

Miss Dorsey Is Bride Of W. H. Lohr

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Dorsey, 232 William Street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Sue Dorsey, to William Henry Lohr, 408 Decatur Street, son of Mrs. John P. Lohr, Bedford, Pa.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized August 27 a 12:30 p. m. in Kingsley Methodist Church with Rev. M. A. Keesecker officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey were the attendants.

The bride was attired in a light wool suit fashioned with a pink and orchid check blouse and orchid skirt. With it she wore a black bonnet shaped hat and black accessories. A white orchid corsage completed her costume.

Mrs. Dorsey chose a black costume for her daughter's wedding. She also had an orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1949, where she was a member of the Choral Club. She is employed by the Times and Alleganian Company.

The bridegroom attended Bedford High School, served three and one half years in the Army and is employed by the Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lohr left for a wedding trip through Ohio. Since their return they are residing at 330 Cumberland Street.

JUST MARRIED—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Herbert Anderson are shown leaving First Presbyterian Church, Piedmont, following their marriage August 26 at 2:30 p. m., with Rev. Robert M. Campbell officiating. The bride is the former Miss Sarah Lee McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McCoy, Westernport. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Anderson, Baltimore.

TNT Club Plans Party

Members of the TNT Club formulated plans for a theater party and a package sale at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Adams, Massachusetts Avenue. The theater party will be held September 13. The sale is to be held at the October meeting, which is being held at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Bloss, Route 4.

The birthday of Mrs. Adams and the wedding anniversaries of Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Dorothy Daychek were celebrated and each presented with gifts.

A low green bowl of gladioli centered the refreshment table and a large bouquet of gladioli was won by Mrs. Esther Bell. Other members present were Mrs. Gladys Fisher, Mrs. Phyllis Fradiska and Mrs. Bloss.

Mary Eileen Carey To Be Bride Of Cpl. T. E. Carroll

Wedding To Be Performed Today

Miss Mary Eileen Carey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Carey, 14 Race Street, will become the bride of Cpl. Thomas E. Carroll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon K. Carroll, 703 Montgomery Avenue, today.

The wedding ceremony is being solemnized at 10 a. m., at a nuptial mass in St. Mary's Catholic Church, with Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan officiating. Bouquets of white gladioli, ferns and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decorations of the altars.

Miss Helene Smith is to be the maid of honor and Miss Patricia Carney, Miss Patricia O'Donnell and Miss Vilma Grassi, bridesmaids. Bruce White is serving as Cpl. Carroll's best man while John Clark, Richard Schultz, city, and William Lucas, Laurel, are the ushers.

A program of nuptial music will be played by Miss Regina Britt preceding the ceremony. She also will accompany the St. Mary's High School Choir singing, the "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus, "O Lord I Am not Worthy," and "Mother at Your Feet I'm Kneeling," and play the traditional wedding marches

Because of the illness of her father, the bride is being given in marriage by her brother, Robert Carey. She is wearing a Chantilly lace, over satin, waltz length, gown. It is fashioned with a nylon net yoke, long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, fastened with lace covered buttons, and a very full skirt. Her nylon net veil is held by a Chantilly lace Juliette cap trimmed with strips of white satin and clusters of pearls at each side. Her only ornament is a string of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She is carrying a bouquet of calla lillies, which after the ceremony she will place on the Blessed Mother's altar. Leaving the church she will carry a prayer book with white orchid marker.

Her attendants are wearing gowns made with a bodice and cape of velvet with very full skirts of nylon net over maliene. With them they have matching net and maliene hats and mitts and slippers the same color as their gowns. All have old fashioned bouquets of mixed flowers. Miss Smith's gown is orchid; Miss O'Donnell, wood rose; Miss Carney, green; and Miss Grassi, light rose.

Mrs. Carey has chosen a brown faille trimmed in brown velvet for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing brown velvet accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mrs. Carroll also is wearing a brown costume, with a chartreuse colored hat and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of St. Mary's High School, class of 1948. She is president of the St. Mary's Alumni and a member of Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. She is employed as laboratory technician to Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson.

Cpl. Carroll is a graduate of LaSalle High School and attended LaSalle College, Philadelphia. He is serving with the Marines, stationed at Montford Point, Camp Lejeune, N. C. Before entering the service he was employed by the Cumberland Engraving Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Carey are entertaining with a wedding reception, honoring their daughter and her bridal party, at their home following the ceremony. White flowers are being used throughout the house, carrying out the bridal motif. A four tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom adorns the refreshment table, which is decorated with garlands of smilax. Miss Deloris Eirich is in charge of the cake and Miss Theresa Malachowski will preside at the punch bowl.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada, the bride has chosen a gray suit trimmed with black velvet. With it she is wearing black velvet accessories and a white orchid corsage.

James B. Martin, Cash Valley Road, is a surgical patient in Allegany Hospital.

Mrs. Gerald L. Barb, LaVale, is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital.

Republican Women Plan Activities

The Women's Republican Club of Cumberland heard an explanation of permanent registration and began its fall activities at the dinner meeting, Thursday evening in the social hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Mrs. Paul M. Fletcher, serving as toastmaster, reminisced on the date being the 10th anniversary of the organizing of the club. She said there were five members at the first meeting, held in the law office of the late Philip Roman. The club now has grown to 285 members.

Five new members were received at the meeting. They are Mrs. Robert Apsey, Mrs. Edith Bittinger, Miss Bessie Baird, Mrs. William Meagher and Mrs. Charles S. Cunningham.

The report of the treasury to May was given by Mrs. Jennie Sills, retiring treasurer. Mrs. Joseph Boden gave the report for the past two months. Mrs. J. Albert Nichols read the secretary's report and Mrs. Thomas Jones, the Sick committee report.

Mrs. George Barncord presided and introduced her new officers. They are Mrs. Brooks Starcher, Miss Flaville Percy, first and second vice presidents; Mrs. Fred Driscoll, recording secretary; Mrs. William Niland, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Boden, treasurer. Mrs. Barncord also stressed that now is the time to start working for 1952. She announced a special meeting to be held during the week of September 17 at the Girl Scout house, to organize precinct workers to get out the vote. It was decided to still have meetings the first Thursday of each month, but because of the size of the membership to have future meetings at Ali Ghan City Club, South Centre Street, beginning October 4.

An educational program was program was presented by Mrs. Starcher and Mrs. Lucille Roeder. The difference between the words Republic and Democracy was explained.

Mr. Robb, attorney to the Board of Election Supervisors, was guest speaker. He explained permanent registration and said it should be called continuious instead of permanent, pointing out that the law requires the health officer every six months, to give a list of all deaths in the county over 21 years of age, to the board. During the question and answer period following the address, it was shown that everyone does not have to register; and that to change precincts a voter may go or write for a transfer.

The musical program consisted of vocal selections by Mrs. Wilbert Brinkman. They were "Come to the Fair," and "Hills of Home." She was accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Shirley. Approximately 100 members attended.

To Address Association

The first Fall meeting of the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church is being held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the lecture hall, with Rev. J. Christy Wilson, D.D., as guest speaker.

Dr. Wilson, who has been for 20 an evangelist among the Moslems in Iran, is now a member of the faculty of Princeton Theological Seminary. He also keeps in constant touch with Iran. His topic for the evening is, "Christ in the Middle East." Dr. Wilson is dividing his address into three parts, the Moslem world, Jesus on Persian pathways, and Afghanastan the last frontier.

Devotionals and music will be by the Westminster Fellowship group, under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Stitely.

Mrs. Lester R. Martin will preside at the business session and invites all members of the church to attend the meeting.

The Tennent-Livasay Circle will act as hostess for the evening.

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Pauline Angela Giovinali, daughter of Mrs. Philip Giavinali, 6 Knobley Street, Ridgeley, will become the bride of William Earl Nield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Silas J. Nield, Bowen Street, city, and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Earl F. Powell, Route 2, Frostburg, with whom he resides, today.

The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2:30 p. m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Church, Ridgeley, with Rev. Robert Kilgannon officiating. Palms and standards of white gladioli are being used in the decorations. Sister Aquinette, from St. Patrick's, will play a program of nuptial music, including the "Ave Maria," "Panis Angelicus," "Agnus Dei Bezet," and the processional from the opera Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's recessional.

Members of the bridal party are Miss Mary Giovinali, maid of honor; Miss Julia Giovinali, Miss Deloris Nield, Miss Elva Mae Powelson, Miss Mary Margaret Fleming, Jersey City, N. J., bridesmaids; Linda Nield, flower girl. James Blankinship is serving as Mr. Nield's best man and the ushers are Chris Lockard, Eugene Cramps, Ronald Burgess and James Flanagan.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by Lawrence Juliano, intimate friend of the family, will be attired in a white satin gown, fashioned with a fitted bodice, with V neckline, and deep yoke of satin and marquisette inset, long tapering sleeves, full skirt and peplum forming the long train. Her fingertip length veil of illusion is held by a lace Juliette cap, edged in satin and trimmed with pearls. She is carrying a bouquet of white asters and pompons with an orchid center and satin streamers.

All of her attendants' gowns are made of taffeta with fitted bodice, deep yoke and full skirt with peplum forming a short train. With them they have matching bolero jackets, and a crown of woven taffeta. The maid of honor's gown is of lavander and she is carrying a bouquet of yellow ponpoms with matching streamers. Miss Julia Giovinali's gown is blue; Miss Nield's yellow; Miss Powelson's green and Miss Fleming's pink. They all have old fashioned bouquets of assorted flowers. The little flower girl's frock is white taffeta made with a round neckline edged with a ruffle, and full floor length skirt. She is wearing a fingertip length veil held by a wreath of white flowers and will carry a basket of red rosepetals, tied with rainbow colored streamers.

Mrs. Giovinali has chosen a steel gray dress with green accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Nield is wearing a Navy blue dress with matching accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and Mrs. Powell, a brown suit with green accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Ridgeley High School, where she was a member of the Future Homemakers and president of the Tri-Hi-Y. She was active in sports and chose Miss Ridgeley High I. Until her recent resignation she was employed by the Christopher Photo Lab.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ridgeley High School, a veteran of two years in the Marines and was employed by the Farmer's Feed and Supply Company. He attended GI Agricultural School at Fort Hill and has accepted a position with James and Laughlin Steele Company, Pittsburgh.

The wedding reception is being held at the LaVale fire hall following the ceremony. The bridal motif is being carried out in the tiered wedding cake with miniature bride and bridegroom and edged with red rosebuds and ferns. Candelabra of white tapers are at either end.

For their wedfding trip to Florida the bride has chosen a yellow tweed suit with brown accessories and her orchid corsage. Upon their return Mr. Nield and his bride will reside in Pittsburgh.

Area Waitress Death Caused By Blood Clot

Blow On Left Temple Remains Mystery

The death of Harriett Spriggs, 38-year-old Front Street waitress who was found dead in a Ridgeley apartment last Friday night was due to a blood clot on the brain, according to a Mineral County coroner's jury.

Coroner C. A. Jewell, of Ridgeley, said the jury's verdict also stated that the blood clot was induced by a blow on the left temple. The cause of the blow was listed as unknown.

Information on the investigation was presented by Cpl. O. G. Webley and Trooper W. F. Bowley, of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police.

They reported they had concluded their probe. Their investigation revealed Mrs. Spriggs had informed a Cumberland waitress one day last week she had fallen and hurt her head and leg.

Coroner Jewell stated the autopsy revealed a bruise on her left temple, and an abrasion on her left leg, indicating the wound could have been sustained in a fall.

Mrs. Spriggs was found dead in a Ridgeley boarding house by John Howsare, who had accompanied her to the Mertens Street residence from Cumberland.

Coroner Jewell said that evidence showed that Mrs. Spriggs had been complaining of being ill before she came to Ridgeley the night before her death.

The state police also stated that they had learned that she had been vomiting 24 to 36 hours before her death.

The autopsy report said that the blow that resulted in the fatal blood clot could have been received from one day to a week before her death.

Aerial Check Of Oak Wilt Planned In Area Tomorrow

Spotters in low flying airplanes are going to check Garrett and Allegany counties for oak wilt disease —if it's a nice day tomorrow.

Twenty Civil Air Patrol planes will take off from Cumberland's airport carrying experts from the State Department of Forests and Parks, the State Department of Research and Education, and the University of Maryland.

Each plane will cover a rectangular area, with the spotters marking dead or dying oak trees on large scale maps.

Ground crews later will go to these suspected trees for a further check. Wood samples will be sent to the university for scientific study by plant pathologists.

Oak wilt already has been found in trees on Savage Mountain in Garrett county. Its presence also has been determined in nearby areas of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The aerial survey must be done tomorrow because the Civil Air Patrol fliers are tied up at their regular work on other days of the week.

If the weather isn't satisfactory tomorrow, there will be another attempt on September 16. The study must be made before the leaves start to turn if it is to be effective.

All-American Airways Report Shows Profit

"All-American Airways is able to show a marked change in its financial condition, including a small profit for the year," President Robert M. Love announced to stockholders in the airline's annual report for 1951.

The report's balance sheet showed All-American made a profit of $4,660 for the past fiscal year. This compared with a loss of almost $400,000 for the previous fiscal year.

Love expressed an optimistic note for the company's future by stating, "We realize that economically we still face problems which will require solution, but the development of a potential sufficient to support an air transport operation of this sort is now behind us."

He accounted for All-American's first annual profit principally on the basis of the phenomenal traffic increases the company has enjoyed during the past 12 months. All-American's monthly average for the past fiscal year has been over 15,000 passengers per month, with the June totals marking a new company high of more than 22,000 air travelers. Love compared these statistics with those of 1950's annual report which showed the company had carried more than 10,000 passengers per month only in the three summer months.

Truck Driver Hurt In Wreck

A Charlotte, N. C., trucker was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, Thursday evening after his tractor-trailer wrecked on Route 50 near Gorman.

John Gurley, who suffered lacerations was released at noon yesterday.

A truck owned by the C. D. Kenney Company of here and driven by a Cumberland man was involved in an accident on Route 51 on Allegheny Front Thursday.

The Kenney truck operated by W. Marshall Spencer, 42, of here, was hit by a pickup truck driven by N. D. Waugh, 67, of Moatesville, W. Va.

Harvey Coffman, 72, also of Moatesville, a passenger in the Waugh vehicle, was thrown against the windshield and suffered multiple lacerations of his face and neck. He is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va.

Both vehicles were badly damaged, state police reported. Waugh was charged with a violation of the state motor vehicle laws.

City Hall Floors To Be Refinished Next Week

Work will begin, probably next Wednesday, to complete the renovation of the City Hall Auditorium, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

Since cost of the work was anticipated under $5,000, informal bids were received from local painters, with the lowest being that filed by Raymond J. Messmer.

Mrs. Roeder said seats will be removed from the auditorium while the floor is being refinished. Similar work will be done in the office of the Recreation Department and the recreation storage room.

The work will take approximately a week to complete and the auditorium will not be available for use during that time. Mrs. Roeder said the city is seeking help from its "musical friends" to refinish the piano case and secure a protective cover.

In the near future, the walls in the rotunda of the City Hall will be painted, with the top of the columns to be bronzed and then shellacked to assure a more lasting job.

Mrs. Roeder said it is also hoped to clean the historic murals at the top of the rotunda. The murals were painted more than a quarter-century ago by the DuBraus, local artists.

Area Waitress Death Caused By Blood Clot

Blow On Left Temple Remains Mystery

The death of Harriett Spriggs, 38-year-old Front Street waitress who was found dead in a Ridgeley apartment last Friday night was due to a blood clot on the brain, according to a Mineral County coroner's jury.

Coroner C. A. Jewell, of Ridgeley, said the jury's verdict also stated that the blood clot was induced by a blow on the left temple. The cause of the blow was listed as unknown.

Information on the investigation was presented by Cpl. O. G. Webley and Trooper W. F. Bowley, of the Keyser detachment of the West Virginia State Police.

They reported they had concluded their probe. Their investigation revealed Mrs. Spriggs had informed a Cumberland waitress one day last week she had fallen and hurt her head and leg.

Coroner Jewell stated the autopsy revealed a bruise on her left temple, and an abrasion on her left leg, indicating the wound could have been sustained in a fall.

Mrs. Spriggs was found dead in a Ridgeley boarding house by John Howsare, who had accompanied her to the Mertens Street residence from Cumberland.

Coroner Jewell said that evidence showed that Mrs. Spriggs had been complaining of being ill before she came to Ridgeley the night before her death.

The state police also stated that they had learned that she had been vomiting 24 to 36 hours before her death.

The autopsy report said that the blow that resulted in the fatal blood clot could have been received from one day to a week before her death.

Aerial Check Of Oak Wilt Planned In Area Tomorrow

Spotters in low flying airplanes are going to check Garrett and Allegany counties for oak wilt disease —if it's a nice day tomorrow.

Twenty Civil Air Patrol planes will take off from Cumberland's airport carrying experts from the State Department of Forests and Parks, the State Department of Research and Education, and the University of Maryland.

Each plane will cover a rectangular area, with the spotters marking dead or dying oak trees on large scale maps.

Ground crews later will go to these suspected trees for a further check. Wood samples will be sent to the university for scientific study by plant pathologists.

Oak wilt already has been found in trees on Savage Mountain in Garrett county. Its presence also has been determined in nearby areas of Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

The aerial survey must be done tomorrow because the Civil Air Patrol fliers are tied up at their regular work on other days of the week.

If the weather isn't satisfactory tomorrow, there will be another attempt on September 16. The study must be made before the leaves start to turn if it is to be effective.

All-American Airways Report Shows Profit

"All-American Airways is able to show a marked change in its financial condition, including a small profit for the year," President Robert M. Love announced to stockholders in the airline's annual report for 1951.

The report's balance sheet showed All-American made a profit of $4,660 for the past fiscal year. This compared with a loss of almost $400,000 for the previous fiscal year.

Love expressed an optimistic note for the company's future by stating, "We realize that economically we still face problems which will require solution, but the development of a potential sufficient to support an air transport operation of this sort is now behind us."

He accounted for All-American's first annual profit principally on the basis of the phenomenal traffic increases the company has enjoyed during the past 12 months. All-American's monthly average for the past fiscal year has been over 15,000 passengers per month, with the June totals marking a new company high of more than 22,000 air travelers. Love compared these statistics with those of 1950's annual report which showed the company had carried more than 10,000 passengers per month only in the three summer months.

Truck Driver Hurt In Wreck

A Charlotte, N. C., trucker was admitted to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, Thursday evening after his tractor-trailer wrecked on Route 50 near Gorman.

John Gurley, who suffered lacerations was released at noon yesterday.

A truck owned by the C. D. Kenney Company of here and driven by a Cumberland man was involved in an accident on Route 51 on Allegheny Front Thursday.

The Kenney truck operated by W. Marshall Spencer, 42, of here, was hit by a pickup truck driven by N. D. Waugh, 67, of Moatesville, W. Va.

Harvey Coffman, 72, also of Moatesville, a passenger in the Waugh vehicle, was thrown against the windshield and suffered multiple lacerations of his face and neck. He is a patient in Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, W. Va.

Both vehicles were badly damaged, state police reported. Waugh was charged with a violation of the state motor vehicle laws.

City Hall Floors To Be Refinished Next Week

Work will begin, probably next Wednesday, to complete the renovation of the City Hall Auditorium, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property.

Since cost of the work was anticipated under $5,000, informal bids were received from local painters, with the lowest being that filed by Raymond J. Messmer.

Mrs. Roeder said seats will be removed from the auditorium while the floor is being refinished. Similar work will be done in the office of the Recreation Department and the recreation storage room.

The work will take approximately a week to complete and the auditorium will not be available for use during that time. Mrs. Roeder said the city is seeking help from its "musical friends" to refinish the piano case and secure a protective cover.

In the near future, the walls in the rotunda of the City Hall will be painted, with the top of the columns to be bronzed and then shellacked to assure a more lasting job.

Mrs. Roeder said it is also hoped to clean the historic murals at the top of the rotunda. The murals were painted more than a quarter-century ago by the DuBraus, local artists.

Shall I force my child to go to Sunday School and Church?

Yes, definitely!

Startled? Why? How do you answer Lucy when she comes to the breakfast table and announces, "I'm not going to school today!" You know, Lucy goes.

How do you answer when Lucy comes in besmudged with dirt and says, "I'm not going to take a bath!" You know, Lucy bathes.

How do you answer when Lucy, threatened with illness, says, "I'm not going to take that medicine!" You know, she takes it.

Why all this timidity, then, in the realm of spiritual guidance and moral training? Going to wait and let her decide what Church she'll go to when she's old enough? Don't fool yourself. By that time she'll probably believe that a decision neglected by her parents during her first twenty years might not be necessary at all. You didn't wait until she was "old enough" to decide she should go to school.

Afraid she'll later succumb to the old story about " . . . . too much religion when I was young . . . . parents made me go?" This tale is obviously false. Just because she takes a bath tonight doesn't mean she'll discontinue them at the age of twenty-one.

What shall I say to Lucy when she announces she doesn't like Sunday School and Church. That's easy. Be consistent.

By firmness and example you can show her that church-going is a necessity. And in later years, she will thank you for bringing into her life the greatest values a mature person can possess—Christian habits and ideals.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Shall I force my child to go to Sunday School and Church?

Yes, definitely!

Startled? Why? How do you answer Lucy when she comes to the breakfast table and announces, "I'm not going to school today!" You know, Lucy goes.

How do you answer when Lucy comes in besmudged with dirt and says, "I'm not going to take a bath!" You know, Lucy bathes.

How do you answer when Lucy, threatened with illness, says, "I'm not going to take that medicine!" You know, she takes it.

Why all this timidity, then, in the realm of spiritual guidance and moral training? Going to wait and let her decide what Church she'll go to when she's old enough? Don't fool yourself. By that time she'll probably believe that a decision neglected by her parents during her first twenty years might not be necessary at all. You didn't wait until she was "old enough" to decide she should go to school.

Afraid she'll later succumb to the old story about " . . . . too much religion when I was young . . . . parents made me go?" This tale is obviously false. Just because she takes a bath tonight doesn't mean she'll discontinue them at the age of twenty-one.

What shall I say to Lucy when she announces she doesn't like Sunday School and Church. That's easy. Be consistent.

By firmness and example you can show her that church-going is a necessity. And in later years, she will thank you for bringing into her life the greatest values a mature person can possess—Christian habits and ideals.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Fort Hill Defeats Moorefield In Football Opener, 20 To 7

Mize, DiMaggio Hit In Clutch, Yanks Win, 4-2

Timely Two-Baggers In 9th Defeat Nats

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees' great clutch-hitting veterans—Johnny Mize and Joe DiMaggio — each delivered a two-out double in the ninth inning today as the world champions, facing a costly defeat, rallied for three runs to nip the Washington Senators, 4 to 2.

Mize, acting as a pinchhitter, tied the score at 2-2 with a double to right. Then DiMaggio sent the winning runs across the plate with a ground-rule double to right.

Sid Hudson Is Victim

It was a tough setback for Sid Hudson, Washington's tall right-hander. Going into the ninth, he had given up eight hits but was magnificent in the pinches, holding the Yankees to only one run.

Washington picked up two runs in the third inning on Eddie Yost's home run and an error by Yankee third baseman Bobby Brown. Hudson made this slim advantage hold up until the fatal ninth.

Joe Collins opened the ninth for the Yankees by hitting a 3-2 pitch to centerfield for a single.

Gerry Coleman batted for Allie Reynolds, who was credited with his 14th triumph, and moved Collins to second with a bunt.

With the tying run at second, Hudson bore down and struck out the celebrated Mickey Mantle, swinging.

But Hudson never got the third out.

Mize Ties Up Game

Mize batted for Phil Rizzuto and, with some 10,827 fans cheering him on, tied up the game with a double to right.

Gene Woodling beat out a hit to deep short and Billy Martin, running for Mize, took third.

With DiMaggio up, Hudson took a full windup and Woodling raced to second without drawing a throw. The Senators were banking everything on getting the Yankee clipper.

But DiMaggio fooled them. With the Washington defense pulled around to left, DiMaggio dropped a hit to right. The ball bounced into the right field stands for a ground-rule double, and Martin and Woodling both raced home, although all the New Yorkers needed was Martin's run.

There was some confusion whether one or two runs scored on DiMaggio's hit. Although Martin's run actually won the game, Woodling also touched home.

Both Runs Count

Umpire Charley Berry, who worked behind the bat, ruled that Woodling's run was permitted to count in the official box score and that made the final count 4-2.

"It's the same as if he had hit a homer into the seats," Berry said. "As long as DiMaggio went to second and Woodling advanced two bases to the plate, the extra run must count." Box:

Rule Book Makes Score 3-2, Scorer Says It Is 4-2

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators today but the final score is still in doubt. The official scorer ruled the Yankees won 4-2. The rule book, however, says it should be 3-2.

The victory moved the Yankees to within a half game of the league leading Cleveland Indians, who played a twi-night doubleheader in St. Louis.

Confusion over the final score resulted from a game-winning hit by Joe DiMaggio with two out in the ninth inning.

This is what happened:

With the score tied at 2-2 and Yankee runners on second and third, DiMaggio dropped a safety to right. The ball bounced into the right field stands. Under ordinary circumstances, the hit would have been credited a ground rule double and both runners automatically would have scored.

However, Article 10, Section five, Paragraph D, of the official scoring rules reads:

"When a batter ends a game with a safe hit, other than a home run, which drives in as many runs as are necessary to put his team in the lead, he shall be credited with only as many bases on his hits as are advanced by the runner who scores the winning x x x."

As the runner from third represented the winning run, according to the rules, DiMaggio should have been credited with a single ground rules notwithstanding.

That was the original ruling, but the official scorer later reversed himself and gave DiMag a double, declaring both runs counted.

Jansen Posts 18th Victory

New York Giants Trim Boston, 7-3

BOSTON, Sept. 7 (AP) — Bobby Thomson slammed a triple, double and three singles out of five batting tries while aiding righthander Larry Jansen gain his 18th pitching win for the New York Giants today with a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves.

While sweeping their three-game series with the Tribesmen, the second-place Giants clicked off their 23rd win in their last 26 starts. For Jansen, sidelined for eight days with an ailing back, it was his fifth straight win against the Braves.

The Giants, still trailing the Brooklyn Dodgers by five and a half games, pounded three Boston pitchers for 15 hits, including Monte Irvin's 19th homer in the ninth inning. The latter drove in three of the New York tallies to boost his season's RBI total to 101. Box:

Keyser Beaten In Morgantown

Mineral Countians Drop Opener, 13-0

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 7—Morgantown High School opened its football campaign tonight with a 13 to 0 victory over Keyser High School.

Maust registered Morgantown's initial td in the first period when he skirted left end for the last 19 yards. Tom Zinn scored the final six-pointer on a wide end run in the fourth period and Simons placekicked the extra point.

It was also the opening game of the season for the Mineral County eleven.

Keyser penetrated deep into Morgantown territory late in the game, fumbled on the 17-yard stripe, recovered then finally lost the ball on downs.

Charles Town will be Keyser's opening home opponent next Friday.

College Regatta Site Is Changed To Syracuse, N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The famous rowing race once known as the Poughkeepsie Regatta, after two unfortunate attempts on the flooded Ohio river at Marietta, O., was shifted today to Lake Onondaga at Syracuse, N. Y., for 1952.

The decision was taken today by the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association after considering proposals from Poughkeepsie, Seattle, and Marietta as well as Syracuse.

"The stewards declared that equitable water conditions for all crews was the determining factor in choosing Lake Onondaga," said the announcement.

Next year's race will be the 50th annual contest in this classic of rowing. No date was set, but June 14 and 21 were both considered, and it may be that eventually a day in between may be decided on. Examinations at the competing colleges as well as the Olympic tryouts are factors in selecting a date.

Ellerslie Evens Playoff Series

Defeats LaVale, 6-5, Finale Set Tuesday

Ellerslie rallied for four run in the 7th inning to defeat LaVale yesterday by the score of 6-5 and squared up its County Softball League playoff series, each team having won one game.

Ellerslie won the toss and will play host to LaVale in the deciding game at Ellerslie on Tuesday.

It was a 2-2 ball game until the top of the 7th when Manager Walter Basilio of LaVale rapped a three-run homer. Two walks, a single, and error and Roy LaRue's double, however, netted Ellerslie a one-run decision in the final half of the final stanza.

LaRue banged a double and single for Ellerslie while Basilio homered and tripled for the losers. The LaVale pilot was cut down at the plate when he tried to stretch his triple into a four-bagger. The score:

The second game of the series is set for Eckhart on Sunday, September 16 at 2:30 p. m.

Umpires for tomorrow's game at Mt. Savage are Jim Mason, Bob Lewis and Roy Deffenbaugh. Bill Andrews, Vic Reynolds and Joe Stuckey will officiate in the September 16 games.

Oakland At Terra Alta

The Mountain Top Baseball League lowers the curtain on its regular campaign tomorrow with Oakland's Amvets and Terra Alta in the feature attraction at 2:30 p. m., EST., on the West Virginians' field.

There'll be no playoff if Terra Alta wins tomorrow's game as a victory for the Preston Countians will give them the second half title. They finished in first place at the close of the first half race.

Oakland and Terra Alta are now tied at 7-1 going into the final day of the campaign. An Oakland victory would give the Garrett countians the second half title and a right to battle it out with Terra Alta in a series of games for the league championship. The circuit's most consistent winners—Bob Fraley of Terra Alta and Bob Glaze of Oakland—are slated to go to the firing line in the season's finale.

U. S. Golf Team Tops Canadians

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 7 (AP) — Young Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., the national amateur champion, led United States Walker Cup forces to a resounding 10-2 victory over Canada today in an informal golf match that may be a prelude to regular golf competition between the two countries.

The 25-year-old stylist fashioned par golf over Saucon Valley's testing 6,979-yard course to defeat the new Canadian champion, Walter McElroy, 2 and 1.

Urzetta also teamed with Harold Paddock of Cleveland to score the most impressive victory in the scotch foursome play, subduing Don Doe and 18-year-old Laurie Roland, 4 and 3.

The invaders' outstanding triumph was forged by McElroy and the man he succeeded as Canadian champion, Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, in the foursomes. They put slippery skids under the highly-rated U. S. pair, Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., one up.

138 Hot Stovers Will See Buccos

A total of 138 managers and players of eight Hot Stove League teams will gather in front of the Times-News building at 8 a. m. today prior to making the trip by bus to Pittsburgh to see the Pirates and Cardinals clash this afternoon at 2:30 at Forbes Field.

Four buses will transport the players to and from Pittsburgh.

Sixty players of the Tri-Towns Little League are also scheduled to witness the game in Pittsburgh today.

Harry F. Vaughan, 68, Former Coach, Dies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP) — Harry F. Vaughan, 68, former head football coach at Ohio State and Fordham universities and an outstanding player at Yale in 1909-11 died last night after a two year illness.

Vaughan, who died at the Newton D. Baker Hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va., was a star end on the undefeated unscored-on 1909 Yale team.

Until 1921, when he entered the real estate business in his native Scranton, Pa., Vaughan remained active in football. He served as end coach at the Naval Academy prior to World War I and also assisted the late Foster Sanford at Rutgers.

Dodgers Put Phillies Out Of Flag Race

Brooklyn Wins, 11-6, Plays Giants Today

BROOKLYN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Andy Pafko, Billy Cox and Carl Furillo loosened a murderous barrage of extra base hits, knocking in 10 runs, as the Brooklyn Dodgers slashed the Philadelphia Phillies, 11 to 6, today to retain their 5½ game lead in the National League.

The defeat eliminated the Phillies, the 1950 champions, from the 1951 pennant race.

While the Dodgers were mauling three Philadelphia hurlers, the runnerup New York Giants were carving out a 7 to 3 victory over the Boston Braves.

So the stage is set for the big two-game series between the Giants and Dodgers over the weekend at Ebbets Field.

Cox, noted for his fielding rather than hitting, knocked in four runs with a double and triple. Pafko hit a three-run homer, while Furillo drove across three runs on two homers.

Three of Philadelphia's runs in the ninth came on Granny Hamner's home run.

It was a bitter defeat, indeed, for the Phillies, for it eliminated the once-proud "whiz kids" from the pennant race.

And to make matters even worse, the two pitchers who led the Phils' pennant drive last year — Robin Roberts and fireman Jim Konstanty —were the victims of Brooklyn's roughest slugging. Box:

Dodgers Defeat Pen-Mar Stars

Fair Wins Game 1-0 By Pilfering Home

Regis Fair tossed a three-hitter and won his own game in the final inning by stealing home as Manager Bill Buzzard's Dodgers, champions of the Cumberland Little League, won the opener of a home-and-home series from the Pen-Mar Little League All-Stars yesterday at Corriganville. The score was 1-0.

In the 6th, Bruce singled and was out at the plate when he attempted to score on Fair's two-base wallop. Fair advanced to second on an infield out and then pilfered home plate to win the game.

Bruce and Fair shared four of the winners' five hits.

It was the 20th victory in 23 starts for the Dodgers this season.

The Dodgers windup their series with the Pen-Mar League Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Stitcher Field. Frostburg will be met on the same field Monday at 6 p. m. Score:

Cartier Scores TKO

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(INS)—Middleweight hopeful Walter Cartier stopped Billy Kilgore of Baltimore, Md., in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-rounder tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Ray Miller, apparently acutely aware of last week's fatal George Flores-Roger Donoghue bout, halted tonight's affair with Kilgore staggering and bleeding from both eyes at 1:41 of the eighth.

The victory enhanced the Greenwich Village battler's status as a middleweight challenger. Cartier weighed 162 to Kilgore's 161¾. A crowd of 3,000 saw the fight.

Games Postponed

Last night's tripleheader program at Penn Avenue Field, headed by the Hot Stove League series finale between B'nai B'rith and the Lions, was postponed on account of the muddy condition of the field.

The Western Maryland Invitational Softball Tournament is set for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Penn Avenue Field.

Hyndman, Phillies To Play Twin Bill

The Phillies, champions of the Dapper Division of the Cumberland Little League, and Hyndman, which finished the first in the Pen-Mar Little League, will clash in a doubleheader Sunday at 2 p. m. at Hyndman.

Hyndman won 17 out of 18 games during the regular campaign in the league while the Phillies were undefeated in 18 contests.

Managers have agreed to use only regular team players in the twin bill.

Bastian Is Winner Over Henry Dempsey

Max Bastian, defending champion, defeated Henry Dempsey, 1 up in 19 holes, in the championship flight of the men's fall golf tournament yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club.

In a fourth flight contest, Frank McCagh defeated Mortimer Schaidt, 1 up, 19 holes.

Beard And Hull Spark Sentinels To 18th In Row

Victors Gain 272 Yards Overland; Bobby Myers Is Yellowjackets' Ace

By JERRY DAVIS

The neatly woven green blanket at the Fort Hill Stadium got its first taste of wear last night, as the 1951 football lid-lifter got under way here. The Sentinels of Bill Hahn ran their win streak up to 18 in a row as they captured their initial trial of the campaign over the Moorefield Yellowjackets, 20-7.

Although they greatly missed the passing arm of last season's field general, Lynn Beightol, as evidenced by their failing to gain through the air, the power-laden "Red and White" raiders piled up a net 272 yards via the ground route.

Beard, Hull Stand Out

It was little pint-sized Dickie Beard, and hard-driving Harold Hull who accounted for most of the Sentinel success on rounding the ends, and hitting the middle. Beard chalked up 146 yards in 12 carries, to average slightly better than 12 yards per try, while team mate, Hull, picked up 97 markers over the turf, and proved to the second twin that resulted in locals victory.

Beard jumped away to a fast start in the city scoring race by accounting for 14 tallies, getting a pair of TD's and booting two out of three extra points. Hull had the other Hilltopper touchdown, while the losers' lone tally was made by Bobby Myers, who was by far the evenings' outstanding star.

Myers Sparks Jackets

Myers really had the visitors cheering section "up in arms" with his brilliant "steam-roller" running. He rolled over the victors' defenses for 99 net yards, and was the main threat of the Sentinels all night.

An eighty yard march goalward resulted in the opening score of the contest. With Hull, and Beard doing the better part of the work, the winners drove deep in Jacket territory early in the opening frame, and after Hull battled to the 12 for a first down, Beard took a toss from "Buck" Cage and hit the end-zone for pay-dirt. He then converted to push Fort Hill out to a 7-0 lead.

The Sentinels never got their full power up again in the first canto, and neither team scored any more in the opening quarter.

Sentinels Lack Steam

Throughout most part of the second stanza, the Yellowjackets retained possession of the leather. The winners never got up enough steam to make any more than 15 yards in the second. They had a chance for only five running plays in that quarter, since the losers held on to the pigskin the rest of the time. The ineffectiveness of the Hahnmen was shown very plainly when towards the latter part of the quarter they lost the ball on downs, and the Jackets had the ball again as the half ended.

In the third frame, the losing eleven received the kickoff, and held on to the ball for a long attack into scoreland, but a strong Sentinel line fought back to cut off the drive inside the 10

Fort Hill Defeats Moorefield In Football Opener, 20 To 7

Mize, DiMaggio Hit In Clutch, Yanks Win, 4-2

Timely Two-Baggers In 9th Defeat Nats

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees' great clutch-hitting veterans—Johnny Mize and Joe DiMaggio — each delivered a two-out double in the ninth inning today as the world champions, facing a costly defeat, rallied for three runs to nip the Washington Senators, 4 to 2.

Mize, acting as a pinchhitter, tied the score at 2-2 with a double to right. Then DiMaggio sent the winning runs across the plate with a ground-rule double to right.

Sid Hudson Is Victim

It was a tough setback for Sid Hudson, Washington's tall right-hander. Going into the ninth, he had given up eight hits but was magnificent in the pinches, holding the Yankees to only one run.

Washington picked up two runs in the third inning on Eddie Yost's home run and an error by Yankee third baseman Bobby Brown. Hudson made this slim advantage hold up until the fatal ninth.

Joe Collins opened the ninth for the Yankees by hitting a 3-2 pitch to centerfield for a single.

Gerry Coleman batted for Allie Reynolds, who was credited with his 14th triumph, and moved Collins to second with a bunt.

With the tying run at second, Hudson bore down and struck out the celebrated Mickey Mantle, swinging.

But Hudson never got the third out.

Mize Ties Up Game

Mize batted for Phil Rizzuto and, with some 10,827 fans cheering him on, tied up the game with a double to right.

Gene Woodling beat out a hit to deep short and Billy Martin, running for Mize, took third.

With DiMaggio up, Hudson took a full windup and Woodling raced to second without drawing a throw. The Senators were banking everything on getting the Yankee clipper.

But DiMaggio fooled them. With the Washington defense pulled around to left, DiMaggio dropped a hit to right. The ball bounced into the right field stands for a ground-rule double, and Martin and Woodling both raced home, although all the New Yorkers needed was Martin's run.

There was some confusion whether one or two runs scored on DiMaggio's hit. Although Martin's run actually won the game, Woodling also touched home.

Both Runs Count

Umpire Charley Berry, who worked behind the bat, ruled that Woodling's run was permitted to count in the official box score and that made the final count 4-2.

"It's the same as if he had hit a homer into the seats," Berry said. "As long as DiMaggio went to second and Woodling advanced two bases to the plate, the extra run must count." Box:

Rule Book Makes Score 3-2, Scorer Says It Is 4-2

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators today but the final score is still in doubt. The official scorer ruled the Yankees won 4-2. The rule book, however, says it should be 3-2.

The victory moved the Yankees to within a half game of the league leading Cleveland Indians, who played a twi-night doubleheader in St. Louis.

Confusion over the final score resulted from a game-winning hit by Joe DiMaggio with two out in the ninth inning.

This is what happened:

With the score tied at 2-2 and Yankee runners on second and third, DiMaggio dropped a safety to right. The ball bounced into the right field stands. Under ordinary circumstances, the hit would have been credited a ground rule double and both runners automatically would have scored.

However, Article 10, Section five, Paragraph D, of the official scoring rules reads:

"When a batter ends a game with a safe hit, other than a home run, which drives in as many runs as are necessary to put his team in the lead, he shall be credited with only as many bases on his hits as are advanced by the runner who scores the winning x x x."

As the runner from third represented the winning run, according to the rules, DiMaggio should have been credited with a single ground rules notwithstanding.

That was the original ruling, but the official scorer later reversed himself and gave DiMag a double, declaring both runs counted.

Jansen Posts 18th Victory

New York Giants Trim Boston, 7-3

BOSTON, Sept. 7 (AP) — Bobby Thomson slammed a triple, double and three singles out of five batting tries while aiding righthander Larry Jansen gain his 18th pitching win for the New York Giants today with a 7-3 decision over the Boston Braves.

While sweeping their three-game series with the Tribesmen, the second-place Giants clicked off their 23rd win in their last 26 starts. For Jansen, sidelined for eight days with an ailing back, it was his fifth straight win against the Braves.

The Giants, still trailing the Brooklyn Dodgers by five and a half games, pounded three Boston pitchers for 15 hits, including Monte Irvin's 19th homer in the ninth inning. The latter drove in three of the New York tallies to boost his season's RBI total to 101. Box:

Keyser Beaten In Morgantown

Mineral Countians Drop Opener, 13-0

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Sept. 7—Morgantown High School opened its football campaign tonight with a 13 to 0 victory over Keyser High School.

Maust registered Morgantown's initial td in the first period when he skirted left end for the last 19 yards. Tom Zinn scored the final six-pointer on a wide end run in the fourth period and Simons place-kicked the extra point.

It was also the opening game of the season for the Mineral County eleven.

Keyser penetrated deep into Morgantown territory late in the game, fumbled on the 17-yard stripe, recovered then finally lost the ball on downs.

Charles Town will be Keyser's opening home opponent next Friday.

College Regatta Site Is Changed To Syracuse, N. Y.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—The famous rowing race once known as the Poughkeepsie Regatta, after two unfortunate attempts on the flooded Ohio river at Marietta, O., was shifted today to Lake Onondaga at Syracuse, N. Y., for 1952.

The decision was taken today by the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association after considering proposals from Poughkeepsie, Seattle, and Marietta as well as Syracuse.

"The stewards declared that equitable water conditions for all crews was the determining factor in choosing Lake Onondaga," said the announcement.

Next year's race will be the 50th annual contest in this classic of rowing. No date was set, but June 14 and 21 were both considered, and it may be that eventually a day in between may be decided on. Examinations at the competing colleges as well as the Olympic tryouts are factors in selecting a date.

Ladies' Commercial Dux League To Open Monday At The Savoy

The Ladies' Commercial Bowling League season opens Monday night on the Savoy Alleys.

There are twelve teams in the circuit—six in the 7 o'clock Division and a like number in the 9 o'clock Division.

Teams rolling at 7 p. m. are Roxy, Sport Shoppe, Rainbow Restaurant, Moore Motors, Viaduct Inn and Hi-Dee Bar.

The 9 p. m. teams are Bopp's, Largent's, Moose, Ormond's Hosiery, Rosenbaum's and Alberta's Restaurant.

Miss Elsie McKee president of the 12-club circuit. Louie Jones heads the 7 o'clock division and Eleanor Rice presides over the 9 o'clock division.

Ellerslie Evens Playoff Series

Defeats LaVale, 6-5, Finale Set Tuesday

Ellerslie rallied for four run in the 7th inning to defeat LaVale yesterday by the score of 6-5 and squared up its County Softball League playoff series, each team having won one game.

Ellerslie won the toss and will play host to LaVale in the deciding game at Ellerslie on Tuesday.

It was a 2-2 ball game until the top of the 7th when Manager Walter Basilio of LaVale rapped a three-run homer. Two walks, a single, and error and Roy LaRue's double, however, netted Ellerslie a one-run decision in the final half of the final stanza.

LaRue banged a double and single for Ellerslie while Basilio homered and tripled for the losers. The LaVale pilot was cut down at the plate when he tried to stretch his triple into a four-bagger. The score:

LAVALE ..... 000 020 3—5 7 3
ELLERSLIE ..... 001 010 4—6 7 3

Cards Blank Red Sox In Tri-Towns Series

WESTERNPORT, Sept. 7—Mike Delilo turned in a two-hit pitching performance and struck out 11 batsmen as the Cardinals defeated the Red Sox today at Memorial Park, 6-0, and assured their Tri-Towns Little League championship series at one win each.

Scaletta's single in the first inning and Baughman's triple in the fourth were the only hits yielded by Delilo.

Amtower homered and Niland rapped two hits in four trips for the winners.

Baughman, losing pitcher, fanned five and walked two. Fazenbaker, his successor, whiffed seven and issued four passes. The score:

Moose Play Centerville Here Today

Hyndman, Westvaco Are Bi-State Hosts

Penn Avenue Field will be the scene of the third game of the best-of-five Interstate Baseball League series between the Centerville Reds and the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose today at 4 p. m., EDT.

The series is now squared up at one win each.

Tomorrow the teams tangle in the 4th contest at Centerville at 2:30 p. m., EDT.

Romney and Moorefield will do battle today in the third game of their Interstate League semi-final playoff series today in Moorefield at 3 p. m., EST. Moorefield leads 2-0 and could advance to the finals by winning three in a row. If a fourth game is necessary it will be played Sunday at 2:30 EST, in Romney.

Firing in the Bi-State Baseball League's playoffs gets underway today in Hyndman and Westernport.

Bi-State Openers Today

Hyndman's Firemen are hosts to Keyser's pennant-winning Firemen while the Frostburg Demons tackle Westvaco at Memorial Park. Both games are set for 3:30 p. m. EDT.

Tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., EDT, Hyndman visits Keyser and Frostburg is host to Westvaco.

The semi-finals and finals are best-of-five games series.

Play At Mt. Savage

Eckhart and the Mt. Savage Braves will open a three-game series tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., EDT, at Mt. Savage for the championship of the Pen-Mar Baseball League. Eckhart eliminated Barrelville and Mt. Savage kayoed Wellersburg in two straight in the playoff semi-finals.

The second game of the series is set for Eckhart on Sunday, September 16 at 2:30 p. m.

Umpires for tomorrow's game at Mt. Savage are Jim Mason, Bob Lewis and Roy Deffenbaugh. Bill Andrews, Vic Reynolds and Joe Stuckey will officiate in the September 16 games.

Oakland At Terra Alta

The Mountain Top Baseball League lowers the curtain on its regular campaign tomorrow with Oakland's Amvets and Terra Alta in the feature attraction at 2:30 p. m., EST., on the West Virginians' field.

There'll be no playoff if Terra Alta wins tomorrow's game as a victory for the Preston Countians will give them the second half title. They finished in first place at the close of the first half race.

Oakland and Terra Alta are now tied at 7-1 going into the final day of the campaign. An Oakland victory would give the Garrett countians the second half title and a right to battle it out with Terra Alta in a series of games for the league championship. The circuit's most consistent winners—Bob Fraley of Terra Alta and Bob Glaze of Oakland—are slated to go to the firing line in the season's finale.

U. S. Golf Team Tops Canadians

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 7 (AP) — Young Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., the national amateur champion, led United States Walker Cup forces to a resounding 10-2 victory over Canada today in an informal golf match that may be a prelude to regular golf competition between the two countries.

The 25-year-old stylist fashioned par golf over Saucon Valley's testing 6,979-yard course to defeat the new Canadian champion, Walter McElroy, 2 and 1.

Urzetta also teamed with Harold Paddock of Cleveland to score the most impressive victory in the scotch foursome play, subduing Don Doe and 18-year-old Laurie Roland, 4 and 3.

The invaders' outstanding triumph was forged by McElroy and the man he succeeded as Canadian champion, Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, in the foursomes. They put slippery skids under the highly-rated U. S. pair, Frank Stranahan of Toledo and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., one up.

138 Hot Stovers Will See Buccos

A total of 138 managers and players of eight Hot Stove League teams will gather in front of the Times-News building at 8 a. m. today prior to making the trip by bus to Pittsburgh to see the Pirates and Cardinals clash this afternoon at 2:30 at Forbes Field.

Four buses will transport the players to and from Pittsburgh.

Sixty players of the Tri-Towns Little League are also scheduled to witness the game in Pittsburgh today.

Harry F. Vaughan, 68, Former Coach, Dies

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP) — Harry F. Vaughan, 68, former head football coach at Ohio State and Fordham universities and an outstanding player at Yale in 1909-11 died last night after a two year illness.

Vaughan, who died at the Newton D. Baker Hospital in Martinsburg, W. Va., was a star end on the undefeated unscored-on 1909 Yale team.

Until 1921, when he entered the real estate business in his native Scranton, Pa., Vaughan remained active in football. He served as end coach at the Naval Academy prior to World War I and also assisted the late Foster Sanford at Rutgers.

Dodgers Put Phillies Out Of Flag Race

Brooklyn Wins, 11-6, Plays Giants Today

BROOKLYN, Sept. 7 (AP)—Andy Pafko, Billy Cox and Carl Furillo loosened a murderous barrage of extra base hits, knocking in 10 runs, as the Brooklyn Dodgers slashed the Philadelphia Phillies, 11 to 6, today to retain their 5½ game lead in the National League.

The defeat eliminated the Phillies, the 1950 champions, from the 1951 pennant race.

While the Dodgers were mauling three Philadelphia hurlers, the runnerup New York Giants were carving out a 7 to 3 victory over the Boston Braves.

So the stage is set for the big two-game series between the Giants and Dodgers over the weekend at Ebbets Field.

Cox, noted for his fielding rather than hitting, knocked in four runs with a double and triple. Pafko hit a three-run homer, while Furillo drove across three runs on two homers.

Three of Philadelphia's runs in the ninth came on Granny Hamner's home run.

It was a bitter defeat, indeed, for the Phillies, for it eliminated the once-proud "whiz kids" from the pennant race.

And to make matters even worse, the two pitchers who led the Phils' pennant drive last year — Robin Roberts and fireman Jim Konstanty —were the victims of Brooklyn's roughest slugging. Box:

Dodgers Defeat Pen-Mar Stars

Fair Wins Game 1-0 By Pilfering Home

Regis Fair tossed a three-hitter and won his own game in the final inning by stealing home as Manager Bill Buzzard's Dodgers, champions of the Cumberland Little League, won the opener of a home-and-home series from the Pen-Mar Little League All-Stars yesterday at Corriganville. The score was 1-0.

In the 6th, Bruce singled and was out at the plate when he attempted to score on Fair's two-base wallop. Fair advanced to second on an infield out and then pilfered home plate to win the game.

Bruce and Fair shared four of the winners' five hits.

It was the 20th victory in 23 starts for the Dodgers this season.

The Dodgers windup their series with the Pen-Mar League Wednesday at 6 p. m. at Stitcher Field. Frostburg will be met on the same field Monday at 6 p. m. Score:

Cartier Scores TKO

NEW YORK, Sept. 7—(INS)—Middleweight hopeful Walter Cartier stopped Billy Kilgore of Baltimore, Md., in the eighth round of a scheduled ten-rounder tonight at Madison Square Garden.

Referee Ray Miller, apparently acutely aware of last week's fatal George Flores-Roger Donoghue bout, halted tonight's affair with Kilgore staggering and bleeding from both eyes at 1:41 of the eighth.

The victory enhanced the Greenwich Village battler's status as a middleweight challenger. Cartier weighed 162 to Kilgore's 161¾. A crowd of 3,000 saw the fight.

Games Postponed

Last night's tripleheader program at Penn Avenue Field, headed by the Hot Stove League series finale between B'nai B'rith and the Lions, was postponed on account of the muddy condition of the field.

The Western Maryland Invitational Softball Tournament is set for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Penn Avenue Field.

Bastian Is Winner Over Henry Dempsey

Max Bastian, defending champion, defeated Henry Dempsey, 1 up in 19 holes, in the championship flight of the men's fall golf tournament yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club.

In a fourth flight contest, Frank McCagh defeated Mortimer Schaidt, 1 up, 19 holes.

Sportsmen To Meet

A Meeting of the Rodgeley Rod and Gun Club, Inc., will be held Wednesday, Septembe 12 to 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served. All members are uged to attend.

Hyndman, Phillies To Play Twin Bill

The Phillies, champions of the Dapper Division of the Cumberland Little League, and Hyndman, which finished the first in the Pen-Mar Little League, will clash in a doubleheader Sunday at 2 p. m. at Hyndman.

Hyndman won 17 out of 18 games during the regular campaign in the league while the Phillies were undefeated in 18 contests.

Managers have agreed to use only regular team players in the twin bill.

Hyndman is managed by Ed McVicker and Russell Geisler. The Phillies are piloted by Howard "Farmer" Northcraft and John "Joker" Boyle.

Beard And Hull Spark Sentinels To 18th In Row

By JERRY DAVIS

The neatly woven green blanket at the Fort Hill Stadium got its first taste of wear last night, as the 1951 football lid-lifter got under way here. The Sentinels of Bill Hahn ran their win streak up to 18 in a row as they captured their initial trial of the campaign over the Moorefield Yellowjackets, 20-7.

Although they greatly missed the passing arm of last season's field general, Lynn Beightol, as evidenced by their failing to gain through the air, the power-laden "Red and White" raiders piled up a net 272 yards via the ground route.

Beard, Hull Stand Out

It was little pint-sized Dickie Beard, and hard-driving Harold Hull who accounted for most of the Sentinel success on rounding the ends, and hitting the middle. Beard chalked up 146 yards in 12 carries, to average slightly better than 12 yards per try, while team mate, Hull, picked up 97 markers over the turf, and proved to the second twin that resulted in locals victory.

Beard jumped away to a fast start in the city scoring race by accounting for 14 tallies, getting a pair of TD's and booting two out of three extra points. Hull had the other Hilltopper touchdown, while the losers' lone tally was made by Bobby Myers, who was by far the evenings' outstanding star.

Myers Sparks Jackets

Myers really had the visitors cheering section "up in arms" with his brilliant "steam-roller" running. He rolled over the victors' defenses for 99 net yards, and was the main threat of the Sentinels all night.

An eighty yard march goalward resulted in the opening score of the contest. With Hull, and Beard doing the better part of the work, the winners drove deep in Jacket territory early in the opening frame, and after Hull battled to the 12 for a first down, Beard took a toss from "Buck" Cage and hit the end-zone for pay-dirt. He then converted to push Fort Hill out to a 7-0 lead.

The Sentinels never got their full power up again in the first canto, and neither team scored any more in the opening quarter.

Sentinels Lack Steam

Throughout most part of the second stanza, the Yellowjackets retained possession of the leather. The winners never got up enough steam to make any more than 15 yards in the second. They had a chance for only five running plays in that quarter, since the losers held on to the pigskin the rest of the time. The ineffectiveness of the Hahnmen was shown very plainly when towards the latter part of the quarter they lost the ball on downs, and the Jackets had the ball

DEATHS and FUNERALS

William S. Ramsay Dies In Canton

William Somerville Ramsay, formerly of Mt. Savage, died yesterday at his home, 1326 37th Street, Canton, Ohio.

North End Group Wants Hoey Retained

The North End Playground Association is asking the Mayor and Council to do everything in its power to retain Edmund F. Hoey as city recreation director.

Ralph Knieriem, president of the association, said a letter to this effect will be presented at Monday's meeting of the council

Hoey, who has been asked by Mayor Thomas S. Post to reconsider the resignation he submitted last week, is highly praised in the North End letter.

Knieriem says Hoey has been extremely helpful to playground associations and credits the director for most of the progress Cumberland is making in recreation.

Oil Company Is Granted City Building Permit

The Esso Standard Oil Company was granted a permit yesterday at the city engineer's office for the erection of a service station in the 700 block on North Centre Street at a cost of about $15,000.

The one story concrete block structure will be constructed by John S. Cook and Son. The building will measure 51.6 feet in width and 30 feet in length. The lot on which the station will be built measures 140 feet on Mechanic Street and 152 feet on North Centre Street. The permit was approved by acting building engineer William H. Marean.

Ring Lost In Fire Found

BRISTOL, Pa., Sept. 7. (AP)—Fire levelled Mrs. John Mocknatch's home in Newportville three years ago, and her gold wedding ring was among the many items lost.

Yesterday Mrs. Mocknatch was puttering in her garden and found her ring. It appeared when she dug up a spadeful of earth.

North End Group Wants Hoey Retained

The North End Playground Association is asking the Mayor and Council to do everything in its power to retain Edmund F. Hoey as city recreation director.

Ralph Knieriem, president of the association, said a letter to this effect will be presented at Monday's meeting of the council

Hoey, who has been asked by Mayor Thomas S. Post to reconsider the resignation he submitted last week, is highly praised in the North End letter.

Knieriem says Hoey has been extremely helpful to playground associations and credits the director for most of the progress Cumberland is making in recreation.

Oil Company Is Granted City Building Permit

The Esso Standard Oil Company was granted a permit yesterday at the city engineer's office for the erection of a service station in the 700 block on North Centre Street at a cost of about $15,000.

The one story concrete block structure will be constructed by John S. Cook and Son. The building will measure 51.6 feet in width and 30 feet in length. The lot on which the station will be built measures 140 feet on Mechanic Street and 152 feet on North Centre Street. The permit was approved by acting building engineer William H. Marean.

Keyser Plans Improvements For Traffic

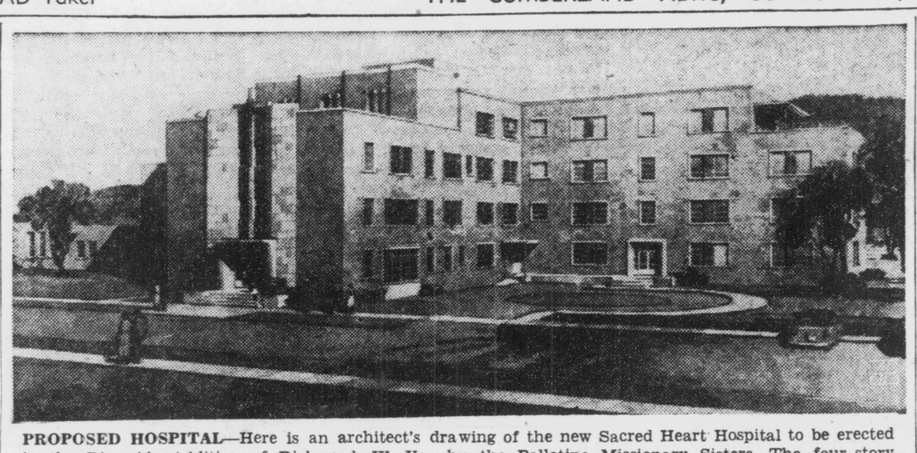
One-Way Routes Now Are Proposed

KEYSER, W. Va.—Mayor Chester J. Compton and city Council have set up a plan for bettering traffic conditions through the South End of the city. They have been working on the plan for a couple of weeks hoping to provide a plan to eliminate the traffic hazards especially on South Main Street.

With the opening of the new bridge the hazard promises to be considerably greater than at present. It was with this thought in mind that the officials made a study of the situation and they will submit the proposed course to the State Road Commission for its concurrence.

The route south from the Keyser-McCoole bridge, as proposed by the city officials, will follow Mineral Street to Lincoln, with traffic moving on Mineral Street, to Lincoln, which will be one way east to South Main Street, where it will turn south on Main to Newton Street. Main Street south of Lincoln will be a two-way thoroughfare.

Northbound traffic will follow South Main Street to Piedmont Street, South Main being a one way thoroughfare north from Lincoln to Piedmont. Traffic will turn west on Piedmont to Mineral, thence onto Mineral to the bridge.



PROPOSED HOSPITAL—Here is an architect's drawing of the new Sacred Heart Hospital to be erected in the Riverside Addition of Richwood, W. Va., by the Pallotine Missionary Sisters. The four-story building, which will cost about $1,471,250, will have living quarters for 18 nurses. It will replace a 35-bed hospital of the same name operated for many years by the Catholic order in a non-fireproof, frame structure. (AP Photo)

Piedmont Women Of Moose Meet

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Visitors were present from Oakland and Frostburg at the recent meeting of Piedmont Chapter No. 925, Women of the Moose.

They will hold an initiation Tuesday evening, September 18, with the publicity chairman, Mrs. Evelyn Linkswiler, in charge. Members are requested to bring sandwiches.

Mrs. Deanna Nogle, senior regent and her officers, Mrs. Marian Daniels, Mrs. Ruth Humes, Mrs. Gladys Gift, Mrs. Daisy Dick, Mrs. Rockine Elias and Mrs. Josephine Wiegratz, put on an initiation and endowment fund march for Oakland Chapter No. 1184 in Oakland Md., last night. The officers were installed by the Frostburg Chapter.

Piedmont Chapter has received an invitation to attend the district meeting of the Men's Lodge of the Moose to be held at Romney Sunday beginning at 2 p. m.

FIRST WOMAN — Dr. Theresa O. Snaith of Weston, W. Va., who was elected a member of the council of the West Virginia State Medical Association at the group's 1951 meeting, became the first woman ever chosen for that body. She will begin a two-year-term January 1. She also is the first woman to hold her current post of secretary of the Central West Virginia Medical Society. (AP photo).

Band Concert Washed Out

KEYSER, W. Va.—The final band concert of the present season was washed out Thursday evening.

The Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion band, under direction of Allan Bowman, made its final appearance on the campus in front of the Keyser High School. Several hundred persons were on hand to hear the program despite threatening lightning and thunder. The concert had progressed to the fourth number on the program of nine numbers, when rain began to fall. Within a few minutes the rain became a real summer thunder and lightning storm that drenched players and audience before they were able to get within the shelter of the high school building.

The Legion band has always been popular with local band music citizens and it was with regret that the program had to be terminated uncompleted. It may be that another concert will be given by the band at a later date as their season finale.

WOMAN CPA — Miss Vivian Canaday, former WAC and a native of Lester in Raleigh County, W. Va., became West Virginia's first woman certified public accountant after passing an examination recently. She is a graduate of West Virginia University and is associated with a Beckley firm. (AP Photo)

Garrett Teachers Get Pay Raises

OAKLAND—The Garret County Board of Commissioners has increased the salary of teachers in the county's public schools $200 for the current term.

This means that the wage schedule will run from $2,400 to $4,000 annually instead of $2,200 to $3,800.

The announcement came after a conference of the commissioners, the Board of Education and the legislative committee of the Garrett County Teachers Association this week.

The association recommended the increase because of the advance in the cost of living. The $200 hike is for the current school year only, the commissioners pointed out. Any future increases will have to be based on legislation.

The cost of this boost will be $36,000 this year and will be made up in the levy of the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Garrett Teachers Get Pay Raises

OAKLAND—The Garret County Board of Commissioners has increased the salary of teachers in the county's public schools $200 for the current term.

This means that the wage schedule will run from $2,400 to $4,000 annually instead of $2,200 to $3,800.

The announcement came after a conference of the commissioners, the Board of Education and the legislative committee of the Garrett County Teachers Association this week.

The association recommended the increase because of the advance in the cost of living. The $200 hike is for the current school year only, the commissioners pointed out. Any future increases will have to be based on legislation.

The cost of this boost will be $36,000 this year and will be made up in the levy of the 1952-53 fiscal year.

Band Concert Washed Out

KEYSER, W. Va.—The final band concert of the present season was washed out Thursday evening.

The Boyce-Houser Post No. 41, American Legion band, under direction of Allan Bowman, made its final appearance on the campus in front of the Keyser High School. Several hundred persons were on hand to hear the program despite threatening lightning and thunder. The concert had progressed to the fourth number on the program of nine numbers, when rain began to fall. Within a few minutes the rain became a real summer thunder and lightning storm that drenched players and audience before they were able to get within the shelter of the high school building.

The Legion band has always been popular with local band music citizens and it was with regret that the program had to be terminated uncompleted. It may be that another concert will be given by the band at a later date as their season finale.

B & O Helps Bank Install Vault

KEYSER, W. Va.—A small crane owned by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was put to use to help the National Bank of Keyser get its new three-ton fireproof vault into its proper place yesterday.

Operators of the crane swung the vault over the counter grill work and into place without scratching any of the furniture and equipment.

The vault, acquired from the Herringhall Company, Hamilton, Ohio, was placed in front of the building Thursday night.

Veterans Night School To Open At Fort Ashby

FORT ASHBY, W. Va.—The third session of veterans night school will open Monday, at 8 p. m. (DST), at the Fort Ashby High School, according to William Marker, instructor. Veterans planning to attend must register at that time.

Marker states two courses will be given this year, typing and business law. Veterans are required to attend school three nights a week, and four hours nightly.

The law provides that a course of education or training shall be initiated before the termination of four years after the date of discharge or by July 25, 1951, whichever is the later date.

For further information, veterans may contact Marker at his home in Fort Ashby.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7—(INS)—Robert Ryan steps out and buys himself a story, "The Man Outside" by Charles Bennett. That's how eager Bob is to tieup the fascinating new thriller by the author of "39 Steps" and many of the Alfred Hitchcock screen plays.

So afraid was Bob that somebody else would buy it that he dipped down in his own pocket in the fond hope that he can later talk his RKO boss, Howard Hughes, into starring him in the picture.

The story is about a newspaper photographer forced into a false "confession" of spying by the Reds and the terror that stalks him even after his release from a prison behind the iron curtain.

• — • — •

Redhaired Arlene Dahl, who's had her heart set on doing a musical, even before she left MGM, gets her wish. She will sing and dance in "Me And Again" with John Payne as her partner in the Pine-Thomas picture. Don't know whether John sings and dances or not — but he's the romance.

Before she makes the musical, she'll first star with Payne (looks like a team) in "Caribbean Gold," a pirate story for, yes—Fine and Thomas.

• — • — •

The most sentimental preview of the season takes place in an MGM projection room tomorrow when 60 little girls from the Los Angeles orphanage get a special showing of "Angels in the Outfield."

Many scenes of the Paul Douglas-Janet Leigh picture were shot in the orphanage with the youngsters appearing in background shots.

Clarence Brown, the director, is giving the kids an extra thrill by stopping and "holding" the camera on the scenes in which the girls appear, giving them a chance to squeal with excitement as they spot themselves and their friends on the screen.

Good looking Jimmy Young—Joseph Cotten's son-in-law, in case you don't already know—gets the male lead in the road company of "The Moon Is Blue," thanks to his friend, Fefe Ferry.

When Otto Preminger was here (Preminger directed the original show with Barbara Bel Geddes on Broadway), Fefe introduced Jimmy to him.

Result is—Preminger had the boy read the role and, today Long distanced Jimmy in Hollywood telling him to come on for the national tour with Coleen Gray in the Hugh Herbert hit.

Hollywood in shorts:

Howard Keel is No. 1, on the Quigley poll of exhibitors for "outstanding star of tomorrow." Thelma Ritter (surprise?) is second and Shelley Winters, third.

Speaking of votes, Cecil Beaton, famed photographer of royalty and world celebrities, photographed Elizabeth Taylor in London and hails her "the most beautiful girl in the world."

Denice Darcel's new heart is Charles Denney, New York radio executive.

Lloyd Bacon, who'll direct the Eva Tanguay movie at 20th plays a scene before the cameras as his famed father, Frank Bacon.

Arthur Murray has cabled Josephine Baker a chunk of cash plus all expenses paid if she'll fly from Paris to New York for his TV show.

Talk about "the show must go on"—Mr. John, of John Frederics hats, fell over a cable and broke his leg two minutes before his television show went on—and stuck out the entire 15 minutes in excruciating pain.

Shelley Winters and Farley Granger off by TWA for their Kansas City appearance with "Behave Yourself."

Sidney Chaplin and Irene Wrightsman tiffed at the Encore and Irene flounced home by taxicab.

Your favorite reporter, and mine, Louella Parsons, is back from a much needed vacation, feeling well and looking like a million. Again, I am grateful to my girl friend for generously turning over her fine staff to me for the weeks I have been bringing you her Hollywood news. My thanks to her—and to you.

That's all today. Lop will see you Monday.

Don't use a lipstick brush just for lip beauty! Here are three additional glamour uses for it.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

The brush is the beauty-making gadget that puts the gleam in your hair, the pearl in your teeth, the shine on your shoes, the polish on your nails, the gloss on your lashes, the patina on your clothes, and the finish on your lipstick. What a boon to glamour its invention has been. But, with how many of the uses of the lipstick brush are you familiar?

Three Brush Tricks

Did you know that you can use it to improve the hairline of dark locks? It's perfect for filling in the gaps caused by sparse-growing tresses or to intensify that mark of beauty, the widow's peak. Simply dip a lipstick brush into a bit of dark brown paste shadow and, using only the bristle tips, draw in the missing strands, strand for strand. Practice is what begets perfection.

And you can apply your eye-shadow with more subtlety than you ever guessed if you learn to wield your lipstick brush with dexterity. Try it! Just dip a brush into your favorite cream or fluid shadow. With one swift, sure stroke of the flat side of the bristles, draw an almost transparent swathe across the lid from the center to the end of the eye, close to the lashes. The result should not be more than a quarter of an inch wide and blended a bit at the outer corner.

To Cover blemishes

A brush is best to camouflage blemishes, spots and veins. Apply your regular foundation to your entire face. Let it "set" or dry thoroughly. While you're waiting, scoop up a sparing amount of your most tried-and-true cover-up cosmetic on your brush and gently roll it on a piece of tissue until the brush is pointed. Next, using the tip, paint over the blemish or vein, using diagonal strokes. After it has dried, if the blemish is still apparent, apply a second coat in the same manner.

Naturally, you must reserve a special brush for each use. But the cost of one is small when you consider the magic it wields!

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 7—(INS)—Robert Ryan steps out and buys himself a story, "The Man Outside" by Charles Bennett. That's how eager Bob is to tieup the fascinating new thriller by the author of "39 Steps" and many of the Alfred Hitchcock screen plays.

So afraid was Bob that somebody else would buy it that he dipped down in his own pocket in the fond hope that he can later talk his RKO boss, Howard Hughes, into starring him in the picture.

The story is about a newspaper photographer forced into a false "confession" of spying by the Reds and the terror that stalks him even after his release from a prison behind the iron curtain.

Redhaired Arlene Dahl, who's had her heart set on doing a musical, even before she left MGM, gets her wish. She will sing and dance in "Me And Again" with John Payne as her partner in the Pine-Thomas picture. Don't know whether John sings and dances or not — but he's the romance.

Before she makes the musical, she'll first star with Payne (looks like a team) in "Caribbean Gold," a pirate story for, yes—Pine and Thomas.

The most sentimental preview of the season takes place in an MGM projection room tomorrow when 60 little girls from the Los Angeles orphanage get a special showing of "Angels in the Outfield."

Many scenes of the Paul Douglas-Janet Leigh picture were shot in the orphanage with the youngsters appearing in background shots.

Clarence Brown, the director, is giving the kids an extra thrill by stopping and "holding" the camera on the scenes in which the girls appear, giving them a chance to squeal with excitement as they spot themselves and their friends on the screen.

Good looking Jimmy Young—Joseph Cotten's son-in-law, in case you don't already know—gets the male lead in the road company of "The Moon Is Blue," thanks to his friend, Fefe Ferry.

When Otto Preminger was here (Preminger directed the original show with Barbara Bel Geddes on Broadway), Fefe introduced Jimmy to him.

Result is—Preminger had the boy read the role and, today Long distanced Jimmy in Hollywood telling him to come on for the national tour with Coleen Gray in the Hugh Herbert hit.

Hollywood in shorts:

Howard Keel is No. 1, on the Quigley poll of exhibitors for "outstanding star of tomorrow." Thelma Ritter (surprise?) is second and Shelley Winters, third.

Speaking of votes, Cecil Beaton, famed photographer of royalty and world celebrities, photographed Elizabeth Taylor in London and hails her "the most beautiful girl in the world."

Denice Darcel's new heart is Charles Denney, New York radio executive.

Lloyd Bacon, who'll direct the Eva Tanguay movie at 20th plays a scene before the cameras as his famed father, Frank Bacon.

Arthur Murray has cabled Josephine Baker a chunk of cash plus all expenses paid if she'll fly from Paris to New York for his TV show.

Talk about "the show must go on"—Mr. John, of John Frederics hats, fell over a cable and broke his leg two minutes before his television show went on—and stuck out the entire 15 minutes in excruciating pain.

Shelley Winters and Farley Granger off by TWA for their Kansas City appearance with "Behave Yourself."

Sidney Chaplin and Irene Wrightsman tiffed at the Encore and Irene flounced home by taxicab.

Your favorite reporter, and mine, Louella Parsons, is back from a much needed vacation, feeling well and looking like a million. Again, I am grateful to my girl friend for generously turning over her fine staff to me for the weeks I have been bringing you her Hollywood news. My thanks to her—and to you.

That's all today. Lop will see you Monday.

Don't use a lipstick brush just for lip beauty! Here are three additional glamour uses for it.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

The brush is the beauty-making gadget that puts the gleam in your hair, the pearl in your teeth, the shine on your shoes, the polish on your nails, the gloss on your lashes, the patina on your clothes, and the finish on your lipstick. What a boon to glamour its invention has been. But, with how many of the uses of the lipstick brush are you familiar?

Three Brush Tricks

Did you know that you can use it to improve the hairline of dark locks? It's perfect for filling in the gaps caused by sparse-growing tresses or to intensify that mark of beauty, the widow's peak. Simply dip a lipstick brush into a bit of dark brown paste shadow and, using only the bristle tips, draw in the missing strands, strand for strand. Practice is what begets perfection.

And you can apply your eyeshadow with more subtlety than you ever guessed if you learn to wield your lipstick brush with dexterity. Try it! Just dip a brush into your favorite cream or fluid shadow. With one swift, sure stroke of the flat side of the bristles, draw an almost transparent swathe across the lid from the center to the end of the eye, close to the lashes. The result should not be more than a quarter of an inch wide and blended a bit at the outer corner.

To Cover Blemishes

A brush is best to camouflage blemishes, spots and veins. Apply your regular foundation to your entire face. Let it "set" or dry thoroughly. While you're waiting, scoop up a sparing amount of your most tried-and-true cover-up cosmetic on your brush and gently roll it on a piece of tissue until the brush is pointed. Next, using the tip, paint over the blemish or vein, using diagonal strokes. After it has dried, if the blemish is still apparent, apply a second coat in the same manner.

Naturally, you must reserve a special brush for each use. But the cost of one is small when you consider the magic it wields!

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Music And Paintings

The one-hour Wednesday spot on NBC-TV from 8 to 9 p. m. EDT generally reserved for clowns of varying calibres on the Comedy Hour, was surprisingly and engagingly occupied during the summer months by music and art. Well, the fall season has rolled around and the clowns will be back in full command; music and art have been returned to the galleries and concert halls.

John Crosby

"Heritage," the program in question, emanated from the National Gallery of Art in Washington and consisted largely of fine music played by the National Gallery orchestra and conducted by Richard Bales. The theme of the program, a very effective one, was simply that our American heritage is a conglomerate affair, coming to us from many lands over many centuries. It's hardly a new idea but it's one that could easily be considered subversive in the present temper of the times.

• — • — •

However, even Senator McCarthy would have trouble quarreling either with the music or art on this program, beyond perhaps grumbling that the introduction of Mozart's poverty might conceivably be Communist propaganda. A typical program of the series dwelt on English painting and music and included among the music William Byrd's "Earl of Salisbury Pavanne," the first movement of "The Symphony No. 5 in D." by William Boyce and "Pomp and Circumstance March No. 4" by Sir Edward Elgar. The paintings under consideration were those of Gainsborough, Turner, Constable and Reynolds.

The attempt to tie music and art together, to find common ground between composer and artist, was made perfunctorily by Frank Blair, who played host at this fiesta, and Grose Evans, of the National Gallery. They agreed that a majestic quality was common to both. After that, the musicians and the paintings were put to work in earnest. As television fare, the National Gallery orchestra is neither more nor less satisfactory than most orchestras. Frankly, I find an oboe just as agreeable to look at as Morey Amsterdam and a great deal more agreeable to listen to.

The paintings came across on television far better than I believed possible and were especially interesting in the revelation of detail. Art requires a certain floridity of prose to get at it at all, and Mr. Evans and the other curators were remarkably restrained and sensible in their comments. Besides talking about style and meanings they passed along bits of gossip about the artists and their subjects. The absence of color is a serious drawback to the enjoyment of any painting, but I don't think color television would have helped much in its present state of development. I doubt that a Turner in color TV would be anything but a libel on the original.

The only complaint I have on the program was the comments by Rose d'Amore introducing the music. They were a little too "definitely festive"—to use one of her own phrases—to suit me. Otherwise, the program was a welcome hot weather companion and I'll miss it.

To get back to the clowns, "Toast Of The Town" never did take a vacation this summer though Ed Sullivan, its permanent host, did. This seemed like a nice time to look in on it and I looked in on it. Nothing has changed very much in old Ed's absence. Nothing, in fact, seems to have changed on that show since the first one I saw some years back.

It opened with a chorus of men (in straw hats and striped blazers) and women (in gay '90s costumes) singing "In The Good Old Summertime." The blazers have stood up extraordinarily well despite having been on every show in town. A man did a clog dance in the Pat Rooney style. A man named Bobby Sargent did, so help me, a death house monologue which was intended to be comedy material. A magician tore up newspapers and transformed the pieces into a bouquet. The Christianis acrobatic team jumped on seesaws, turned somersaults in the air and landed on one another's shoulders. A couple of men played harmonicas. Isabel Bigley sang "Lover."

Nothing, as I said earlier, has changed at all—songs, costumes, people. It's going to be a tough winter.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

COMBINED PLAYS GAUDY

SOME of the truly gaudy plays—in fact, a fair percentage of them—are really combinations of two different plays. The declarer carries on in such a way that he has a choice of finishing moves. If the defenders do certain things, then he plays one way. If they do other things, then he winds up with a different technique. In some of these maneuvers, the play may really be described as a combination of a throw-in and a squeeze.

	♠ 10 ♥ K 10 7 4 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ A Q 10 8 2
♠ J 7 ♥ Q 9 8 5 ♦ 9 6 4 ♣ J 7 5 4	N W E S	♠ Q 9 6 5 4 3 ♥ A J 2 ♦ 8 3 2 ♣ 3
	♠ A K 8 2 ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q J 7 ♣ K 9 6

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	6 NT

South built a combination squeeze and throw-in play to make his boldly bid contract, with an unusual set-up at the end. After the diamond 9 was led, he could count two tricks in spades, four in diamonds and five in clubs if he could bring in the whole suit. But that made only eleven, so he had to construct another somewhere.

He began by winning the diamond lead with the K and scored the club A and K, leaving himself in position to finesse against the J if East failed to follow suit, as he well might when he had enough spades to bid them. Next South scored the diamond A, Q and J, finessed the club 10, then scored the Q to drop the J and finally led the club 8.

Besides that card, he had kept in dummy the spade 10 and heart K-10-7, and in his hand the spade A-K-8 and heart 6-3. East meanwhile had pared down to the spade Q-9-6 and the heart A-J. If he discarded a spade, South would toss off a heart, score three spade tricks to have his contract, then give up a heart. East, however, tossed off the heart J, which was just as deadly. South then discarded a spade from his own hand and led the heart 10. East was obliged to win with the A and return a spade. So South, after two top spades, led the heart 6 to the K for the ultimate trick.

* * *

Your Weekend Question

Do you understand the play which advanced performers call the "trump squeeze," whereby a certain discard by a defender will enable the declarer to establish a card of his own by ruffing? Can you recall, or set up, an example of it?

Music And Paintings

The one-hour Wednesday spot on NBC-TV from 8 to 9 p. m. EDT generally reserved for clowns of varying calibres on the Comedy Hour, was surprisingly and engagingly occupied during the summer months by music and art. Well, the fall season has rolled around and the clowns will be back in full command; music and art have been returned to the galleries and concert halls.

John Crosby

"Heritage," the program in question, emanated from the National Gallery of Art in Washington and consisted largely of fine music played by the National Gallery orchestra and conducted by Richard Bales. The theme of the program, a very effective one, was simply that our American heritage is a conglomerate affair, coming to us from many lands over many centuries. It's hardly a new idea but it's one that could easily be considered subversive in the present temper of the times.

• — • — •

However, even Senator McCarthy would have trouble quarreling either with the music or art on this program, beyond perhaps grumbling that the introduction of Mozart's poverty might conceivably be Communist propaganda. A typical program of the series dwelt on English painting and music and included among the music William Byrd's "Earl of Salisbury Pavanne," the first movement of "The Symphony No. 5 in D." by William Boyce and "Pomp and Circumstance March No. 4" by Sir Edward Elgar. The paintings under consideration were those of Gainsborough, Turner, Constable and Reynolds.

The attempt to tie music and art together, to find common ground between composer and artist, was made perfunctorily by Frank Blair, who played host at this fiesta, and Grose Evans, of the National Gallery. They agreed that a majestic quality was common to both. After that, the musicians and the paintings were put to work in earnest. As television fare, the National Gallery orchestra is neither more nor less satisfactory than most orchestras. Frankly, I find an oboe just as agreeable to look at as Morey Amsterdam and a great deal more agreeable to listen to.

The paintings came across on television far better than I believed possible and were especially interesting in the revelation of detail. Art requires a certain floridity of prose to get at it at all, and Mr. Evans and the other curators were remarkably restrained and sensible in their comments. Besides talking about style and meanings they passed along bits of gossip about the artists and their subjects. The absence of color is a serious drawback to the enjoyment of any painting, but I don't think color television would have helped much in its present state of development. I doubt that a Turner in color TV would be anything but a libel on the original.

The only complaint I have on the program was the comments by Rose d'Amore introducing the music. They were a little too "definitely festive"—to use one of her own phrases—to suit me. Otherwise, the program was a welcome hot weather companion and I'll miss it.

To get back to the clowns, "Toast Of The Town" never did take a vacation this summer though Ed Sullivan, its permanent host, did. This seemed like a nice time to look in on it and I looked in on it. Nothing has changed very much in old Ed's absence. Nothing, in fact, seems to have changed on that show since the first one I saw some years back.

It opened with a chorus of men (in straw hats and striped blazers) and women (in gay '90s costumes) singing "In The Good Old Summertime." The blazers have stood up extraordinarily well despite having been on every show in town. A man did a clog dance in the Pat Rooney style. A man named Bobby Sargent did, so help me, a death house monologue which was intended to be comedy material. A magician tore up newspapers and transformed the pieces into a bouquet. The Christianis acrobatic team jumped on seesaws, turned somersaults in the air and landed on one another's shoulders. A couple of men played harmonicas. Isabel Bigley sang "Lover."

Nothing, as I said earlier, has changed at all—songs, costumes, people. It's going to be a tough winter.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

COMBINED PLAYS GAUDY

SOME of the truly gaudy plays—in fact, a fair percentage of them—are really combinations of two different plays. The declarer carries on in such a way that he has a choice of finishing moves. If the defenders do certain things, then he plays one way. If they do other things, then he winds up with a different technique. In some of these maneuvers, the play may really be described as a combination of a throw-in and a squeeze.

	♠ 10 ♥ K 10 7 4 ♦ A 10 5 ♣ A Q 10 8 2
♠ J 7 ♥ Q 9 8 5 ♦ 9 6 4 ♣ J 7 5 4	N W E S	♠ Q 9 6 5 4 3 ♥ A J 2 ♦ 8 3 2 ♣ 3
	♠ A K 8 2 ♥ 6 3 ♦ K Q J 7 ♣ K 9 6

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	6 NT

South built a combination squeeze and throw-in play to make his boldly bid contract, with an unusual set-up at the end. After the diamond 9 was led, he could count two tricks in spades, four in diamonds and five in clubs if he could bring in the whole suit. But that made only eleven, so he had to construct another somewhere.

He began by winning the diamond lead with the K and scored the club A and K, leaving himself in position to finesse against the J if East failed to follow suit, as he well might when he had enough spades to bid them. Next South scored the diamond A, Q and J, finessed the club 10, then scored the Q to drop the J and finally led the club 8.

Besides that card, he had kept in dummy the spade 10 and heart K-10-7, and in his hand the spade A-K-8 and heart 6-3. East meanwhile had pared down to the spade Q-9-6 and the heart A-J. If he discarded a spade, South would toss off a heart, score three spade tricks to have his contract, then give up a heart. East, however, tossed off the heart J, which was just as deadly. South then discarded a spade from his own hand and led the heart 10. East was obliged to win with the A and return a spade. So South, after two top spades, led the heart 6 to the K for the ultimate trick.

Your Weekend Question

Do you understand the play which advanced performers call the "trump squeeze," whereby a certain discard by a defender will enable the declarer to establish a card of his own by ruffing? Can you recall, or set up, an example of it?

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our daughter, Betty Lou Clark. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and also Sister Elva Brotemarkle for her comforting words.
MR. & MRS. THOMAS CLARK & FAMILY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles H. Spriggs, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 8, 1950.
Our family circle is broken,
The voice we loved is still,
Your place is vacant in our hearts,
No one can ever fill.
Flowers we place upon your grave,
Will wither and decay,
But love for you who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by
Wife & family.

Card Of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their kindness during our recent sad bereavement, the death of our daughter, Betty Lou Clark. Especially do we thank the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes, those who donated the use of their cars for the funeral, and also Sister Elva Brotemarkle for her comforting words.
MR. & MRS. THOMAS CLARK & FAMILY

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Charles H. Spriggs, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 8, 1950.
Our family circle is broken,
The voice we loved is still,
Your place is vacant in our hearts,
No one can ever fill.
Flowers we place upon your grave,
Will wither and decay,
But love for you who sleeps beneath,
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by
Wife & family.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUCS" BAER
(Distributed by International News Service)

Government set up a committee to investigate gambling. We recommend they add another plum to the one-armed bandits.

• — • — •

Gambling is a transaction involving uncertainty. Which includes two tickets on the Long Island Railroad. You're betting you get there. The railroad's betting you don't.

• — • — •

The fascination of the transaction is the fix. Five will get you ten, it's in the bag and the mob still has two stars it held out on Betsy Ross.

• — • — •

There's only one rule of health in gambling. Always cut the cards. You won't win but you'll last longer.

Stock Market Registers Third Straight 1951 High

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—With a strong final hour surge the stock market today established its third consecutive 1951 high.

The big push came from oils and a wide list of individual issues some of which made spectacular gains. The railroad division, leader in yesterday's advance, headed the forwarded movement in early stages but later turned mixed and was barely ahead at the close as a group.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 40 cents to $99.30, a new high for 1951.

Here are some of the star performers today:

Amerada Petroleum was up 6¼ at 136 after the company disclosed it had brought in a second wildcat oil well in North Dakota's Williams County. The first was in April.

Western Union raced ahead 2¼ at 44¾, the 14th most active issue, Dow Chemical was up 3¾ at 117¼, and International Business Machines gained 5½ at 227.

Sunray Oil was the day's most active issue up ⅞ at 23¼. It was followed by International Telephone up ½ at 17½, Calumet & Hecla up ½ at 10¾, Laclede Gas up ½ at 8 (after directors declared a 12½-cent dividend as compared with 10 cents previously paid), Sinclair Oil up 1¼ at 46, and Pan American World Airways up ⅜ at 10⅞.

Volume came to 1,930,000 shares. Yesterday's total was 2,150,000.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)— A buoyant tone prevailed again in grains on the Board of Trade today, everything moving ahead except July wheat. Corn and soybeans vied for leadership on the upturn, and a late buying flurry in September oats gave that contract a good boost. Closing futures:

Carolina Dye and Myrtle May Buckholtz vs. William Frederick Jones, No. 22340 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above entitled case is to secure a decree declaring the defendant, William Frederick Jones, legally dead.

The Bill of Complaint states that the said William F. Jones enlisted in the Army of the United States at the beginning of World War II and was a private in Company H, 141st Infantry, serial No. RA 33201200, and was on the 31st day of October 1943 stationed a few miles North of Naples in Italy; that on said day, along with some other soldiers, he was granted a few hours leave; that he and they went to Naples by trucks, and when the said trucks had assembled to return to camp, they were all there ready to return, except William F. Jones, who was not there and who did not appear up to the time they left to return to camp; that from that day to this his whereabouts have been unknown, and none of his friends, fellow soldiers or his family have heard from or anything about him; that the plaintiffs who are his aunts have made diligent inqury about him and searched for him among his fellow soldiers and have written to him many times at the address which had been given them at the time of his induction and at which they were accustomed to finding him; that more than seven years have elapsed since the said William F. Jones was last heard of or from; that after his enlistment or induction, he took out a National Service Life Insurance Policy, dated November 1, 1942, Certificate No. N-4,349,765, with his aunt, Myrtle May Buckholtz, named as beneficiary, and another policy for $5,-000.00, dated May 17, 1943, Certificate N-12-704,211, with his aunt, Carolina Dye named as beneficiary; that the said beneficiaries have been advised by the Adjutant's General's Office of the United States Army that their claims for insurance could not be considered until at least seven years after the said soldier, William F. Jones, had been missing or had disappeared; and that they have been further advised that their claims cannot be considered until so declared by a proceeding to be initiated and carried on through the Civil Courts by the interested parties; hence the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this Court, which has jurisdiction of all the parties.

It is thereupon this 23rd day of August, 1951, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ordered that the Complainants cause a copy of this order, setting forth the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint, to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of September, 1951, giving notice to the said William Frederick Jones, or to whom it may concern, to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of October 1951, to show cause if any they have why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Distributed by International News Service)

Government set up a committee to investigate gambling. We recommend they add another plum to the one-armed bandits.

●—●—●

Gambling is a transaction involving uncertainty. Which includes two tickets on the Long Island Railroad. You're betting you get there. The railroad's betting you don't.

●—●—●

The fascination of the transaction is the fix. Five will get you ten, it's in the bag and the mob still has two stars it held out on Betsy Ross.

●—●—●

Stock Market Registers Third Straight 1951 High

NEW YORK, Sept. 7 (AP)—With a strong final hour surge the stock market today established its third consecutive 1951 high.

The big push came from oils and a wide list of individual issues some of which made spectacular gains. The railroad division, leader in yesterday's advance, headed the forwarded movement in early stages but later turned mixed and was barely ahead at the close as a group.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 40 cents to $99.30, a new high for 1951.

Here are some of the star performers today:

Amerada Petroleum was up 6¼ at 136 after the company disclosed it had brought in a second wildcat oil well in North Dakota's Williams County. The first was in April.

Western Union raced ahead 2¼ at 44¾, the 14th most active issue, Dow Chemical was up 3¾ at 117¼, and International Business Machines gained 5½ at 227.

Sunray Oil was the day's most active issue up ⅞ at 23¼. It was followed by International Telephone up ½ at 17½, Calumet & Hecla up ½ at 10¾, Laclede Gas up ½ at 8 (after directors declared a 12½-cent dividend as compared with 10 cents previously paid), Sinclair Oil up 1¼ at 46, and Pan American World Airways up ⅜ at 10⅞.

Volume came to 1,930,000 shares. Yesterday's total was 2,150,000.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Sept. 7 (AP)— A buoyant tone prevailed again in grains on the Board of Trade today, everything moving ahead except July wheat. Corn and soybeans vied for leadership on the upturn, and a late buying flurry in September oats gave that contract a good boost. Closing futures:

Carolina Dye and Myrtle May Buckholtz vs. William Frederick Jones, No. 22340 Equity, in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of the Bill of Complaint in the above entitled case is to secure a decree declaring the defendant, William Frederick Jones, legally dead.

The Bill of Complaint states that the said William F. Jones enlisted in the Army of the United States at the beginning of World War II and was a private in Company H, 141st Infantry, serial No. RA 33201200, and was on the 31st day of October 1943 stationed a few miles North of Naples in Italy; that on said day, along with some other soldiers, he was granted a few hours leave; that he and they went to Naples by trucks, and when the said trucks had assembled to return to camp, they were all there ready to return, except William F. Jones, who was not there and who did not appear up to the time they left to return to camp; that from that day to this his whereabouts have been unknown, and none of his friends, fellow soldiers or his family have heard from or anything about him; that the plaintiffs who are his aunts have made diligent inquiry about him and searched for him among his fellow soldiers and have written to him many times at the address which had been given them at the time of his induction and at which they were accustomed to finding him; that more than seven years have elapsed since the said William F. Jones was last heard of or from; that after his enlistment or induction, he took out a National Service Life Insurance Policy, dated November 1, 1942, Certificate No. N-4,349,765, with his aunt, Myrtle May Buckholtz, named as beneficiary, and another policy for $5,000.00, dated May 17, 1943, Certificate N-12-704,211, with his aunt, Carolina Dye named as beneficiary; that the said beneficiaries have been advised by the Adjutant's General's Office of the United States Army that their claims for insurance could not be considered until at least seven years after the said soldier, William F. Jones, had been missing or had disappeared; and that they have been further advised that their claims cannot be considered until so declared by a proceeding to be initiated and carried on through the Civil Courts by the interested parties; hence the filing of the Bill of Complaint in this Court, which has jurisdiction of all the parties.

It is thereupon this 23rd day of August, 1951, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ordered that the Complainants cause a copy of this order, setting forth the object and substance of the Bill of Complaint, to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of September, 1951, giving notice to the said William Frederick Jones, or to whom it may concern, to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 15th day of October 1951, to show cause if any they have why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

NOTICE OF AUDIT

Horace P. Whitworth, Attorney named in Mortgage vs. Joseph K. Burns and Edith A. Burns, No. 22311 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, Cumberland, Maryland, September 7th, 1951.

This is to give notice that an audit filed in the above entitled cause, distributing the funds in the hands of Horace P. Whitworth, attorney will be ready for ratification on the 25th day of September, 1951, unless cause to the contrary be shown.

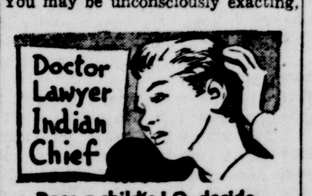
JOSEPH E. BODEN, Clerk.
Adv. N-Sept. 8-10.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

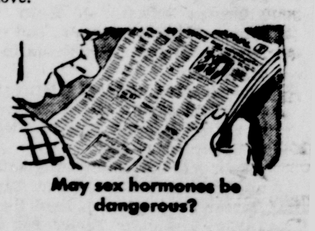
Should you "keep books" on your mate?

Answer: Not in the sense of trying to decide which of you has "done" or "sacrificed" more for the other. For if you do, you will naturally wish to have a "balance" in your favor and if you decide that you have, you will automatically try to even the score one way or another. You may be unconsciously exacting, or may make it up to yourself in self-pity or self-admiration, but in either case you will be less loving and less lovable. Doing what you feel is "more than your share" is more likely to express a "martyr complex" than sincere and generous love.



Does a child's I.Q. decide his future?

Answer: Certainly not in the sense that he cannot "amount to much" unless he has a high one. Dr. Harvey Zorbaugh of New York University points out that of 1,000 men and women listed in the Dictionary of American Biography, only 48 showed unusual brilliance as children, and that both Einstein and Edison were considered "backward," if not downright stupid. The two qualities that matter are (a) a degree of emotional balance that permits you to make the best use of the intelligence you have, and (2) a strong motive for succeeding. And these may not manifest themselves until after you have grown up.



May sex hormones be dangerous?

Answer: Yes, warns the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, which is seeking to have their sale banned except on a doctor's prescription. For instance, testosterone, a male sex hormone, while extremely useful if used wisely, has a tendency in the wrong hands to stimulate the growth of cancers as well as to cause sterility. Men of middle age who become victims of mail-order peddlers of this hormone in the hope of regaining waning sexual powers may do themselves grievous damage. And as I have previously said, their trouble is most often basically mental and needs psychiatric rather than medical help.

Area Rainfall Brings Drop In Temperatures

Lowest Reading Of 46 Was At Mt. Lake Park

Cumberland was given a preview of the fall season yesterday.

Temperatures in the Tri-State Area took a sudden drop yesterday following two days of much needed rainfall. A total of 1.10 inches of rain fell here Thursday and Friday which was .02 of an inch more rain than fell in the area during the entire month of August.

Here in Cumberland the mercury stood at a low of 54 degrees, according to the weather station at Constitution Park, although it was eight degrees higher than on the same day last year.

Following a severe lightning storm which occurred early yesterday morning, .49 of an inch of precipitation fell during the day bringing the total to 1.10 inches for the two-day period. Streams in the area benefited by the rainfall and obnoxious odors caused by the dry spell disappeared.

Thirsty gardens and lawns also welcomed the rain and residents received some relief from mosquitoes which have been working overtime in the area.

The lowest temperature reading last night was recorded at Mt. Lake Park as mercury dropped to 46 degrees. A spokesman for the Western Maryland Railway reported a temperature of 48 at Deal, Pa. and 50 degrees at Thomas, W. Va.

Terra Alta, W. Va. and Altamont both reported a reading of 52 degrees last night according to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Skies in the two mountain communities were cloudy.

Mercury at Hardman, about nine miles east of Grafton, W. Va., stood at 60 degrees with clear skies. At Frederick mercury registered 64 degrees. Here in nearby LaVale mercury registered a slight bit higher at 67 degrees.

Fair weather is forecast for today although it is expected to be cool with temperature in the high 60s.

Rain the past two days will save some of Allegany County's corn crop and will help the pasture lands, County Agent R. F. McHenry said last night.

McHenry asserted that most of the corn in the uplands was "pretty well burned up." However, he believes the rain will be a big help to corn in the bottom lands which had not suffered so extensively from the drought.

The pasture land has shown noticeable improvement since the rains, the county agent added.

Many of the gardens in the county already had been ruined before the rains came, McHenry said.

Another advantage of the rains has been that it has placed the ground in a little better shape for the seeding soon of winter wheat.

By lessening the danger of fire, the rains also gave the fire tower watchers a day of rest yesterday. They had been on the alert recently for fear that the bone-dry forests would be ignited.

River Commission Elects Hazelwood Vice Chairman

New Pollution Studies Planned

George F. Hazelwood, local contractor, was elected vice chairman of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin yesterday as the commission wound up its 10th annual meeting at Bedford, Pa.

Hazelwood succeeds Harry Gard Knox, technical advisor of the Pennsylvania Sanitary Water Board, who was named chairman. Knox in turn succeeds Harold A. Kemp, District of Columbia director of sanitary engineering.

The commission re-elected Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, director of the District of Columbia Health Department, to his 11th term. Oliver Gasch, asistant corporation counsel for the District of Columbia, was re-named counsel to the commission.

Named to the executive committee were Hazelwood, Kemp, Knox and George H. Williams, Romney, W. Va. John I. Rogers, Keyser, W. Va., will serve Williams' term until the committeeman recovers from an illness.

Also at yesterday's session, Edward R. Cotton, commission director, announced that the group will spend from $12,000 to $14,000 for a study of acid wastes pouring into the Potomac from coal mines.

The money will come from the U. S. Public Health Service, which has allocated $10,000 for the project. The rest also in Health Service funds, will be whatever is left over from a current river study.

Cotton said the survey will be handled through Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. Its purpose will be to find out exactly what causes formation of acid wastes found in the river. Technicians then can start thinking about how to control these wastes, he explained.

The commission also heard an enthusiastic report on progress of the Monocacy Valley project by Dr. Seckinger, chairman of the land committee.

Dr. Seckinger said farmers had shown so much interest in the program that it "would be eminently successful even if it were to end now."

He said he felt results in the Monocacy Valley would justify setting up another such project in the South Branch Valley beyond Romney.

The commission will hold a special meeting September 27 in Washington to consider Dr. Seckinger's proposals and other suggestions. Its next regular meeting will be held January 10-11 in Washington.

Reports of six other committees were heard yesterday. Among them was a recommendation that the commission take no definite stand on the proposed C&O Canal Parkway from Cumberland to near Washington.

Harold Leich, chairman of the wildlife and recreation committee, said the commission should wait until more facts on the canal area are known.

In the meantime, he urged the commission to give serious study to two alternative canal development plans. One would provide development of the area without building a parkway. The other, a compromise, would provide a parkway from Cumberland to Hancock, and development without a parkway east of Hancock.

Stutzman Named President Of Labor League

Fills Unexpired Term Of John L. Estes

Charles E. Stutzman, business agent for the Teamsters Union, has been elected president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, to fill the unexpired term of John L. Estes, resigned.

Joseph H. Humbertson of B & O Machinists Local No. 212 is first vice president and George Connelly of the Brewery Workers is second vice president. Paul L. Burley is secretary.

At the meeting held in the Trades Council Building, Thursday night, the Unity Conference decided to meet regularly on the first and third Thursdays of each month, with the next meeting called for the first Thursday in October.

As a special order of business for that meeting, a committee will be formulated to begin work immediately on plans for a Labor Day picnic and parade next year. Burley said there was considerable criticism from some affiliated locals for failure to attempt a celebration this year.

The Conference also authorized immediate activation of its Political Action Committee to work in the Sixth Congressional District, for the election in 1952 of a candidate or candidates friendly to labor.

Action on the political committee is on the agenda for the second meeting in October.

TO SPEAK HERE — Rev. J. Christy Wilson, D.D., evangelist among the Moslems in Iran for 20 years, and now member of the faculty of Princeton University Theological Seminary, will address the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church Monday. The association will resume activities after the summer recess at 8 p. m., in the lecture hall. Dr. Wilson's topic is "Christ in the Middle East." He will discuss the subject in three phases, the "Moslem World," "Jesus on the Persian Pathway" and "Afghanistan the Last Frontier."

Judge To Decide Fate Of Youths In Second Case

Another Trial Will Open Monday

Three Westernport youths who were convicted Thursday afternoon by a jury on an arson charge will be back in Allegany County Circuit Court Monday on a second arson charge but this time they will place their case in the hands of Associate Judge George Henderson.

The three are Paul Russell Taylor, 15; Arthur Leon Kerlip, 25, and John Francis Humes, 15. A jury deliberated about 45 minutes Thursday before convicting them at the end of a three-day trial. They were charged specifically with setting fire to a powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company on Franklin Hill, near Westernport last December 28.

There will be no jury on hand Monday when they return to the courtroom. The trial Monday will be on a charge that they did "unlawfully, willfully and maliciously set fire to and burned" a cap magazine at the same Harris Powder Company, June 11.

A decision not to have another jury trial in this case was made yesterday afternoon after Defense Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., had conferred with Judge Henderson in his chambers.

In all seven criminal informations were filed against the three youths by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher several days ago.

Four of the seven informations also named William David Taylor, 18-year old brother of Paul Russell Taylor. The older Taylor was convicted in April on a charge of setting fire to the Harris Powder Company property last December 28. He was given a term not to exceed three years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males at Breathedsville and was there at the time of the June 11 fire.

Three Area Men Enlist In Navy

Three area men were sworn into the U. S. Navy at Baltimore this week, according to Chief E. R. Morgan, local Navy recruiter.

They are Danforth Buchanan Linaburg, Jr., RFD No. 1, Ridgeley, W. Va.; Richard Vincent Skidmore, RFD No. 2, Frostburg, and Ronald Leland Baird, Cresaptown. They will go to Bainbridge Training Center for "boot" training

Red Cross Fund Drive For Flood Area Successful

The Red Cross drive to raise funds for the relief of distressed persons of the Missouri and Kansas flood stricken area has been a success in Allegany County, according to Frederic W. Eiler, chairman of the drive.

The quota of $2,600 has been oversubscribed with a collection of $2,634.01. Eiler said Red Cross officials here wish to express their appreciation for the generous response to the plea for money to aid the flood victims.

Eiler stated that this is the first time in the history of the local chapter that an extra fund collection has been conducted in the city or Allegany County.

The emergency campaign was primarily for relief and rehabilitation of individuals, Eiler said. Government money will be used for restoring damaged or destroyed public buildings and supplement local and state resources for basic community facilities.

Property Sold

Richard S. Davis and Elizabeth W. Davis have sold property on the north side of Potomac Street to George A. Largent and Gertrude Largent for about $7,000, according to a deed filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Cresaptown To Make Drive On Stray Dogs

Following complaints that dogs are running loose in the Cresaptown area, Magistrate William E. Meagher has called attention to the law which requires licensing of dogs and says it will be rigidly enforced.

Charles Evans, constable for the area is in charge of the dog law enforcement and is to pick up stray animals running at large in the community, Meagher said.

According to Magistrate Meagher, the code provides that all dog owners must prevent their animals from running at large and must obtain dog licenses for each animal whether he is at large or not. Dogs found running at large can be destroyed.

Penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law on dogs, includes fines of not less than $5 nor more than $25, or imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than 30 days for each conviction.

The law further points out it shall be the duty of the State's Attorney, the Sheriff and the various constables throughout the state to prosecute all persons failing to comply with provisions of the act.

Residents in Cresaptown, as well as in several other areas have repeatedly complained about the number of dogs running at large in the city and county, most of which appear to be unlicensed.

The Weather

Warmer wraps came out of moth balls yesterday as the mercury took a slight nosedive. Residents of Cumberland got a feeling of fall weather. The high as recorded by the weather station at Constitution Park was 70, the low 54 and at 8 o'clock the mercury stood at 59 degrees. Rainfall recorded yesterday was .49 bringing the two day total to 1.10 inches. Humidity was 61 per cent at 6 o'clock. Forecast for today is for fair weather.

School Building Curb Not Likely To Hit County

Hampshire Projects May Be Stopped

Although some 700 school buildings already started around the country must be halted until defense demands for structural steel and scarce copper ease up sometime next year, local observers last night expressed doubt that any of the schools now being constructed in Allegany and Garrett Counties would have to be stopped.

However, doubt was expressed that nearby Hampshire County, W. Va., will be able to carry out its program of eight new schools. Some of the steel for these projects has not been ordered, it was understood.

Schools Underway

In Allegany County the two schools now underway are Mt. Savage School and Central High School, between Lonaconing and Barton. The Mt. Savage School is scheduled for opening in February and it is believed that all of the steel construction work there already is finished. Central High School is not expected to be completed until next fall, but it is believed that the steel for this job either has been received or ordered.

Both Garrett County schools are reported progressing so that the curb, announced in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington is not expected to hurt them.

The new Oakland School steel either is already on hand or delivery is anticipated in about two weeks. Had not a strike intervened, all of the steel already would be at the site, one observer said. The new Cove School, near Keyser's Ridge, in Garrett County, also is thought out of danger.

Hyndman Project

It also is understood that the contract for a new school in Hyndman, Pa., was let several months ago and the steel for that project probably is available.

The Office of Education doles out steel, copper and aluminum for individual school and library projects. It has asked the Defense Production Administration (DPA), the top allocating agency, for 196,500 tons of steel, but got only 104,300 to parcel out. This is for the quarter starting October 1.

The education office has on hand applications for metal for 1,001 new buildings and for another 2,259 projects already under construction.

The tonnage granted, the office reported yesterday, will permit work to go ahead on 1,538 of those under construction and will leave 721—for which money has been put up and work started—stranded for perhaps six to nine months.

New Projects Hit

This exhausts virtually the entire school tonnage, leaving none for the proposed 1,001 completely new projects except those of an emergency nature. There are 86 of these to date, repesehting buildings needed in new military centers or to replace structures destroyed by flood, storm or fire.

The net result is that 1,624 school applications have been granted and 1,636—a little more than half—have been turned down.

Meantime DPA Administrator Manly Fleischmann, in a statement issued yesterday, emphasized that rejected applications for school, hospital, highway or industrial projects are "not being permanently denied."

They must be "deferred to a later date," Fleischmann said.

Local Man Takes Insurance Company Job At Richmond

Robert S. Arrington, formerly of 1033 Myrtle Street, will leave today with his family to go to Richmond, Va., where he has accepted a position as assistant manager with the Pilot Life Insurance Company. The company's home office is in Greensboro, N. C.

Arrington will begin his duties there Monday. He was formerly employed as assistant manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company here before he resigned this week.

A former president of the Optimist Club and Gephart PTA, he is a member of the First Methodist Church, and has been active in church affairs which included preaching in many of the churches in this area.

Together with his wife, Mrs. Helen Arrington, and their two daughters, Betty, 16, and Judy, 11, he will establish his residence in Richmond.

Arrington is a graduate of Allegany High School, and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Arrington, 186 Main Street, Ridgeley, W. Va.

471 More TB Chest X-Rays Taken In City Over 1950

Chest X-rays were given to 471 more Cumberland people this year than in 1950 by the mobile X-ray unit operated jointly by the Allegany County Health Department and Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, according to Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary for the association.

Figures show a total of 4,832 persons received X-rays here this year as compared to last year's total of 4,361.

There was a decrease however of 1,695 X-rays taken in other communities in the county, with 2,781 persons X-rayed this year, compared to 4,832 last year.

The mobile unit took an average of 231 X-rays a day in the county, while in Cumberland, it took an average of 202 per day.

A breakdown reveals that in Westernport, 344 X-rays were taken this year, compared to 727 last year. Barton showed a decrease with 146 persons receiving X-rays this year, compared to last year's 407. There were 446 persons X-rayed in Lonaconing this year and 840 in 1950. Midland showed 244 this year and 289 last year.

In Frostburg, 646 X-rays were taken as compared to 849 taken in 1950, while in Eckhart, 93 persons received X-rays this year as compared to 243 last. Bowman's Addition showed 178 persons receiving X-rays this year and 106 in 1950.

LaVale received 162 X-rays as compared to 195 in 1950, and Mt. Savage received 236 as compared to last year's 203. Cresaptown showed that 236 were X-rayed this year as compared to 414 in 1950.

The unit was at the fair grounds for the first time this year, and 410 X-rays were taken there. It was at Flintstone and Zihlman also for the first time completing 58 at Flintstone and 92 at Zihlman.

Miss Reinhard wishes to thank all the volunteers who helped with the unit including members of the Lay Health Council and Mrs. Lester R. Martin who was helpful in gathering members of the church to assist.

Miss Reinhard announces that November 19 will be the opening date for Christmas Seal sales. Members of the executive committee will complete final plans for the campaign.

3 Hurt In Romney Car-Truck Crash

Three members of a Clarksburg, W. Va., family were admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday at 5 p. m. with possible injuries sustained in a highway accident near Romney, W. Va., on Route 50.

At the local hospital for observation and X-rays are Fernand J. Dewez, his wife, Mrs. Bernice Dewez, and their 21-year-old son, Fernand J., Jr. Attaches report their condition as "good." According to West Virginia State Police, a truck got out of control due to the slippery road about three miles from Romney and collided with the Dewez automobile. Sgt. L. W. Kelley of the West Virginia State Police at Romney investigated.

Judge Harris Upholds Action Of Magistrate

Rules Thompson Had Authority.

An opinion determining that Alban C. Thompson, juvenile magistrate for Allegany County, acted within his jurisdiction and in accordance with law in sentencing a parole violator was filed yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Judge Harris' opinion resulted from his issuance last month of a writ of certiorari, directing Magistrate Thompson to return the record of his proceedings in the case against Robert W. Moorehead, in which Moorehead was charged with non-support of his wife and minor child and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction.

Moorehead, through his attorney, William L. Wilson, Jr., had filed for the writ in Circuit Court.

The petitioner last November 3 was tried and convicted of non-support of his wife and child and was sentenced in Juvenile Court to six months in the House of Correction. This was suspended on condition that he pay $13.50 per week for the support of his wife and child.

On March 9 of this year the petitioner's wife filed suit in equity seeking a divorce and support for herself and child. The Circuit Court subsequently passed a "show cause" order for counsel and allowing $13.50 per week for support of Moorehead's wife and her child.

Judge Harris notes in his opinion that on July 2 and again on July 23 Moorehead was found guilty of violation of his parole in Juvenile Court, and was sentenced on the latter date to six months in the House of Correction.

Citing the general rule that the authority of the court first acquiring jurisdiction must prevail, Judge Harris decided that the filing of the equity case in Circuit Court did not oust the Juvenile Court from its jurisdiction.

On the other contention of Moorehead that he was not informed of his right to a jury trial on the parole charge, Judge Harris held that Moorehead was not entitled to a jury trial for parole violation. He said the action of striking out the parole at a later date merely constitutes a withdrawal or revocation of leniency which the court extended at the time of imposition of the original sentence.

Coupled with his opinion was Judge Harris' order quashing the writ of certiorari.

Paper Collection Monday

Waste paper will be collected Monday at 9 a. m. on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue including Frederick and Bedford Streets.

Labor Endorses City Program On Recreation

Urges Retention Of Hoey As Director

Organized labor groups of Cumberland and vicinity, have unanimously endorsed Cumberland's Recreation program and will urge the Mayor and City Council to retain Edmund F. Hoey as city recreation director.

At a meeting of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference this week, unanimous action was taken, commending Mr. Hoey and recommending to public officials that he be retained here according to Paul L. Burley, secretary.

The recreation program was discussed at length, Burley observed, and it appeared to be the general opinion that laboring people, most of whom have children who participate in the program, believe it has been one of the most constructive and far-reaching endeavors ever attempted here.

He declared he was authorized to send letters to city officials commending the program and Mr. Hoey and urging that the director be kept here. Burley said the Labor Unity Conference also is of the opinion that the Recreation Board should give Mr. Hoey every cooperation and should be more active in the promotion of the general program.

Burley said a number of labor unions indicated their spokesmen will appear before Council in behalf of Mr. Hoey's retention and some of them plan to talk with the recreation director personally, urging him to reconsider his resignation.

Jury Deliberates Vandevander's Case In Franklin

A jury in Pendleton County Circuit Court at Franklin, W. Va., retired about 7 o'clock last night to deliberate the fate of Jesse Vandevander of the Cherry Grove section of that county, who is charged with the fatal shooting February 24 of his blind brother, Sylvester.

The four-day trial of Vandevander began Tuesday.

Judge Harlan M. Calhoun presided. Members of the jury were Fred Mullenax, Titus C. Wilfon, Warner Rexrode, Joseph E. Heavener, John R. Hammer, Roy E. Hevener, Verlie Warner, Raleigh Ruddle, Austin L. Judy, Pinkney Crummett, Earl Eye, and Roy D. Armentrout.

The defense of accused was that the other members of the family had "provoked him and had brandished a shotgun" just before the shooting in which two of the accused's brothers were killed and a nephew and a woman were wounded.

Vandevander was convicted last May of voluntary manslaughter in the killing of another brother, Jacob Vandevander. The penalty in this case could be from one to five years in prison.

The accused will also go on trial next Monday for feloniously shooting his nephew, Virgil Vandevander. Betty Alice Bennett, 50, was also wounded and suffered the loss of her arm which was amputated several days after the shooting.

George Sponaugle, prosecuting attorney of Pendleton county; William McCoy, Franklin attorney, and State Senator R. J. Bean, of Moorefield, presented the state's case.

Defense attorneys were H. A. Muntzing and J. E. Ansel, of Moorefield and Don Cunningham, of Franklin.

Heart Group Drive Receives Good Response

Members of the committee of the membership drive of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association wish to express their gratitude for the response they are receiving from the 3,000 letters which were sent out last week.

Thomas F. Conlon, president of the association, said that additional letters will be mailed within the week. The purpose of the drive is to solicit funds to enable the association to continue its work in assisting patients in the county suffering from these crippling diseases.

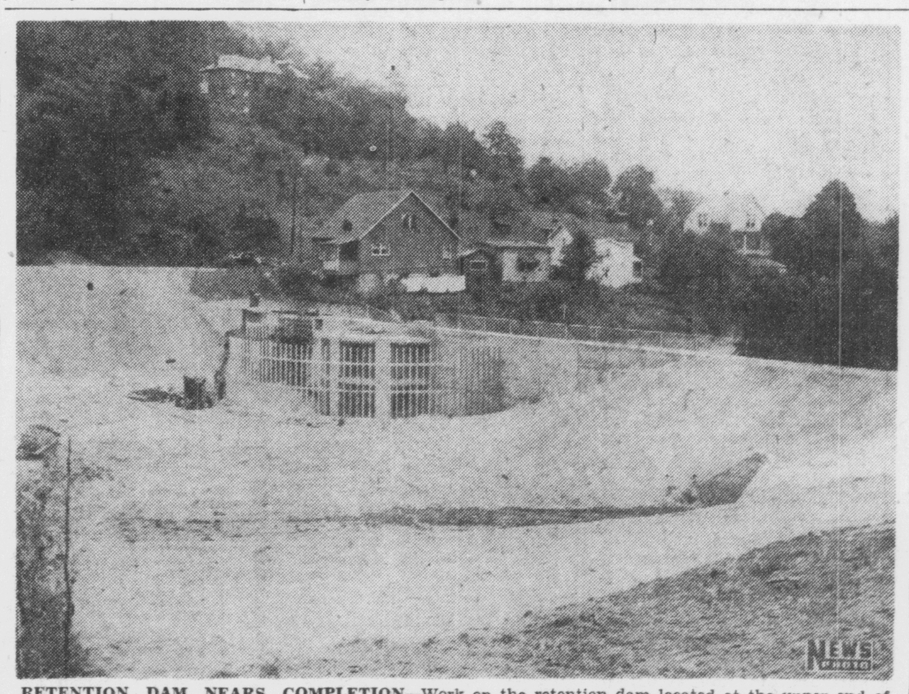
A contribution of $1 or more make any person a member of the association. Conlon said letters will be sent to all telephone subscribers in the county.

An educational display will be opened to the public by the association Monday at noon. The display will be located in a storeroom at 40 North Centre Street, and will feature a motion picture about heart diseases, two demonstrations and a sequence of pictures by slides.

Tri-State Traffic Club To Hear Corp. Conrad

Corp. Samuel M. Conrad, Maryland State Police, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Conrad, who is expected to speak on "Maryland Accident Problems" will also describe the use of the new electric-matic meter, or radar, in traffic control methods.



RETENTION DAM NEARS COMPLETION—Work on the retention dam located at the upper end of Valley Street is nearing completion. The purpose of the dam will be to retain overflow water from Dry Run which will drain off into the Valley Street pressure conduit, the largest conduit of the Cumberland Ridgeley Flood Control Project. In the background along the row of houses can be seen the road leading to Bowman's Addition while the road to the Allegany County Home can be seen in the foreground. Part of the dam is earthen and capable of holding a large quantity of runoff water.

Stutzman Named President Of Labor League

Fills Unexpired Term Of John L. Estes

Charles E. Stutzman, business agent for the Teamsters Union, has been elected president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, to fill the unexpired term of John L. Estes, resigned.

Joseph H. Humbertson of B & O Machinists Local No. 212 is first vice president and George Connelly of the Brewery Workers is second vice president. Paul L. Burley is secretary.

At the meeting held in the Trades Council Building, Thursday night, the Unity Conference decided to meet regularly on the first and third Thursdays of each month, with the next meeting called for the first Thursday in October.

As a special order of business for that meeting, a committee will be formulated to begin work immediately on plans for a Labor Day picnic and parade next year. Burley said there was considerable criticism from some affiliated locals for failure to attempt a celebration this year.

The Conference also authorized immediate activation of its Political Action Committee to work in the Sixth Congressional District, for the election in 1952 of a candidate or candidates friendly to labor.

Action on the political committee is on the agenda for the second meeting in October.

TO SPEAK HERE — Rev. J. Christy Wilson, D.D., evangelist among the Moslems in Iran for 20 years, and now member of the faculty of Princeton University Theological Seminary, will address the Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church Monday. The association will resume activities after the summer recess at 8 p. m., in the lecture hall. Dr. Wilson's topic is "Christ in the Middle East." He will discuss the subject in three phases, the "Moslem World," "Jesus on the Persian Pathway" and "Afghanistan the Last Frontier."

Cresaptown To Make Drive On Stray Dogs

Following complaints that dogs are running loose in the Cresaptown area, Magistrate William E. Meagher has called attention to the law which requires licensing of dogs and says it will be rigidly enforced.

Charles Evans, constable for the area is in charge of the dog law enforcement and is to pick up stray animals running at large in the community, Meagher said.

According to Magistrate Meagher, the code provides that all dog owners must prevent their animals from running at large and must obtain dog licenses for each animal whether he is at large or not. Dogs found running at large can be destroyed.

Penalty for failure to comply with the provisions of the law on dogs, includes fines of not less than $5 nor more than $25, or imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than 30 days for each conviction.

The law further points out it shall be the duty of the State's Attorney, the Sheriff and the various constables throughout the state to prosecute all persons failing to comply with provisions of the act.

Residents in Cresaptown, as well as in several other areas have repeatedly complained about the number of dogs running at large in the city and county, most of which appear to be unlicensed.

Red Cross Fund Drive For Flood Area Successful

The Red Cross drive to raise funds for the relief of distressed persons of the Missouri and Kansas flood stricken area has been a success in Allegany County, according to Frederic W. Eiler, chairman of the drive.

The quota of $2,600 has been oversubscribed with a collection of $2,634.01. Eiler said Red Cross officials here wish to express their appreciation for the generous response to the plea for money to aid the flood victims.

Eiler stated that this is the first time in the history of the local chapter that an extra fund collection has been conducted in the city or Allegany County.

The emergency campaign was primarily for relief and rehabilitation of individuals, Eiler said. Government money will be used for restoring damaged or destroyed public buildings and supplement local and state resources for basic community facilities.

Property Sold

Richard S. Davis and Elizabeth W. Davis have sold property on the north side of Potomac Street to George A. Largent and Gertrude Largent for about $7,000, according to a deed filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Judge To Decide Fate Of Youths In Second Case

Another Trial Will Open Monday

Three Westernport youths who were convicted Thursday afternoon by a jury on an arson charge will be back in Allegany County Circuit Court Monday on a second arson charge but this time they will place their case in the hands of Associate Judge George Henderson.

The three are Paul Russell Taylor, 15; Arthur Leon Kerlip, 25, and John Francis Humes, 15. A jury deliberated about 45 minutes Thursday before convicting them at the end of a three-day trial. They were charged specifically with setting fire to a powder magazine of the Harris Powder Company on Franklin Hill, near Westernport last December 28.

There will be no jury on hand Monday when they return to the courtroom. The trial Monday will be on a charge that they did "unlawfully, willfully and maliciously set fire to and burned" a cap magazine at the same Harris Powder Company, June 11.

A decision not to have another jury trial in this case was made yesterday afternoon after Defense Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., had conferred with Judge Henderson in his chambers.

In all seven criminal informations were filed against the three youths by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher several days ago.

Four of the seven informations also named William David Taylor, 18-year old brother of Paul Russell Taylor. The older Taylor was convicted in April on a charge of setting fire to the Harris Powde- Company property last Decembe- 28. He was given a term not to exceed three years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males at Breathedsville and was there at the time of the June 11 fire.

School Building Curb Not Likely To Hit County

Hampshire Projects May Be Stopped

Although some 700 school buildings already started around the country must be halted until defense demands for structural steel and scarce copper ease up sometime next year, local observers last night expressed doubt that any of the schools now being constructed in Allegany and Garrett Counties would have to be stopped.

However, doubt was expressed that nearby Hampshire County, W. Va., will be able to carry out its program of eight new schools. Some of the steel for these projects has not been ordered, it was understood.

Schools Underway

In Allegany County the two schools now underway are Mt. Savage School and Central High School, between Lonaconing and Barton. The Mt. Savage School is scheduled for opening in February and it is believed that all of the steel construction work there already is finished. Central High School is not expected to be completed until next fall, but it is believed that the steel for this job either has been received or ordered.

Both Garrett County schools are reported progressing so that the curb, announced in an Associated Press dispatch from Washington is not expected to hurt them.

The new Oakland School steel either is already on hand or delivery is anticipated in about two weeks. Had not a strike intervened, all of the steel already would be at the site, one observer said. The new Cove School, near Keyser's Ridge, in Garrett County, also is thought out of danger.

Hyndman Project

It also is understood that the contract for a new school in Hyndman, Pa., was let several months ago and the steel for that project probably is available.

The Office of Education doles out steel, copper and aluminum for individual school and library projects. It has asked the Defense Production Administration (DPA), the top allocating agency, for 196,500 tons of steel, but got only 104,300 to parcel out. This is for the quarter starting October 1.

The education office has on hand applications for metal for 1,001 new buildings and for another 2,259 projects already under construction.

The tonnage granted, the office reported yesterday, will permit work to go ahead on 1,538 of those under construction and will leave 721—for which money has been put up and work started—stranded for perhaps six to nine months.

New Projects Hit

This exhausts virtually the entire school tonnage, leaving none for the proposed 1,001 completely new projects except those of an emergency nature. There are 86 of these to date, representing buildings needed in new military centers or to replace structures destroyed by flood, storm or fire.

The net result is that 1,624 school applications have been granted and 1,636—a little more than half—have been turned down.

Meantime DPA Administrator Manly Fleischmann, in a statement issued yesterday, emphasized that rejected applications for school, hospital, highway or industrial projects are "not being permanently denied."

They must be "deferred to a later date," Fleischmann said.

471 More TB Chest X-Rays Taken In City Over 1950

Chest X-rays were given to 471 more Cumberland people this year than in 1950 by the mobile X-ray unit operated jointly by the Allegany County Health Department and Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, according to Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary for the association.

Figures show a total of 4,832 persons received X-rays here this year as compared to last year's total of 4,361.

There was a decrease however of 1,695 X-rays taken in other communities in the county, with 2,781 persons X-rayed this year, compared to 4,832 last year.

The mobile unit took an average of 231 X-rays a day in the county, while in Cumberland, it took an average of 202 per day.

A breakdown reveals that in Westernport, 344 X-rays were taken this year, compared to 727 last year. Barton showed a decrease with 146 persons receiving X-rays this year, compared to last year's 407. There were 446 persons X-rayed in Lonaconing this year and 840 in 1950. Midland showed 244 this year and 289 last year.

In Frostburg, 646 X-rays were taken as compared to 849 taken in 1950, while in Eckhart, 93 persons received X-rays this year as compared to 243 last. Bowman's Addition showed 178 persons receiving X-rays this year and 106 in 1950.

LaVale received 162 X-rays as compared to 195 in 1950, and Mt. Savage received 236 as compared to last year's 203. Cresaptown showed that 236 were X-rayed this year as compared to 414 in 1950.

The unit was at the fair grounds for the first time this year, and 410 X-rays were taken there. It was at Flintstone and Zihlman also for the first time completing 58 at Flintstone and 92 at Zihlman.

Miss Reinhard wishes to thank all the volunteers who helped with the unit including members of the Lay Health Council and Mrs. Lester R. Martin who was helpful in gathering members of the church to assist.

Miss Reinhard announces that November 19 will be the opening date for Christmas Seal sales. Members of the executive committee will complete final plans for the campaign.

3 Hurt In Romney Car-Truck Crash

Three members of a Clarksburg, W. Va., family were admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday at 5 p. m. with possible injuries sustained in a highway accident near Romney, W. Va., on Route 50.

At the local hospital for observation and X-rays are Fernand J. Dewez, his wife, Mrs. Bernice Dewez, and their 21-year-old son, Fernand J., Jr. Attaches report their condition as "good." According to West Virginia State Police, a truck got out of control due to the slippery road about three miles from Romney and collided with the Dewez automobile. Sgt. L. W. Kelley of the West Virginia State Police at Romney investigated.

Judge Harris Upholds Action Of Magistrate

Rules Thompson Had Authority.

An opinion determining that Alban C. Thompson, juvenile magistrate for Allegany County, acted within his jurisdiction and in accordance with law in sentencing a parole violator was filed yesterday afternoon in Allegany County Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Judge Harris' opinion resulted from his issuance last month of a writ of certiorari, directing Magistrate Thompson to return the record of his proceedings in the case against Robert W. Moorehead, in which Moorehead was charged with non-support of his wife and minor child and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction.

Moorehead, through his attorney, William L. Wilson, Jr., had filed for the writ in Circuit Court.

The petitioner last November 3 was tried and convicted of non-support of his wife and child and was sentenced in Juvenile Court to six months in the House of Correction. This was suspended on condition that he pay $13.50 per week for the support of his wife and child.

On March 9 of this year the petitioner's wife filed suit in equity seeking a divorce and support for herself and child. The Circuit Court subsequently passed a "show cause" order for counsel and allowing $13.50 per week for support of Moorehead's wife and her child.

Judge Harris notes in his opinion that on July 2 and again on July 23 Moorehead was found guilty of violation of his parole in Juvenile Court, and was sentenced on the latter date to six months in the House of Correction.

Citing the general rule that the authority of the court first acquiring jurisdiction must prevail, Judge Harris decided that the filing of the equity case in Circuit Court did not oust the Juvenile Court from its jurisdiction.

On the other contention of Moorehead that he was not informed of his right to a jury trial on the parole charge, Judge Harris held that Moorehead was not entitled to a jury trial for parole violation. He said the action of striking out the parole at a later date merely constitutes a withdrawal or revocation of leniency which the court extended at the time of imposition of the original sentence.

Coupled with his opinion was Judge Harris' order quashing the writ of certiorari.

Paper Collection Monday

Waste paper will be collected Monday at 9 a. m. on all streets north of Baltimore Street and Baltimore Avenue including Frederick and Bedford Streets.

Labor Endorses City Program On Recreation

Urges Retention Of Hoey As Director

Organized labor groups of Cumberland and vicinity, have unanimously endorsed Cumberland's Recreation program and will urge the Mayor and City Council to retain Edmund F. Hoey as city recreation director.

At a meeting of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference this week, unanimous action was taken, commending Mr. Hoey and recommending to public officials that he be retained here according to Paul L. Burley, secretary.

The recreation program was discussed at length, Burley observed, and it appeared to be the general opinion that laboring people, most of whom have children who participate in the program, believe it has been one of the most constructive and far-reaching endeavors ever attempted here.

He declared he was authorized to send letters to city officials commending the program and Mr. Hoey and urging that the director be kept here. Burley said the Labor Unity Conference also is of the opinion that the Recreation Board should give Mr. Hoey every cooperation and should be more active in the promotion of the general program.

Burley said a number of labor unions indicated their spokesmen will appear before Council in behalf of Mr. Hoey's retention and some of them plan to talk with the recreation director personally, urging him to reconsider his resignation.

Jury Deliberates Vandevander's Case In Franklin

A jury in Pendleton County Circuit Court at Franklin, W. Va., retired about 7 o'clock last night to deliberate the fate of Jesse Vandevander of the Cherry Grove section of that county, who is charged with the fatal shooting February 24 of his blind brother, Sylvester.

The four-day trial of Vandevander began Tuesday.

Judge Harlan M. Calhoun presided. Members of the jury were Fred Mullenax, Titus C. Wilfon, Warner Rexrode, Joseph E. Heavener, John R. Hammer, Roy E. Hevener, Verlie Warner, Raleigh Ruddle, Austin L. Judy, Pinkney Crummett, Earl Eye, and Roy D. Armentrout.

The defense of accused was that the other members of the family had "provoked him and had brandished a shotgun" just before the shooting in which two of the accused's brothers were killed and a nephew and a woman were wounded.

Vandevander was convicted last May of voluntary manslaughter in the killing of another brother, Jacob Vandevander. The penalty in this case could be from one to five years in prison.

The accused will also go on trial next Monday for feloniously shooting his nephew, Virgil Vandevander. Betty Alice Bennett, 50, was also wounded and suffered the loss of her arm which was amputated several days after the shooting.

George Sponaugle, prosecuting attorney of Pendleton county; William McCoy, Franklin attorney, and State Senator R. J. Bean, of Moorefield, presented the state's case.

Defense attorneys were H. A. Muntzing and J. E. Ansel, of Moorefield and Don Cunningham, of Franklin.

Heart Group Drive Receives Good Response

Members of the committee of the membership drive of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association wish to express their gratitude for the response they are receiving from the 3,000 letters which were sent out last week.

Thomas F. Conlon, president of the association, said that additional letters will be mailed within the week. The purpose of the drive is to solicit funds to enable the association to continue its work in assisting patients in the county suffering from these crippling diseases.

A contribution of $1 or more make any person a member of the association. Conlon said letters will be sent to all telephone subscribers in the county.

An educational display will be opened to the public by the association Monday at noon. The display will be located in a storeroom at 9 North Centre Street, and will feature a motion picture about heart diseases, two demonstrations and a sequence of pictures by slides.

Tri-State Traffic Club To Hear Corp. Conrad

Corp. Samuel M. Conrad, Maryland State Police, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Tri-State Traffic Club Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Conrad, who is expected to speak on "Maryland Accident Problems" will also describe the use of the new electric-matic meter, or radar, in traffic control methods.

RETENTION DAM NEARS COMPLETION—Work on the retention dam located at the upper end of Valley Street is nearing completion. The purpose of the dam will be to retain overflow water from Dry Run which will drain off into the Valley Street pressure conduit, the largest conduit of the Cumberland Ridgeley Flood Control Project. In the background along the row of houses can be seen the road leading to Bowman's Addition while the road to the Allegany County Home can be seen in the foreground. Part of the dam is earthen and capable of holding a large quantity of runoff water.
